MEN MAKING OIL FIELDS LIKE RUSSIA

So States President of the Producers' Association; Do Not Seek Outside Help.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Declaration that the striking oil workers in Fresno and Kern counties had transformed the region into a veritable little Russia was made by M. H. Whittier, president of the Oil Producers' Association of California, in a statement here tonight.

"We have determined to go slow in handling this regrettable situation," he said. "We are not contemplating the bringing in of outside help and we will let matters take their course, feeling that when the strikers realize the true situation they will return to work voluntarily."

Whittier declared that the association was not prepared at present to receive overtures from the men, "or are we in the mood to make overtures of any sort." He said he had found the strike to be a "one-man affair." The policy of the Oil Producers' Association will be one of patience, Whittier stated, "We will not pull any West Virginia stuff, and would rather shut down entirely for six months than to take such action," he added.

A statement issued by the association late today declared that merchants in the strike zone had been notified by the so-called law and order committee and by strikers that their establishments would be boycotted if they sell to oil company workmen who refused to go out on strike.

Columbia River Fishing Boats Bring Liquor from British Columbia.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND, Sept. 22.—Liquor running on the Columbia River is being carried on on a larger scale than at any time since the prohibition law went into force. The traffic in bottled goods is between Astoria and Portland and the cities of British Columbia and customs officials say there is virtually no limit to it at present.

The termination of the salmon season has released a large number of trolling craft, amply able to negotiate the ocean voyage from the Columbia River to British Columbia and return. At the same time the fishing season was poor and the fishermen are faced with the need of money and in many cases the temptation is apparently too great.

The customs officials declare themselves virtually helpless in coping with the traffic, inasmuch as there is no patrol boat at present and the inspectors are unable to maintain a watch at the river mouth. They believe that the traders in contraband are enjoying a free hand in their trade, for the only trouble that has befallen any of them has been of an accidental nature. A typical incident occurred recently when a trolling boat had entered the river with fifteen cases of Canadian liquor, its gasoline supply was exhausted and the owner was forced to put in at Ilwaco, just inside the northern buttress of the river mouth. While he was in the city arranging to have gas delivered to his boat, unidentified persons boarded the craft and stole the entire cargo of bottled goods.

Declare Rappe Girl's Death Was Caused by Some External Force.

Feminine Gallery Comments on Wife of Actor; Women Keep Police Busy.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Testimony that may cause Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, movie clown, to be held for trial on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, was given today at the preliminary hearing of the case in the court of Judge Sylvan Lazarus.

The testimony was supplied by two physicians, Dr. Shelby Strange, autopsy surgeon, and Dr. William Ophuls, both of whom examined the body of the young woman immediately after her death.

Their opinion is that death was caused by a rupture of the bladder, and that the rupture was caused by some external force. They went into detail describing bruises on the woman's arms, saying the bruises might have been made by the fingers of some one, fingers pressing on the soft flesh with great force.

WOMEN PACK COURTROOM.

The hearing began at 1 o'clock this afternoon in a courtroom packed with women, in a building packed with women. Both prosecution and defense are prepared for an extended examination.

It is up to Judge Lazarus to determine the outcome. It is in his power to hold Arbuckle to the higher court on the murder charge, or on a charge of manslaughter, or to dismiss the murder charge entirely. In the latter event the State will proceed to try the defendant on the indictment which charges manslaughter.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. U'Ren conducted the prosecution and Attorney Frank Dominguez of Los Angeles, appeared as chief counsel for the defense.

The attorneys clashed often during the afternoon and provided amusement for the feminine gallery that hung on to every word.

WOMEN ARE THRILLED.

The women found the experience thrilling. You could hear them whispering all over the court.

"Did you see that Mr. Dominguez wink when he called Mr. U'Ren an old man?"

"Doesn't Mr. Dominguez look like 'Foxy Grandpa?'"

"What a sweet hat 'Fatty's' wife wore!"

Series in "Times" by Noted Writer to Answer This and Many Other Question.

Last-minute developments on the situation in the Far East, particularly relating to Japan, will be supplied by The Times in a series of articles starting on Monday, September 26, and continuing up to and including the international conference on the limitation of armament.

Justreturned from a three-month's study of oriental questions, Louis Seibold, intednationally known as a correspondent, will give the results of his investigations and deductions. The series will be fascinating in its narration and comprehensive in scope.

Does Japan want war? Does she demand control of the Pacific? What is her attitude toward the United States and China? How is she affected by the race contraversy particularly as regards California's attitude?

These and a dozen other questions whoch people are asking themselves will be answered by Seibold For many years Mr. Seibold was the star correspondent of the New York World. His recent investigation was undertaken at the instance of the New York Herald. If you are interested in matters which affect the destiny of the world, which it is hoped will be settled by Mr. Harding's conference, do not fail to look for Mr. Seibold's series.

Denby Reviews "Stool Pigeon" Case, Writing to Admiral Eberle.

Rodman's Los Angeles Report on Vice in This City is Contained in Letter.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The Navy Department has neither authorized nor sanctioned use of enlisted men as "stool pigeons" by civil authorities in campaigns against crime, Secretary Denby declared today, in ordering an official investigation of reports that such use had been made of bluejackets by the police of San Diego, Cal.

Admiral Eberle, commanding the Pacific Fleet, was instructed to undertake the inquiry and to report to the department as quickly as possible.

The report reaching Mr. Denby included newspaper clippings recounting evidence said to have been presented at the hearing of charges against Police Judge Ed L. Davin on September 13.

The following statement was issued today by the Navy Department:

"Attention of the Navy Department has been directed to evidence given in a trial at San Diego, Cal., on Sept. 13, 1921, in which it was stated that sailors of the United States Navy had been used as stool pigeons by the police. Secretary Denby, on receiving the published reports of such action, sent a dispatch to the commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet, Admiral Eberle, expressing the department's determined stand against the use of enlisted men for this purpose, and calling attention to the Navy's written instructions regarding the extent of co-operation with the civil authorities, and directing the commander-in-chief to make a personal and thorough investigation of the matter.

"The statement in point, as reported, was made at San Diego on September 13, at the hearing of Police Judge Ed L. Davin under grand jury indictment for misconduct in office. In his defense Judge Davin, in referring to a case where a woman, charged with having agreed to illicit relations with two sailors who, it is claimed, were used as stool pigeons, is quoted as saying: 'I was told that the sailors had been given marked money to give to the woman and that policemen broke into the room at a prearranged time. It struck me as horrible that boys away from home in training for good citizenship both morally and physically, should be hired for such despicable work. I considered it the duty of the court to discourage Resolution Filed With Senate.

Proposed Disposal of State Mineral Resources to the British is Cause.

Federal Trade Commission is Likely to be Given Investigation Task.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Senator King of Utah, when he introduced a Senate resolution today for information regarding the proposed shifting of control to non-American interests of a large part of the oil production of California, indicated that he would push the measure to the limit and get all the information possible on the subject.

After conferring with the Department of Commerce, Senator King felt that the quickest results would be obtained by placing the investigation in the hands of the Federal Trade Commission, which has made other investigations of this character.

Under the rules the resolution goes over, but Senator King will call it up as soon as possible and will seek to have it passed immediately.

TEXT OF RESOLUTION.

The text of the resolution follows:

"Resolved, that the Federal Trade Commission report to the Senate all available information respecting the control and ownership of the Union Oil Company, a corporation of Delaware; the Union Oil Company, a corporation of California; and the Shell Oil Company, a corporation of California, and concerning the holdings of such corporations of oil lands in the State of California, and also all information available concerning the relations of the Shell Oil Company of California to the said Union Oil Company of Delaware and Union Oil Company of California, and all information concerning any prospective purchase or control of oil land in California by foreign corporations, or by corporations whose stockholders are not citizens of the United States."

COMMISSION EQUIPPED.

When the measure reaches the Federal Trade Commission there will be no delay in action, as the commission is equipped in every way to get at the inside history of all the corporations involved and, if need be, can summon witnesses and books and papers to disclose all the past transactions and those now pending looking to a merger of the Union Oil interests with those of the Shell company in such a manner as to transfer control to the British holders of Shell securities.

The Navy Department also is deeply interested in the developments of the proposed investigation, as the vital need of the Navy in time of war is vast deposits and production of oil under the control of citi-

MEXICAN TAKEN FROM TRAIN AT POMONA; ALL ROADS SCOURED FOR PAL

The Pomona police at 2 o'clock this morning arrested a Mexican arriving on an incoming freight train from Arizona as a suspect in the cold-blooded murder of Deputy Sheriffs Theodore Crossley and Henry F. Nelson of Riverside county, and the wounding at Bellville of Martin Helm, a 17-year-old youth by two Mexicans yesterday afternoon. The arrest was made on advices from Colton that the two Mexicans had been seen to board the freight there.

Upon information furnished by a truck driver that he had seen a Mexican alight from the freight train at Narod, three miles east of Pomona, police officers Palmer and Devalon made a hurried but futile trip to Narod to intercept him. Later a report was received that a Mexican in a white shirt had been seen running along the boulevard out of Pomona, towards Los Angeles. A posse of police, augmented by citizens from Riverside, are scouring all roads leading to Los Angeles, but at an early hour this morning had failed to apprehend the second Mexican.

Sheriff Wilson and Chief of Police Deiss of Riverside hurried to Pomona to identify the arrested Mexican, but failed to make a complete identification. He is being held for further investigation and identification by Martin Helm, the wounded youth.

San Bernardino and Riverside authorities declared that no chances will be taken on the possible escape of the two Mexicans from the trap in which, according to advices late last night, a posse had the two cornered at a spot not far from Colton, in San Bernardino county.

POSSE HOT ON TRAIL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Sept. 22.—Daylight tomorrow is expected to bring about the capture or death of two Mexicans, one of whom early this afternoon murdered in cold blood Deputy Sheriffs Theodore Crossley and Henry F. Nelson of Riverside county and seriously wounded Martin Helm, a 17-year-old youth, who had endeavored to cause their arrest for theft.

Reports reaching the Sheriff's office here tonight stated that two of the posses that have been searching since late this afternoon for the murderer and his companions had them cornered at a spot not far from Colton, in San Bernardino county. At daylight tomorrow the posses plan to close in and, unless the Mexicans surrender, they will have to "fight it out" with the enraged citizens.

The County Board of Supervisors tonight voted to offer a reward of $1000 for the capture of the Mexicans.

The two deputy sheriffs were shot at Bellville, where they had gone to the shack of the two Mexicans to arrest them on a warrant that had been sworn out by young Helm, charging them with stealing hay.

SLAIN IN COLD BLOOD.

The deputies, with the warrant, had gone to the shack in Mr. Helm's automobile. The automobile stopped before the Mexicans' home and Deputy Sheriff Nelson prepared to alight. Just as he stepped from the running board one of the Mexicans fired through the window of the shack and Mr. Nelson dropped with a bullet in his temple. Deputy Crossley jumped out of the automobile to rush to Mr. Nelson's aid when the second shot sounded and Mr. Crossley fell across the forward fender of the automobile. He died instantly.

Young Helm then attempted to reach for the dead officer's gun and for the third time the Mexican fired, the bullet lodging in Mr. Helm's abdomen. Bursting out of the shack the murderer and his companion fled into the brush along the Santa Ana River and disappeared.

Mr. Nelson and Mr. Helm were rushed by neighbors, who had been attracted by the shooting, to the Riverside Community Hospital, where Mr. Nelson died an hour and a half later. Mr. Helm, it was stated late tonight, has a fair chance to recover, the bullet having gone through his body, coming out near the spine.

RIVERSIDE SEETHING.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon, within an hour after the murder of the two deputy sheriffs, all Riverside was seething with excitement. Posses headed by deputy sheriffs, Riverside police officers and overseas veterans, armed themselves with rifles, shotguns and revolvers and started

Mrs. Grace Lawes, who fired the shots, then ended her own life by firing a bullet into her brain.

PEDESTRIAN KILLED BY AUTO.

Ernest Schmutzler, aged 45, of R.F.D. Route 2, Inglewood, died at the Receiving Hospital early this morning after being knocked down on the corner of Fifth and Broadway by a machine driven by A. B. Crane of Taft.

According to Mr. Crane, who is held on suspicion of manslaughter, Schmutzler stepped out from the curb as he was driving north on Broadway.

GIRL FOUND UNCONSCIOUS.

Lorainne Daniels, aged 17, of 918 West Seventh street, was found unconscious on the sidewalk in front of the Westward Hotel on West Eighth street at an early hour this morning by Officer Winston. She was removed to the Receiving Hospital, where surgeons said she had either taken or had been given drugs.

R. R. Carpenter of the U.S.S. Mexico and Miss Blanche Low of 1506 Sunset Boulevard, told the police that they saw a taxi drive up and the occupants dump the girl out on the sidewalk.

MAY SEIZE ARBUCKLE'S BOOZE HERE.

Government Confiscation Looms as Sequel to Tale of Comedians' Secretary.

Developments yesterday indicated that as a result of the story told by Miss Katharine Fitzgerald, secretary of Fatty Arbuckle, in her interview with Asst. U. S. Atty. Camarillo, the $100,000 stock of choice wines and other liquors in the cellar at the Arbuckle home on West Adams street will be confiscated by the government.

It is known that the house was purchased by Arbuckle after the national prohibition law went into effect, and a search of the records shows, it is stated, that no permit has been issued to him or sought for the storing of the liquor or its removal from the bonded warehouse to the place. Under the law this will mean the confiscation of the liquor.

Mr. Camarillo is at this time checking up the stuff, with a view to having the prohibition officers act in the premises. Miss Fitzgerald said that nobody but Arbuckle had a key to the cellar, and that large quantities of the wet goods were consumed from time to time.

It seems from the transcript of the evidence that Miss Fitzgerald was at one time a member of the motion-picture company supporting Arbuckle in his comedies, and that later on she was his press agent. She has been his secretary for more than a year, and it is her business to answer the letters of the lovesick maidens who are enamored of the personal pulchritude of the rotund comedy actor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—After waiting long past the appointed time for a conference with Bishop Manning outside the synod of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Urbain Ledoux and thirty-nine of his followers became disgusted and departed, leaving word for the bishop that they were too tired and hungry to wait longer.

VINAGAROON BOUTS RAGE

Enter Pits With Tarantulas.

Ancient Sport in Texas is Revived Despite Spread of Reform Ideas.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MARATHON (Tex.) Sept. 22.—They have legislated out dog fights, cock fights and almost prize fights, and badger fights are held only under the most secret circumstances.

But tarantula and vinagaroon fights, of which the reformers probably are ignorant, still obtain in West Texas. This is attested by Little Bill Daniels, a cattleman from the Big Bend, who announced today that the other day he attended as big a tarantula and vinagaroon fight as ever was held in the heyday of the open range.

The betting, Mr. Daniels declares, was as heavy as it ever was at faro when there were both open range and open gambling. He says at least $2500 changed hands in the twenty odd tarantula and vinagaroon bouts held. The fight was attended by old-time cattlemen who have never grown up, and the only outsider was an oil man from New Jersey who had just come from El Paso, where he was master of ceremonies at a badger fight. This old man, Mr. Daniels declares, had bought what he thought was a tarantula and wanted to pit it, but the creature proved to be nothing more than a huge grand-daddy-longlegs.

DETAILS MADE PUBLIC.

Mr. Daniels refused to divulge the location of the fight, but of the details he was prolix. He said:

"The black tarantulas often get as large as both your fists and as tough as a bulldog. Their sting is as dangerous as a rattlesnake bite. The vinagaroon is the famous arm creature of West Texas that is as hideous as a gila monster. It has thick shell all over its body and two big hands like crawfish hands. These hands have the strength of an animal almost fifty times as large as the vinagaroon, for the vinagaroon seldom grows to be more than two inches long.

"Now, both the tarantula and the vinagaroon are as vicious as bulldogs when they get mad. It takes them some time to get started, but when they do start they seem to have human intelligence about fighting.

BUY UP TARANTULAS.

"The cowboys paid some Mexican boys $1 each for every big tarantula or vinagaroon they caught during the week and keep until Sunday. When the men came in on Sunday the boys had a hundred or more of each of these animals. They put them in bottles or boxes during the week and feed them flies or worms.

"Just about 9 o'clock Sunday morning each man who had a tarantula or a vinagaroon brought his fighter to the pit that they had made for the fights. Then the fun began. One vinagaroon was matched against two big tarantulas. They are natural enemies and began

WHOLE TOWN IS DESTROYED.

Desolation Marks Oppau; Eleven Hundred Dead Latest Estimate; Worse Than World War.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MANNHEIM, Sept. 22.—Desolation and ruins alone remain of what was once the flourishing town of Oppau. The town had 6500 residents, of whom a majority of the men engaged in the chemical works were killed or wounded. Soldiers in French uniforms were clearing away the wreckage, picking up the dead and injured as after a big battle.

Eleven hundred dead and 4000 injured is the latest estimate of the disaster yesterday, which caused more casualties in the Mannheim-Ludwigshafen district, than the four years of the war. The desolation around Oppau equals anything seen at Verdun or in Flanders over a similar area. Hundreds of persons are digging in the ruins for the bodies of relatives or friends, nearly 1000 of which have been recovered.

CRIES STILL HEARD.

Thirty-six hours after the explosion from the gaping, funnel-like hole where the Badische works formerly stood, there are still to be heard cries of the wounded, while the soldiers search for possible survivors.

The vast crater is slowly filling with water, and it may never be known how many victims found a grave there. All mutilated animals crawling amidst the twisted girders and bricks or concrete are being put out of their misery. Firemen and relief workers continue to wear their gas masks.

The Thirty-second Army Corps of the French army is in charge of the area, and every available French medical officer has arrived to cooperate with German physicians and surgeons.

The French and German Red Cross are co-operating. The German officials thanked Gen. Degoutte for the prompt manner in which the French army came to the assistance of the victims.

SHERIFFS OF SOUTH FIRM.

Officers Are Determined to Prevent Union from Seizing Control of Oil if Strike is Called Here.

Sheriffs in counties south of Santa Barbara will not permit union men to concoct and administer their own particular brand of law and order if a general strike of oil workers is carried into Southern California fields. This information was secured yesterday from four different sheriffs. Sheriffs Traeger of Los Angeles county and Jackson of Orange county have very pronounced views on the subject of strikes, and are determined to protect life and property without fear or favor if the oil men in their jurisdiction participate in the strike now on in Central California fields.

In the opinion of Sheriff Jackson, who has already sworn in fifty guards for the Amalgamated Oil Company, the oil producers have valuable properties, which might be destroyed by fire or dynamite, while the strikers have nothing but their jobs to lose.

He made it plain yesterday, in a statement to The Times, that he will give the producers a maximum of protection in an emergency. Union men who called upon him to protest the swearing-in of guards were informed that the oil properties must and will be protected. Sheriff Jackson is warning guards against displaying weapons and is calling upon both sides to preserve order, no matter what develops.

PEACE TREATIES HALTED BY SENATE COMMITTEE.

Opposition to Ratification of Pacts Assumes Formidable Proportions; Irreconcilables Threaten Fight.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22. — Administration efforts to hasten ratification of the German, Austrian and Hungarian peace treaties, were halted today by demands in the Foreign Relations Committee for a reservation to prevent American participation in various international commissions, notably the Reparations Commission, set up by the Treaty of Versailles, without the express consent of the Senate.

Opposition to the treaty, led by Senator Borah of Idaho, assumed such a formidable aspect that Senator Lodge, Republican leader and chairman of the committee, hurried to the State Department and held a long conference with Secretary of State Hughes. Although Mr. Lodge declined to discuss the result of the conference, it is understood that the administration is not willing to accept such a restriction upon its action as that proposed by members of the Foreign Relations Committee.

FORCED TO ADJOURN.

The committee, after several hours' lively discussion, was forced to adjourn without action. Another meeting will be held tomorrow, at which time Senator Lodge is expected to lay before his colleagues a report of his conference with Secretary Hughes. It may develop that Mr. Hughes will be asked to appear before the committee again to answer questions concerning the treaties, although he conferred at length with the committee last month when the German treaty was first made public.

The line of cleavage in the committee over the terms of the treaties runs closely parallel to the differences which split the Senate over the Versailles Treaty. The controversy revolves largely about Washington's warning against foreign entanglements. Prospects are that a sharp parliamentary struggle will ensue over the treaty and prediction was made in some quarters that a reservation to cover the points in dispute would be included in the ratification resolution.

BORAH STARTS TROUBLE.

Senator Borah precipitated the controversy when the treaty was formally taken up in the Foreign Relations Committee. He called attention first to the section of the treaty reserving to the United States the right to have a representative upon the Reparations Commission. He contended that if this right were exercised the United States would become involved immediately in the reparations dispute which forms the crux of the European problems today. He asserted that if the United States participated in the reparations and the enforcement thereof, it could not avoid entanglement just as deep as that involved in the obligations of the League of Nations.

The view was expressed in the committee that the administration fully intended to exercise the right to have representatives on the Reparations Commission, and probably on other issues. At present it is represented only by unofficial observers. Senator Kellogg of Minnesota stoutly defended the idea of having an American representative on the Reparations Commission. Senator Johnson of California strongly opposed such representation. Senator Shields of Tennessee, a Democratic irreconcilable, declared that he would be unwilling to support any provision of the treaty which would involve the United States in European entanglements. Senator Brandegee of Connecticut is reported to have expressed similar sentiments.

RESERVATION POINTED OUT.

Attention was called to the fact that when the Versailles Treaty was before the Senate, a reservation, numbered seven, on the Lodge resolution of ratification, was adopted to cover exactly the point raised by Senator Borah. The reservation provided that no person was authorized to represent the United States on any body or agency established by the Versailles Treaty, except by specific act of Congress. Here is the text of the reservation:

"No person is or shall be authorized to represent the United States nor shall any citizen of the United States be eligible as a member of any body or agency established by said treaty of peace with Germany, except pursuant to an act of Congress of the United States providing for his appointment and defining his powers and duties."

This reservation met with such favor when the Versailles Treaty was before the Senate that it was supported by virtually every Republican Senator. Senator Borah contended at the Foreign Relations Committee meeting today that its application now is just as important as it was then. If the committee does not adopt the reservation, it probably will be pressed in the Senate.

Another objection raised by Senator Borah concerned the withdrawal of the American troops from the Rhine. He contended that under the terms of the treaty, the United States might find itself under a compelling moral obligation to maintain an army on the Rhine for years to come. Administration spokesmen assured him, however, that the troops would be withdrawn immediately upon the exchange of ratifications of the treaty.

VINAGAROON VS. THE TARANTULA

fighting on sight of each other. The tarantulas rushed at the vinagaroon and tried to poison it. The creature, however, used its strength and grabbed at them with its strong clutches. One tarantula fought from one side and the other from the other side. The vinagaroon jumped at first one and then the other. It resembled a prize fight and sometimes the tarantulas got the vinagaroon down and stung it to death, but in most cases the vinagaroon grabbed the tarantulas in its strong claws and crushed the life out of them. Some of these fights lasted for an hour at a time and every moment was as interesting as a horse race.

WINNER QUOTED HIGH.

"Some tarantulas were matched against each other and some vinagaroons against each other. In either case the fight was interesting. Both vinagaroons and tarantulas that had been victorious in as many as ten fights sold for as much as $5 each. Their owners keep them as carefully as they would a race horse and they were always heralded as champions."

"Times" Given Warm Praise By Sacramento "Union."

Says San Francisco Cannot be Proud of Its Press

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.—Following is in part an editorial appearing today in the Sacramento Union, one of the oldest and best known newspapers in California:

A COMPARISON.

The Los Angeles Times, without question the greatest and finest daily morning newspaper published in California—at least to members of the Fourth Estate—sells for 90 cents a month. The San Francisco Examiner and Chronicle sell for $1 to 5 a month. Relatively and based on merit alone, there is no comparison between values delivered readers of these newspapers. In size the Times is 50 per cent greater than either of the Bay City dailies. Editorially it outclasses both and ranks among the top notchers in American journalism.

With its policies, one may, and, indeed, of right, differ. But, its broad-gauged Americanism, in season and out of season, and its immeasurable value to Southern California and to every legitimate interest there from climate and seashore to the highest realms of intellectual thought no one can rightly assail. Its editorials on the Treaty of Versailles were classic masterpieces deserving of perpetuation. To Los Angeles specifically and Southern California generally it is an asset that as time goes on will be more and more appreciated.

San Francisco cannot indulge in any rhapsodies over its morning press. Indeed to the far-visioned men and women of that city—a city endowed by nature with a climate and harbor that should, if utilized, make it the metropolis of the entire West Coast—humiliation and disgust must exceed admiration and pride over their breakfast dailies. Absentee newspaper ownership is as bad in San Francisco as in Jerusalem and were it not for the stratetical position of both the Examiner and Chronicle in having a monopoly of the Associated Press service in that city, competition and the latent impulse of large population, always seeking better and higher ideals of public service, other news publications would be born and would furnish. The Daily Morning Jurnal under the able leadership of Andrew Lawrence is striving to fill a public want sadly needed, but is handicapped by lack of Associated Press service which it cannot procure. The Journal deserves success. The public of the city by the sea deserves a morning publication catering to ideals other than comics, human tradgies and police court stuff. The great mass of the bay region population is the same, fundamentally, as that of any other populous city. If San Francisco has been and is backward, politically, if it has been and is torn and rent with internal strife, if it has failed and is failing to progress industrially and in population increase, as its sister city in the Southland—a potent cause might be discovered in the woeful condition of its morning press. Los Angeles has outraced San Francisco already in population. Industrially, it will soon equal San Francisco. [It is already far ahead of San Francisco in this.—Ed. Times.] Financially it is making strides that appeal the San Francisco banker. Climate alone has not and cannot account for all this.

NIPPONESE PRINCES ON VISIT HERE.

Two Noblemen and Staffs on Tour of World Motor from Ship to Greet Mayor.

In a tour of the world on a Japanese training ship, Prince Kuni and Prince Kacho of the Nipponese Empire arrived at the Ambassador last evening with their staffs, comprising eleven officers. They came here by motor from San Diego, where they left their ship. After paying their respects to the Mayor and the city, they will return to the southern port and leave for Panama and thence for New York.

Last night the members of the party were accorded a reception at the Japanese church on Jackson street, where the Consul and members of the colony welcomed them. Today they will visit a motion-picture studio and meet various officials.

With the two princes are Admiral Saito, Capt. Kanesaka, Capt. Uenura and Staff Officers Tajima, Miyoshino, Hamanaka, Senoo, Kuroiwa, Hosoya, Ishibashi and Kohiyama.

Sleuths Can't Get Line on Phantom Still.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HAMMOND (Ind.) Sept. 22.—Federal dry agents, after two weeks' sleuthing, arrived in Dyer too late this morning to capture the phantom still used by illicit distillers in the Calumet region. The still, a twenty-five-gallon affair, is portable and never stays in one place long enough for the officers to get a line on it. Each member of the ring gets it when his mash is properly soured and sends it on just as soon as the last drop of moonshine trickles from its coil. The reason is that twenty-five or more men can make moonshine, but if it comes to the worst, only one will ever be fined for having a still in his possession, whereas, under the old style, all twenty-five of them might get caught. Federal Chief G. Simmons led a squad to Emil Muntan's farm at Dyer on a secret tip that the phantom still was there, and found it gone, but plenty of moonshine was confiscated with Muntan's arrest.

Official Held as Smuggler.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CAMDEN (N. J.) Sept. 22.—E. Joseph Schott, a deputy collector of internal revenue, was arrested last night by U. S. Marshal Jackson on a charge of assisting in the landing of 1400 cases of liquor from a ship in the Delaware River.

out along the Santa Ana River in search of the fugitives.

Al San Bernardino other posses soon formed and these took the field to the north and west of Riverside, intent upon rounding up the Mexicans.

Two army airplanes from March field took the air late in the afternoon to aid the posses and when darkness fell tonight powerful searchlights were dispatched from the Army Post to be placed on bridges and several other high points, from which they flooded the roads and the river bottom with light.

The Mexicans, it was said here tonight, are brothers named Palmarina. Their father, Jose Palmarina of Crestmore, is now serving a sentence in the County Jail for conducting a marajuana farm.

PROMINENT OFFICER.

Deputy Sheriff Crossley, who was killed outright by the Mexican, was a prominent business man in Riverside and a well-known member of the Riverside lodge of Elks. He was a past noble grand of the order of Odd Fellows. For many years he was one of the city's leading garage men and automobile dealers. And his skill as a driver made him a valuable man of Sheriff Wilson's force.

His widow was the former wife of the late Judge Helton Webb, who was killed by an Italian who became enraged by a decision Judge Wenn handed down.

Deputy Nelson, the first man to fall as a result of the surprise attack upon the officers by the Mexican, has been a deputy sheriff of Riverside county since 1907. For many years he served as jailer and made his home with his wife and three children on the second floor of the County Jail Building here. He was one of the most popular officers on Sheriff Wilson's staff.

ARBUCKLE HIT BY TESTIMONY.

is wearing and look at that wonderful blue plume on his mother-in-law."

The women began coming to the Hall of Justice at 8 o'clock this morning. They stood in the lobby downstairs. They stood in the corridors outside the court. They sat in the courtroom as soon as it opened, and got ready for an all-day's session. Many of them had brought their lunches.

Twelve o'clock struck. The big police detail was augmented. To the score of bluecoats were added a dozen plainclothes men. The bailiff went along the various benches.

"Sorry," he explained, "but everybody must get out. The courtroom will be locked. You can come back at 1 o'clock." In vain they protested. The women in the courtroom were shunted out to swell the crowd of women in the corridor.

WOMEN ARE EVERYWHERE.

One o'clock—one end of the corridor is occupied by women. The stairway is occupied by women. The lobby is occupied by women. Men are being excluded everywhere, shoved forcibly out through thick ranks of women, laughed at, snickered at, jeered at. It is a "no man's land."

Arbuckle comes in with his wife and her mother, his attorneys, the guard. Silence in the hitherto laughing, babbling, gushing, gurgling mass of women.

Then from the street outside comes the wail of a funeral march. A band is playing, a band at the head of a long procession. A Chinese girl who leaped out of a window to end her sighs is going to the cemetery.

Now the women whisper. They seem to find some dread significance in the dirge and the entrance of the movie clown.

One by one the women enter. The atmosphere in the court is stifling. The odor of perfume and powder is overpowering. transoms are opened. The middle aisle of the court fills up with women who cannot find seats. The back of the court is occupied by standing women.

JUDGE WARNS SPECTATORS.

The judge warns the courtroom that decorum must prevail under penalty for contempt of court.

The first witness, Dr. Strange, is put upon the stand.

Dr. Strange's voice is audible, but his language is not understood. He speaks a medical English and apparently cannot be made to "talk layman's talk."

Cameramen are taking pictures of Arbuckle, his wife, his mother-in-law, his counsel, of Dist.-Atty. Matthew Brady, a silver-haired man with the face of a bishop—of U'ren, of the judge, of the doctor. The hearing gets under way.

One looks at "Fatty." He is looking earnestly at the witness. His face is vacuous, empty. He is slumped forward in his chair, one fat shoulder lower than the other, the right arm now hanging over the brass railing in back of him, now lying straight along its length. Now his fat fingers are open, beating a silent tattoo on the railing. Now they shut and open, shut and open. They are nervous fingers. They are the only visible signs of interest.

The doctor is talking about the bruises on the arms and legs, two of these bruises, he says, must have been made by a hypodermic needle. Two others, in his opinion, were probably made by the fingers of some one pressing with force.

All the marks on the body, he says, were made before death. All the organs of the body he examined were normal except the lungs, the lower lobes of which had been congested. The bladder had been opened by Dr. Ophuls, had been opened by an incision. Besides this incision there was a rent in the bladder wall. The rent was about three-quarters of an inch long.

It was this rent that caused death. No, the rent could not have been caused by an interior force.

Photographs of Miss Rappe's bruised arms and legs are put in evidence. More objections. More explanations. More overruling.

The prosecution finishes with the witness. Dominguez holds a whispered conference with his fellows. The women hold whispered conferences with their sisters.

Dominguez announces there will be no cross-examination. The doctor leaves the stand.

WITNESS COMPLIMENTED.

Dr. Ophuls is called. He is a graduate of Guttingen, Germany. He has never practiced, has always been a teacher. He is dean of a medical college. He talks the English language. Judge Lazarus compliments him on that.

"When you mean shin bone, doctor," he says, "you say shin bone; thank you exceedingly for that."

Dr. Ophuls goes hurriedly over much of the ground covered by Dr. Strange. He made the first post-mortem. He also describes the hypodermic needle marks, the bruises "as if fingers had held the arm rather forcibly." He tells of the rupture in the bladder wall. How old a rupture was it? It was a day or two, at least, he said. "Not over four or five days old." It is a telling point.

Dominguez whispers with his colleagues.

"Doctor," says U'Ren, "what, in your opinion, caused the death of Miss Rappe?"

RUPTURE CAUSED DEATH.

"The rupture to the bladder wall," says the doctor. "It is my opinion the bladder was overdistended and then was subjected to some force from outside."

Dominguez whispers again with his aides.

"No cross-examination," he says.

Dr. Ophuls steps down and out.

Mrs. Grace Halston, surgical nurse, was the last witness of the afternoon, giving testimony as to the bruises on the body. Tomorrow it is expected that Al Semnacher will be the chief witness.

Semnacher, a friend of Arbuckle, who was at the party in the St. Francis, where, it is alleged, the fatal injuries were inflicted on Miss Rappe, has testified before the grand jury in Los Angeles.

STIGMA DEPLORED.

Actors' Equity Association Asks Fairness in Arbuckle Case.

A resolution deploring "the stigma that is being cast" upon the acting and motion-picture profession as the result of "a deplorable event in San Francisco" and requesting that in "the present unfortunate, unsavory and universally known affair the press and public will not condemn our profession as a whole," was adopted by the executive committee of the Actors' Equity Association, according to an announcement made here yesterday.

The asserted and yet unproven actions of one of its members should not be held against the profession as a whole, the resolution states. "Statistics bear out the statement that the proportion of undesirable individuals in the acting and motion-picture profession is no greater than in any other line of enterprise or endeavor," the resolution points out, and concludes with the request that "judgment be suspended."

DID NOT THINK GIRL WAS HURT.

Statement by Sherman Made to Aid Arbuckle.

Merely Believed Miss Rappe "Had Bun On."

None of Party Concerned Over Injuries, He Says.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Dist.-Atty. Swann today obtained from Lowell Sherman, motion-picture actor, a graphic account of the party in San Francisco which had for an epilogue the death of Virginia Rappe.

Sherman, who attended the party staged in the rooms of "Fatty" Arbuckle, now facing a charge of murder, was located by the District Attorney's office after he had jumped off the Twentieth Century Limited at Harmon, N. Y., yesterday, and disappeared in an automobile with a woman.

Found in his apartment here, Sherman explained that the woman was his wife, that he had sought to elude publicity, and that he had been waiting for an invitation to appear at the District Attorney's office. He professed himself ready to return West to testify at the Arbuckle trial.

An assertion which appeared several times in Sherman's formal statement, mailed tonight to Dist.-Atty. Brady in San Francisco, was that those who had attended the party had not felt great concern over Miss Rappe's illness, the consensus of opinion being that she simply had a "bun on." Sherman declared he never had asked Arbuckle what had occurred between him and the girl after they had entered his bedroom and closed the door and Arbuckle never had told him.

Everybody was feeling the effects of whisky and gin, according to Sherman and a phonograph was making a mad racket. After a cold bath had failed to revive the girl and she had been put to bed, Sherman said at the suggestion of Arbuckle he had cleared the suite of guests and dismissed the matter from his mind, not taking the girl's illness seriously.

"Arbuckle did not express to me an opinion as to what was the matter with the girl," he said.

"I did not see Arbuckle put his arms around the girl before she went into the bedroom, or put his hands on her. Arbuckle was sitting in the chair next to the sofa on which she sat. He was sitting with a drink in his hand, laughing and talking."

Asserting that Mrs. Delmont, another guest, did not seem to be upset about anything that had happened to Miss Rappe, Sherman continued:

"I went back to Los Angeles with Arbuckle the next afternoon. I never saw Miss Rappe after that and never inquired about her, because I did not take any of it seriously.

"I do not know whether Mr. Arbuckle communicated with her or asked about her. If he did, he did not do so in my presence.

"I never asked Arbuckle what he thought was the matter with the girl. He seemed to have the same opinion as everyone else—that the girl had a bun on and was ill. He did not seem upset about it, any more than was anybody at the party.

"I never heard Miss Rappe express an opinion as to what was the matter with her."

Sherman made this statement to newspaper men:

"I came here openly, I spoke with the newspaper boys in Chicago and have been trying to dodge nobody. I am ready and willing to tell what I know.

"Yesterday, I met my wife at Harmon, N. Y., as per arrangements I wanted to avoid publicity.

"I waited all day yesterday at my home for a call to come from Mr. Swann's office, but I did not hear from him. I don't want the public to get any idea I am trying to run away."

SHOULD NOT BLAME MOTION PICTURES.

ASSOCIATED FIRST NATIONAL POINTS TO IDEA LIVES OF MANY STARS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—"Why Damn the Motion Pictures?" is the title of an article prepared by the Associated First National Pictures, Inc., defending the industry and the persons in it from attacks upon the morals of the business and the actors and actresses.

It is pointed out that there are more than 200,000 persons who earn their living in the making of pictures. This number is about the population of Toledo, Birmingham, New Haven, Atlanta, Louisville, St. Paul, Omaha, Syracuse, San Antonio or Richmond.

In the course of the year these cities, it is stated, have their quota of murders and other crimes, divorces and scandals, most of which do not extend beyond the local limits because, in most cases, the person is unknown to the general public, and anything beyond local publication is not of sufficient interest. On the other hand, anything that happens to a person who is known to millions because of the screen immediately has a news value because it interests people.

"Domesticity dominates the moving-picture industry," the statement says. "Divorce is no more rampant among cinema people than among any other class of professional people."

The lives of scores of stars, among them the following are pointed to as evidence that the great majority in the business are home-loving people: Dorothy Phillips, wife of Alan Holubar; Buster Keaton and Natalie Talmadge Keaton; Lionel Barrymore, whose devoted wife is Doris Rankin; Anita Stewart, whose husband is Rudolph Cameron; Charles Ray, whose wife is now retired from professional life; Constance Talmadge and Norma, her sister, whose respective husbands show no evidence of becoming estranged; R. K. Walsh, the director, whose wife is Myriam Cooper; Richard Barthelmess and his little better half, Mary Hay, and King and Florence Vidor, whose matrimonial life is said to be ideal.

HART FEELS SORRY FOR FILM COMEDIAN.

THERE'S NOTHING TO CLEAN UP IN HOLLYWOOD; MOST STARS ARE DECENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—William S. Hart is on speaking terms with all the beautiful horses owned by the downtown mounted police squad. Whenever Hart visits Chicago he makes a tour of the loop and visits these horses, all of whom know him. Today he was dressed more like a conservative banker than a wild West actor. He is on his way to New York. Asked about the Arbuckle case, he said:

"I don't want to judge Arbuckle. It is a ghastly thing and I feel sorry for him. People are talking about this leading to a cleaning up in Hollywood. There is nothing to clean up. Most motion picture workers are hard working, decent men and women. They work twelve to fifteen hours a day and have no time for gay parties. I can't tell you what happened at these parties, because I never attended one.

necessary to know something of the type of union labor organization which has been perfected in this district. The International Association of Oil Field and Refinery Workers of America is chartered by the American Federation of Labor, but, unlike all the other branches of the American union movement, the oil workers have an industrial organization instead of a craft organization.

It has always been the policy of the federation to organize workmen in groups of the various crafts. But the oil workers, harking back to the philosophy of the old Knights of Labor, upon the ruins of which was builded the modern union labor movement, have abandoned the idea of organizing men into crafts and have gathered together in one big union all of the workers of the oil fields.

Drillers, machinists, pumpers, boilermakers, blacksmiths, refinery workers, laborers and all the various classifications of workers are joined together, with one group of officers and with one aim and purpose. It was only after a long battle that the American Federation of Labor granted the charter along industrial lines, the various international unions fighting to maintain their jurisdiction in the oil fields.

And in this form of organization all the teachings of modern radicalism find their fruition. It is frankly an organization of class and not of craft. Its inevitable consequence is to teach class consciousness, and its logical aim is the nationalization of industry. The leaders of the organization are of the firm conviction that the "age of capitalism" is swiftly drawing to a close to be succeeded by the "age of industrialism."

AGE OF INDUSTRIALISM.

The "age of barbarism and feudalism" had their day and are gone, Harry Baker, vice-president of the international union and director-in-chief of the strike, said today. He contigued: "The age of the capitalism is swiftly drawing to a close under the pressure of economic events. This will be succeeded by the age of industrialism when the worker will obtain his rightful share of the wealth he creates.

"But it must be understood that the radicalism of this group of workers is not built up by the I.W.W. influence. Of my own knowledge I can testify that I.W.W. leaders who came into this field to make capital of the situation have been deported with even less ceremony than strike-breakers. It is a matter of record that more than 200 men bearing I.W.W. cards have been deported from the strike district.

"The strike philosophy of the I.W.W. is to burn and destroy industry and to take over industry by revolution," said Baker.

"One man with an I.W.W. card who was brought before me said that he was going to show me how to run a strike. He said he could do more in five minutes with a match than Rockefeller could replace in five years.

"At all cost we are going to protect the oil properties, because it is to our interest to do so. If the oil wells are destroyed, our jobs are destroyed."

The district leader said frankly that it is their aim to reform and change the American Federation of Labor by propaganda and by constitutional means, and with equal frankness they say they are going to bring about the downfall of the "capitalistic" system by political revolutionary means.

HOLD GOERNMENT.

As a first step they have demonstrated they can obtain control of the civil government of their own district. They did not seize the local government. It was turned over to them by the public officials whose tenure in office depends upon the oil workers' votes.

The question naturally arises what would happen if all the workers of California were organized along industrial lines and with a definite radical platform.

"We are willing to arbitrate any question in dispute. The men would return to work tomorrow morning if arbitration were assured."

This is the statement made to Martin Madsen, secretary to Gov. Stephens tonight by Harry Baker at a conference in union headquarters.

"Then you will trust your government?" said Madsen.

"We have trusted our government ever since this union was organized. We are on strike with the sole demand that the government underwrite the terms of the agreement under which we work," answered Baker.

The same assurance was given Madsen by Walter Yarrow, chief adviser of the strikers, at a conference in Bakersfield tonight. Madsen was accompanied through the strike district today by Sheriff Newell and Dist.-Atty. Dorsey. Madsen says he will make a thorough investigation of the whole situation.

IN TOW OF "DEPUTIES."

Madsen arrived at noon from Sacramento, held a conference with Dorsey and then, with Mr. Dorsey, started an automobile tour of the fields, in which "law and order" committeemen, strikers deputized as deputies by the local constables, have established a regular guard and patrol systetm, cutting off the oil fields from the public, as well as from persons who seek to enter for the purpose of working on the properties.

Before they left Mr. Dorsey talked briefly to newspaper men, defending the existing conditions. He admitted that the preservation of order lay at present in the hands of those on one side of the controversy, namely, the strikers; but he took the position that the public should be willing to submit to minor invasions of its rights to insure the absence of violence; he also said that if losses were resulting to producers because of the shutdown and the deterioration of the properties, it was unfortunate, but financial loss would have to take second place as compared with possible loss of life if violence resulted from attempted operation.

Union leaders began to gather here tonight for a meeting of the district council tomorrow morning. Word from the various fields involved in the strike today was that no change in the general situation there was apparent.

DENY LAWLESSNESS.

TAFT, Sept. 22.—Denial that there had been lawlessness in connection with the oil strike in this district was made in a message sent by the West Side Merchants Protective Association, an organization of Taft business men, to President Harding, Gov. Stephens, Sheriff Newell and Dist.-Atty. Dorsey of Kern county. The text of the message follows:

"We note, with considerable surprise articles in the various newspapers citing alleged cases of lawlessness on part of oil workers of this district, now on a strike. No acts of lawlessness have come to our observation. On the contrary, we command in the highest possible terms the manner in which this strike is being conducted by officials of the oil workers' union, together with the law and order committee.

"To the best of our knowledge and belief, bootlegging has practically ceased and drunkenness is, and has been, since the beginning of the trouble, unknown. We can say truthfully, and we honestly believe, that we could offer no improvement or suggestions for any line of action on the part of officials or the law and order committee in their handling of the situation at this time, there being no disorder, destruction of property or interference with the peaceful conduct of legitimate business. We make this statement feeling that articles appearing in the press should not go unchallenged when their falsity is clearly apparent to all citizens of this community."

PEDDLER ON RAMPAGE BLINDS CHICAGO GIRL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Furious because Miss Rebecca Peck, 21 years old, refused to buy his wares, an Armenian lace peddler threw a poisonous powder in her eyes and fled. Miss Marion Bridgeman of Niagara Falls, a guest in the Peck home, called the girl's mother and a physician was summoned. Quick emergency treatment doubtless saved the girl's sight, but her face is badly burned and her sight will be affected for some time. Chemists who analyzed the powder dashed in Miss Peck's face say it is composed of cayenne pepper, carbolic acid, insect powder and a substance not yet identified.

An hour later the same peddler, angered because a woman would not open the door and examine his wares, thrust his fist through the window and then ran away.

DETECTIVE SEARGENTS FACE SERIOUS CHARGE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Edward Smale, Tom Carlisle and Edward Mitchell, detective sergeants, are charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, in warrants issued today by United States Commissioner Glass. The three men are also charged with the attempted extortion of $12,000.

One of the trio has been arrested and is said to have made a complete confession.

WASHINGTON NEWS IN BRIEF.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Administration efforts to hasten ratification of the peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary were halted today by demands of "irreconcilable" members of the Foreign Relations Committee, led by Senator Borah.

Democratic Senators proposed amendments to the tax bill, cutting normal income taxes in two and providing a graduated corporation income tax as a substitute for the flat tax of the Finance Committee bill.

Final enactment of tariff legislation before the winter session appeared an impossibility today when Senator Penrose, chairman of the Finance Committee, said that sixty days would be required by treasury experts to collect the information desired in connection with the American valuation plan.

Secretary Hoover announced today the appointment of ten additional members of the national unemployment conference.

Secretary of War Weeks announced new policy for Air Service, limiting sphere of activity of assistant chief to flying and training of flyers.

The wrangle over the beer bill again prevented the Senate from proceeding today with its legislative program, including the tax revision bill for which the session was called.

SHERIFFS OF SOUTH FIRM.

that the law must be upheld in any circumstances. He says that if a strike is called in this county he will put his deputies into the field and check disorder wherever it may arise. Like Sheriff Jackson of Orange county, he has been approached by union officials who want him to keep hands off, but he insists that the law will be upheld to the letter and that offenders will not go unpunished if a strike develops.

SANTA BARBARA QUIET.

Upon his return from a tour of the Santa Maria fields yesterday afternoon Sheriff Ross of Santa Barbara county reported that everything was quiet and that he did not anticipate disorder there.

"Peaceful conditions prevail," he said, "and I'm going to take charge of the situation myself, if necessary, in order to keep things running smoothly. I intend to depend upon my own men to handle the strike."

Commenting upon the report that guards had been turned away from Santa Maria by his men, Sheriff Ross stated that when guards were sent from the north he explained to the oil companies that they were not needed, and they were withdrawn by agreement.

In Ventura county, where the Shell Oil Company is the most extensive operator, there has been no trouble, according to reports. The Shell Company is not involved in the strike and no trouble is expected there.

Sheriff McClinchey, recently appointed by the Board of Supervisors in Ventura county to succeed Sheriff McMartin, who was slain by a Mexican at Somersmouth, says he can and will handle the strike situation with his own force of deputies.

Sheriffs Traeger and Jackson are outspoken in their criticism of conditions existing in the Kern county oil fields, where hundreds of strikers have been deputized by constables, and are permitted to patrol all roads with firearms and deny honest workers the privilege of going to work in the oil fields.

GOVERNOR DOES RIGHT, DECLARES "CHRONICLE."

BAY CITY EDITORIAL APPLAUDS INVESTIGATION OF OIL FIELD SOVIET RULE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22. — Chronicle editorial for Friday, September 23:

Gov. Stephens has done the right thing in ordering an immediate investigation of the remarkable state of affairs now prevailing in the oil fields. If the authority of the people is being usurped by the striking oil workers, if citizens are being denied their constitutional rights by self-appointed committees, if there is now reigning in the oil fields a "dictatorship of the proletariat," the State should have immediate official knowledge and should act.

Perhaps it would have been better had the Governor decided to undertake this investigation in person. Without any derogation of the capacity of Secretary Martin Madsen, a personal inquiry by the Governor on the spot would have added the whole force and prestige of his office to whatever findings resulted and would have made them the most highly authoritative notification of the facts to the whole people.

Nevertheless, though by deputy, the Governor is making the investigation needed. The assumption is that he will act promptly and decisively on the facts discovered. Too often has Gov. Stephens told the people of California of his uncompromising hostility to every un-American force seeking to overturn or pervert our free institutions to leave us any room for doubt that he will use the whole force of the State to put an end to any unlawful seizure of power in the oil fields if such is found to exist. And in such defense of law and the Constitution, the people will be solidly behind him.

JOKE IS GRUESOME; GETS WOMAN'S FOOT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEWTON (N. J.) Sept. 22.—The neighboring town of Ogdensburg has a gruesome mystery. Lawrence Pierce, a minor official of the New Jersey Zinc Company, received at his home in Ogdensburg last night a present of a woman's foot. It has been embalmed, and, according to Undersheriff James Trelaur, had been buried three or four years before dug up for presentation to Pierce, who is at a loss to understand the significance, if any, of the gift.

Pierce reported today that late last night he heard a knock on his front door. From a second story window he saw a man dressed in white and wearing a mask of dark material leap from the porch and run. On the doorstep was a box and in it, wrapped in green paper, Pierce found the foot. There also was some crepe in the box.

There is no medical student residing in the vicinity of Pierce's home and he says he knows of no one who might play such a joke on him.

NEW PLAN FOR TAX REVISION.

Democratic Program Told by Senators.

Propose Sliding Scale for Corporations.

Revenue Measure Expected to Come Up Today.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Democratic Senators proposed a definite tax revision program today in opposition to the bill reported to the Senate from the Finance Committee.

The minority program as embodied in amendments introduced in the Senate by Senators Walsh of Massachusetts and Gerry of Rhode Island, Democratic members of the Finance Committee, contains the following features:

Reduction in normal taxes on all individual incomes of less than $15,000, the rate on net incomes of less than $5000 being made 2 per cent, that on incomes between $5000 and $10,000 4 per cent, and that on incomes between $10,000 and $15,000, 6 per cent, instead of the present normal tax rates of 4 per cent on incomes of less than $4000 and 8 per cent above that amount, neither of which rates is cut in the committee bill.

GRADUATE CORPORATION TAX.

Substitution of a graduated corporation income tax for the flat tax of 15 per cent proposed in the committee bill, a rate of 10 per cent being suggested on net incomes of all corporations whose net income is not in excess of $100,000, a rate of 15 per cent upon net incomes between $100,000 and $300,000, and 20 per cent upon larger incomes.

Retention of the corporation capital stock tax which is repealed by the Senate committee bill.

Imposition of a tax of 1 per cent per gallon on gasoline at the source of production.

Senators Walsh and Gerry issued a statement jointly in support of their amendments, which it was stated will be the basis of the Democratic program to be proposed in the minority committee report, which will be filed with the Senate during the next few days. All the Democratic members of the Senate will be called into conference to give approval to the amendments.

Consideration of the tax bill failed to get under way in the Senate today, the antibeer bill obtaining the right of way temporarily, but notice was given that a motion will be offered tomorrow to take up the revenue measure. Senator Penrose, chairman of the Finance Committee, made an unsuccessful attempt to have the tax bill called up today. The measure received incidental discussion when Senators Walsh and Gerry offered their amendments and made brief explanations.

WILL APPROVE REPORT.

Republican members of the Finance Committee will meet tomorrow to give approval to the tax bill majority report, which was sent to the printer late tonight, and will be made public tomorrow.

Senators Walsh and Gerry in their statement sharply criticised the action of the Republican majority in revising tax laws in such a way as to benefit large corporations and wealthy individuals without proportionately reducing the taxes of small corporations and individuals with moderate incomes. The Senate committee bill was denounced as "unsound, inequitable and indefensible."

The proposed reduction in normal taxes on individual incomes, Senators Walsh and Gerry estimated, would result in a loss of revenue of $105,000,000. The proposed gasoline tax, they said, would yield more than $100,000,000 and the corporation capital stock tax would produce $50,000,000. The proposed graduated corporation income tax would be expected to yield as much as the flat tax of the committee bill.

BROKERAGE FIRM SUSPENDS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Sept. 22.—Walter J. Nicholes & Co., stock brokers, late last night announced that the firm had been forced to suspend operations as a result of shortages and losses amounting to about $150,000.

TEN MORE ARE ON COMMITTEE.

Hoover Names Them for Task of Hunting Jobs.

Unemployment Conference to Meet on Monday.

All Shades of Opinions Are Represented.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Secretary of Commerce Hoover announced tonight the names of ten additional members of the national unemployment conference which President Harding has called to meet in Washington on Monday. Following is the list of names:

Mrs. Sarah Conboy of New York, secretary of the United Textile Workers of America.

James B. Neal of Minerville, Pa., president of the Buckwin Coal Company.

Benjamin Strong of New York, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

M. F. Tighe of Pittsburg, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

James E. Gibson of Seattle, president of the Water Front Employers' Union.

Bird S. Coler of New York, commissioner of public welfare.

John Donlin of Washington, president of the building trade department, American Federation of Labor.

H. H. Stackhouse of Springfield, O., president of the National Implement and Vehicle Association.

William Black of Louisville, Ky.

John D. Ryan of New York, the United Metals Selling Company, Montana Power Company.

TO NAME COMMITTEES.

Mr. Hoover said he expected that the conference would at once appoint committees to study the various problems in connection with unemployment and submit recommendations for action. Some recommendations, he added, he hoped would be ready for discussion within two or three days after the initial meeting.

There is a strong belief in administration circles that much good is to come out of the conference. There is certainly variety enough in the occupations of the delegates to the conference to insure spice, if not success. Every known kind of an opinion on labor and lack of labor problems will be represented at the conference. Capital, labor, open shop, closed shop, education, commerce, agriculture and, in fact, everything, will be there from haberdashery to horticulture.

It is hard to tell just how Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will manage to get his ideas running smoothly in the same grooves with those of Joseph H. De Frees, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, or how Elizabeth Christian of the International Glove Workers' Union will succeed in melting mentally into the mood of Jackson Johnson, chairman of the International Shoe Company, but stranger things have happened, and it is said today that Mr. Hoover really believes that all the ideas represented will be dovetailed one into another until there is a completed whole worthy to look upon and workable.

PRESIDENT HOPEFUL.

President Harding, it is known lays great store on the outcome of this talk on industrial conditions and unemployment, and he believes that every man present, from millionaire to miner, will tie a can to prejudice and try to make his thoughts meet the other fellow's thoughts.

No one knows yet definitely how the conferees are to conduct their meetings. The thing is to get them started right. Every day the country hears something about the agenda for the conference of the limitation of armaments and problems of the Far East, but thus far little has been said about an agenda for the industrial conference.

Agenda is a word of diplomacy, meaning, as near as one can get at it, program of subjects, if not of procedure. The conferees on unemployment will have more trouble with procedure than with subjects. They have one subject to consider and it is one which has bothered the wise heads ever since the day that chance, design, or something else, made one man a hirer and another a hired.

There is one good sign. The whole thing is taken seriously here and there really is no evidence that the administration has called this conference simply for the purpose of showing the country that it is willing to try to do something.

There are in the list of conferees the names of several persons who are known as long-distance talkers. It may be possible to limit their tongues to half-hour journeys. The hope is that either Secretary Hoover or Secretary of Labor Davis will have something to propound at the start which will form the basis of discussion and perhaps give promise of being developed into a plan which will send the jobless back to work.

The obstacle to be overcome, however, is that there is lack of work for them. The conferees therefore will have the real job of finding a job for the jobless to go to work at. It is believed that the conference will be over in ten days and the last day will tell the tale.

SEAGULL HELD SACRED BIRD.

Saved Early-Day Settlers of Utah from Starving.

Made War on Crickets Which Were Eating Grain.

Monument Erected in Mormon Temple by Pioneers.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 22.—Report from North Dakota that seagulls recently appearing in McLean county had destroyed grasshoppers which threatened to ruin the crops called attention here to a similar incident in Mormon pioneer life in Utah.

Today a notable monument stands in the Mormon temple grounds in Salt Lake City in honor of the birds that saved the early settlers from threatened starvation in 1848. It is a pillar about 100 feet high surmounted by a bronze seagull. At its base are inscriptions detailing the reason for its erection with illustrations by Mahonri Young, the Utah sculptor.

CRICKETS ASSAIL GRAIN.

The first pioneers trekked across the plains into Salt Lake Valley in 1847. Brigham Young stipulated that there should be intensive cultivation of the land, crops were grown and the farmers looked for a bountiful harvest the next year. Then crickets in huge armies swooped down upon the crops. The farmers tried to eliminate the pest without success. Transportation at the time was difficult, means to obtain foodstuffs from distant points were limited, and the situation looked critical.

SEAGULLS SAVE CROPS.

When practically everyone had given up hope of saving any part of the crops, the seagulls, termed by old Mormons as the "messengers from heaven," appeared. They did not touch the grain, but warred on the crickets and in a short time had ridden the fields of the pest. There are no records to show whence the birds came.

The seagull is Utah's sacred bird. It is unlawful to kill it. Many of the people of this State hold it in affectionate memory and during the summer thousands give of their bread to the birds that may be seen in large numbers at Saltair, a resort a few miles from here on the Great Salt Lake.

ANOTHER IS CHARGED WITH KILLING PRIEST.

BALTIMORE SLAYER NAMED IN WARRANT SWORN TO BY DETECTIVE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—Two men—William A. Hightower, itinerant baker, and David Bender, escaped convict of the Maryland penitentiary—are now officially charged with murder in connection with the death of Patrick E. Heslin, Colma Catholic priest. The body of Father Heslin was found early last month buried in a shallow grave at Salada Beach, south of San Francisco.

A warrant charging Bender with the slaying of Father Heslin was obtained at Colma today by William F. Herron of counsel for William A. Hightower, arrested after he had led San Francisco officers and newspaper reporters to the grave. Hightower is held in jail at Redwood City, awaiting trial, which has been set for early in October.

Authorities announced tonight that no decision had been reached as to the serving of the warrant against Bender. He was arrested here several weeks ago, and is now being returned to the Maryland penitentiary, where he was serving a fifteen-year sentence for the murder of a Baltimore policeman.

Incriminating evidence against Bender has been obtained, Herron announced. He said he also had located Dolly Mason, from whom Hightower declared he received his information as to the location of the grave of the murdered priest. Dolly Mason, according to Herron, was a consort of Bender's, and he said he believed testimony from her would clear Hightower of the charges against him.

STATE SHOWS SLAIN WOMAN HAD MONEY.

MRS. MAHONEY GOT $1600 FROM DEPOSIT BOX DAY BEFORE SHE DISAPPEARED.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 22.—Kate M. Mahoney, wealthy and elderly bride, whose mutilated body is said to have been found in a trunk in Lake Union here, drew $1600 from a safe deposit box on the day before she disappeared, according to testimony adduced by the State in Superior Court here today, at the trial of her husband, James E. Mahoney, charged with her murder.

This evidence was given by J. T. Klette, a garage owner, who quoted a conversation with the missing woman April 16. He said she told him she had drawn the money and that she and "Jim" were leaving the next day for St. Paul, where her husband was to "sell a patent and get a lot of money."

Elmer A. Antes, a vault custodian, testified that Mrs. Mahoney visited her deposit box twice on April 15. Previous to that, he added, she frequently had opened the box, and usually had been accompanied by Mahoney.

WEEKS IS AGAINST RETIREMENT SCHEME.

SAYS DISABLED EMERGENCY OFFICERS DON'T BELONG; WOULD OVERLOAD LIST.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Emergency officers of the Army, disabled during the war don't belong on the retired list of the Regular Army, although deserving of every consideration at the hands of Congress, Secretary Weeks said today, referring to his attitude on the retirement proposal for such officers fostered by officials of the American Legion.

The contract made by the government with regular officers guaranteed them retirement pay because of conditions of the service which disqualified them from making adequate provision for old age or their dependents otherwise, Mr. Weeks said. The contract with war-time officers was a different matter, he added, and placing them on the retired list merely would load it up.

There were now eligible for retirement under the plan urged by the Legion, he said, some 2000 emergency officers, and the number would constantly increase as the years passed.

TARIFF LEGISLATION TO BE DRAWN OUT.

FINAL ENACTMENT UNLIKELY BEFORE EARLY NEXT YEAR, SAYS PENROSE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Final enactment of tariff legislation before the winter session of Congress appeared an impossibility today when Senator (Chairman) Penrose of the Senate Finance Committee, said it is estimated sixty days will be required to collect information desired in connection with the adoption of the American valuation plan.

Republican committee members conferred with James B. Reynolds, who has been given charge of the force of men who will gather the information for the Treasury. This new force of Treasury experts is being organized under the $100,000 emergency appropriation recently made by Congress.

In view of the fact that the Christmas holidays will interrupt work during December, consideration of the tariff bill in the Senate is not likely to be completed before early next year.

Senator Penrose announced that the House bill imposing a duty of 90 per cent on American surplus war supplies sold to France and returned to this country will be called at the earliest opportunity.

HIGHWAY COMMISSION AWARDS CONTRACT.

VALLEJO MAN TO CONSTRUCT CONCRETE PAVEMENT IN SANTA CLARA COUNTY.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.—The State Highway Commission today awarded the contract for the construction of one and three-quarter miles of concrete pavement between Gilroy and Carnerdero Creek in Santa Clara county to R. J. Blanco of Vallejo. The bid of the firm was $24,834.50 and the estimate of the State engineers, $31,981.50.

The bid of the California Construction Company of San Rafael for the construction of an undergrade crossing on the Northwestern Pacific Railroad near Arnold, in Mendocino county was accepted, and the contract awarded to that firm. The bid was $13,500.26, and the estimate of the engineers $15,151.25.

Bids for the paving of the King city bridge and approaches in Monterey county were rejected on the ground that they were excessive. Bids were opened on the following work, but action deferred until September 28:

Surfacing and paving between Delhi and the north boundary of Merced county.

Surfacing and paving in Stanislaus county, between Modesto and the southern boundary.

Highway construction between Perry and Morgan Hill in Santa Clara county.

Highway construction between Fullerton and the western boundary of Orange county.

HER HUSBAND DEAD; PAID FOR HIS KEEP.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SOMERVILLE (N. J.) Sept. 22.—Mrs. William Reis was informed today that her husband died in the State Insane Asylum at Trenton, N. J., three years ago, during which time she thought he was alive, and all necessary expenses for him, continued his life insurance payments and looked forward to his cure and release.

The case, according to the officials of the institution at Trenton, is one of the strangest in its history and is due to clerical errors in misspelling the man's name. Reis was committed to the asylum July 14, 1915, by the Somerville courts. Through an error he was booked as William Rice. He escaped in the latter part of 1916 and was recommitted to the institution.

Meantime Mrs. Reis was compelled to work to support herself and her three children. She paid the insurance premiums on the life of her husband and, for a time, visited him. Her outside work and the care of the family prevented her after a time from visiting him.

A few days ago she inquired for her husband. She was told, she says, that the institution had not had a man by that name as a patient. Investigation revealed that her husband had never been listed as Reis but that the entries had all named him "Rice." He died, according to the records, in 1918.

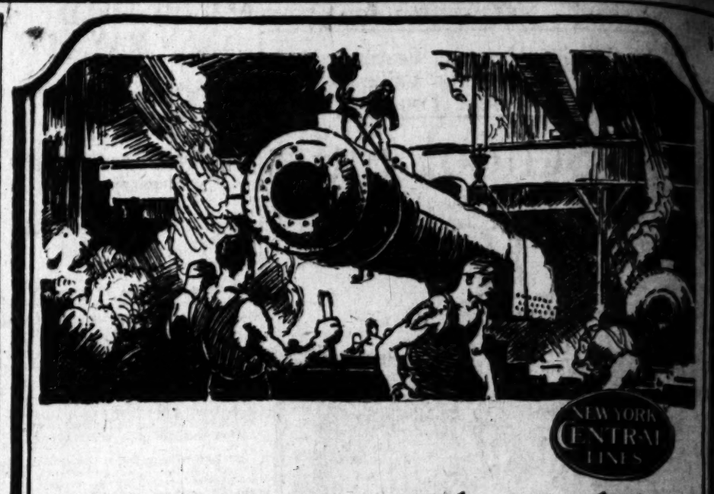
WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—More than 100 Russian anarchists are at liberty in this country under bonds covered by $600,000 in Liberty Bonds deposited with the Secretary of Labor, it was stated today at the Department of Labor. Officials of the refusal of the Russian Soviet government to accept the anarchists, it has been learned, is to deport them.



Going Ahead

THE rehabilitation program of the New York Central Lines, begun immediately after the Government returned the railroads to their owners, but halted by the industrial depression, has been resumed.

Twenty-one thousand men have been restored to the working forces since the turn of the midyear.

Car loadings at stations on the New York Central Lines in August rose to 306,574, a new high mark for 1921. The number of carloads of freight received at connecting points reached 330,540, also marking a new record for the year.

In the past few months we have been obliged to curtail or halt expenditures for betterments and improvements, but we have at all times maintained our facilities and equipment adequate to the demands of business.

As the tide of traffic rises, and as new capital is available for necessary railroad development, the New York Central Lines will keep pace with, and plan ahead for, the expansion of industry in the twelve States they directly serve.

SEEK MAN IN TRIPLE KILLING.

Many Theories in Michigan Studded Club Slaying.

Supposed Betrayer of Girl is Latest Suspect.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DOWAGIAC (Mich.) Sept. 22.—One of the major theories in the uncanny "nail-studded club" murders here was eliminated today when four witnesses took the stand in the Coroner's inquest and testified that it was evident that an attack on the two women victims had not inspired the slayings.

Two of the witnesses were Ralph Gillette and Clarence Wright, brothers-in-law of William Monroe, the slain father. They told of finding the man and his wife and daughter lying in bed, slain by terrific blows.

According to the men the bed clothing covered the bodies and there was no evidence anywhere of a struggle. They told of finding the second daughter, Ardith, the only survivor of the family, in a semiconscious condition. She told them at the time that she did not know what had happened.

ROBBERY OR REVENGE?

The two other witnesses were Detectives James Tinette and Edward Burch, who corroborated this testimony. Working on a process of elimination the authorities believe now that only two motives remain for the murders. One, they say, may have been robbery.

The other involves a strange tale of revenge and the name of William Kenney, a married man, and Neva Monroe, 17 years old, one of the victims, are closely interwoven in it. Sheriff Wyman of Cass county is close on the man's trail and his arrest is expected today. Feeling is so bitter that when the man is arrested he will not be brought to Dowagiac.

The Sheriff has specifically instructed the physicians who will conduct the post mortem examination that they shall endeavor to learn whether the girl had ever been attacked or whether she had ever been a mother or was about to become a mother at the time of her death.

It is upon this examination the authorities here believe the entire case hinges. That the man who nearly wiped out the entire Monroe family had been asked to make reparation for the wrong done the daughter or had been asked to marry her is a theory.

CLOTHING FOUND.

Another startling development has been turned up in the triple slaying. It is the finding of clothing, caked with dark red stains, supposedly blood, in the home of Herbert Smith, a neighbor of the Monroes. Smith is already under arrest as a suspect.

The clothing will be examined by a chemical expert to determine the composition of the stains.

The search for Kenney has led Sheriff Wyman to Saginaw, Mich. The man, married and the father of a child, is said to have gone to Temple, near Saginaw.

Examination of footprints leading from the Monroe home to that of Smith and a grilling of Smith were under way today as the Coroner prepared to resume the inquiry.

Smith, who was arrested at the Baldwin Sanatorium here, denied all knowledge or participation in the crime.

A contributory cause to the shortage was given as "the utter inadequacy of the financial provision made for either minister or missionary."

ANOTHER U. S. A POSSIBILITY.

Confederation of West Indies and Canada Proposed.

Would Make the Third United States on Continent.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—"The Confederation of the West Indies and Canada," virtually a third United States on the soil of North America, is a possibility, according to advices received here. If the movement succeeds, our own United States will find the territories of a member of the British commonwealth of nations stretching between its shores and those of Europe.

This new confederation idea follows the completion of the second North American "United States," known as the Central American Union. This is made up of the republics that lie between Mexico and the Panama Canal. They are Guatemala, Honduras, San Salvador and Costa Rica, with Nicaragua just on the edge of coming into the combine. The capital of this Central American "United States" is to be the city of Tegucigalpa, in Honduras.

STARTS IN JAMAICA.

The movement for the West Indian-Canadian combine started in Jamaica. It received an initial check when the British Governor-General told the island council that formal action would be necessary before he would take the matter up with Canada through the British Colonial Office.

The motion for federation was introduced and failed of a majority vote, but is still before the Jamaican council for reconsideration. It reads:

"That the legislative council of Jamaica hereby expresses its desire to know the views of the other British West Indian possessions and the Dominion of Canada on the important question of federation, on an imperial basis, of all the British possessions in the Western Hemisphere and respectfully requests the Governor of the colony to obtain such views for the information of this council."

WOULD EVADE WASHINGTON.

The proposal of Senator Willis of Ohio that the United States take the British West Indies as payment of war debts is freely given for the Jamaican movement for confederation with Canada. The summary of the argument given by the Jamaica leaders of the plan runs like this:

The time is almost at hand when the Caribbean colonies will have to consider the question of federation as a matter of extreme emergency. They have to unite for the purpose of improving themselves. When they come to consider what must be done, it will be necessary to see that in the pooling of interests they know what they can get from Canada. Jamaica's strategic position and the possibilities of the colony have made both herself and the other West Indian colonies the subject of discussions in the United States. A desire has been shown by some newspapers in the United States, and even Senators, to get their government to make an offer for these colonies.

NOT FOR SALE.

England has intimated that the West Indies are not for sale. But the position is not altogether safe as long as the West Indian colonies remain scattered units and as long as they are not linked up with Canada.

As to the effect the new federation might have upon the relations between this country and the British Empire, the promoters declare that a consolidation with Canada will assist in promoting friendship.

The plans of the federationists contemplate the inclusion of Canada and of Jamaica, the largest of the crown colonies in the Caribbean sea, together with the Bahamas, Barbados, Trinidad, the British possessions in the Leeward and Edward Islands (or New Antilles) and possibly the distant Bermudas. No thought has been given toward getting the province of New Foundland.

PAIR CONVICTED OF SWINDLE SENTENCED.

SYSTEM TO BEAT COMPANY OUT OF SALES MONEY TOLD BY WORKERS.

Convicted of what the police say was a plot to enable several small local plumbing shops to obtain goods and supplies at a very low price at the expense of Harper & Reynolds Company, Arthur J. Gleb and Harold Clow, both employed by that concern, were sentenced to serve 180 days in the City Jail yesterday. They were taken into custody by Police Detectives Cato and Cline.

According to their confession, the two men had worked out a scheme to beat the company's checking system and were selling large quantities of goods at reduced prices and turning no money in to the company. In each sale the men, according to their own statements, sold and turned in cash for a small article and then sold and kept the cash for some valuable article. The sales slip on the cheap article was shown by the customer to the cashier and no record of the second sale made.

Officials of the company estimated yesterday that the men had disposed of about $4000 worth of goods within the past six months without turning any of the money into the company.

Kidnaped Girl is Object of Coast Search.

TACOMA (Wash.), Sept. 22.—Assistance of officers up and down the Coast has been asked by the local police following the kidnaping of Irene Powell, aged 6, Monday afternoon. The girl was a ward of the juvenile court here, and she was abducted from the yard of the home in which she had been placed.

Local courts were to have determined tomorrow whether Irene should go into the custody of her father, S. L. Powell, or of her mother, Mrs. J. D. Bennett, who lives in Lewis county. The father was released from the Federal penitentiary on McNeil Island Saturday, after serving sentence of 21 months for fraudulent sale of railway tickets in Southern California. Police are searching for Powell.

GEN. WOOD NOMNATED FOR POST IN MANILA.

JOHN T. WILLIAMS SELECTED AS CALIFORNIA DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood was formally nominated by President Harding today to be Governor-General of the Philippine Islands. Gen. Wood, whose selection for the post was announced several weeks ago, has spent the past several months in the Philippines investigating conditions for President Harding, and is expected to assume the Governorship for a period of one year as soon as his nomination is confirmed.

John T. Williams was nominated for United States District Attorney for the northern district of California.

Nomination of Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt of California and of John W. H. Crim of New Jersey, to be assistant attorney-general, were included in a long list of nominations sent to the Senate today by President Harding.

A preliminary cabled summary of the conclusions as to conditions in the islands and the extent to which the islanders are ready for full independence reached by Gen. Wood and W. Cameron Forbes, former Governor-General, during their investigation, at the request of President Harding, has been received here. It will not be made public, according to Secretary Weeks. The full report will be given to the public, however, when Mr. Forbes brings it to Washington on his return in October.

The War Secretary has had nothing to say concerning recommendations made by the commissioners on independence, further than the assertion that they warranted Gen. Wood's appointment as Governor-General and that no "abandonment" of the islands was contemplated.

No decision has been reached by President Harding as yet as to the post of vice-governor. It has been indicated, however, Gen. Wood's wishes will be consulted.

Gen. Wood will be placed on the retired list October 5 at his own request, having served more than the necessary thirty years. He will take the oath of office as Governor-General in Manila about that date and begin his duties at once.

Under the agreement reached by Gen. Wood with the authorities of the University of Pennsylvania, his appointment as provost of that institution has been deferred a year to permit him to undertake the task assigned him in the Philippines. His services as Governor-General are, therefore, limited under his present plans, to about twelve months.

SCIENCE PROGRESSING WITH USE OF RADIUM.

NOT ALL CANCER CAN BE CURED BY ITS USE, SAYS FEDERAL CHEMIST.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Stimulated by the recent visit to the United States of Mme. Curie, discoverer of radium, scientists in this country are making new progress in treating cancer with radium, according to R. B. Moore, chief chemist of the United States Bureau of Mines. The highly scientific treatment of disease by the use of radium, however, Mr. Moore says, is successful only when applied with the greatest skill.

"All cancer cannot be so cured, and it requires a skilled surgeon who thoroughly understands the proper dosage in order to get favorable results," Mr. Moore states. "At the present time the United States produces more radium than all the rest of the world together.

"From the beginning of the industry in 1913 to January, 1921, approximately 115 grams of radium element have been produced in this country. Probably not more than forty grams have been recovered from foreign ores since the discovery of radium by Mme. Curie."

Mr. Moore said that most of the domestic production of radium is from mines in Colorado.

SOVIET WOULD AVOID BLAME.

Decentralize is New Advice of Communists.

Get Own Food, Labor Unions Are Now Told.

But Reds Refuse to Admit System is Wrong.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MOSCOW, Sept. 22.—Everywhere throughout Russia the soviet is unloading responsibilities it is unable to meet. Factory workers are being urged to obtain their own materials, run their own affairs and obtain their own food.

"Decentralize, do it yourselves, and do not depend upon the central government for everything," is the burden of instructions broadcasted by the government since domestic free trade was instituted and the new policy of the Bolsheviki was declared.

Provincial officials, labor unions, co-operative societies and famine relief committees are all told the same thing.

RATIONS REDUCED.

Departments are being reduced and large numbers of men are being thrown out of employment. Those who have been receiving food have been placed on reduced rations and workmen in nationalized factories are being paid in manufactured products or in money instead of food so that the food responsibilities of the government may be lightened.

It seems, however, that Russians, with the exception of the extreme Communists, are pleased with the government's change of policy.

CHANGE IS WELCOMED.

Attempts at general centralization of everything proved so disastrous for three years that it is probable anything new would be welcome as possibly promising relief for the average citizen. Communists stoutly insist that the new system adopted is really modified communism and not capitalism. It is impossible, however, to find peasants holding land who will admit the government owns the soil.

Apart from the ardent Communists, there seems to be a general opinion that the scheme of granting concessions to operate industries is only camouflaged capitalism. The military control being exercised and Communist party discipline are so strong that the soviet government apparently has not been weakened by its change of policy.

TROTZKY MAKES ADDRESS.

Leon Trotzky, the soviet War Minister, who has just returned here from the Ukraine, addressed an enthusiastic meeting of the Moscow soviet today. He said an ultimatum had been received from Poland on Monday in which the Poles demanded fulfillment of the peace terms signed in Riga, but he declared Russia could also make demands for fulfillment of the treaty, as Polish generals were supporting banditry in the Ukraine and Poland itself in many days was violating the provisions of the treaty.

CHIEF OSHKOSH TO HEAD CELEBRATION.

INDIAN DAY AT CHICAGO TO HONOR RED MEN; MANY WILL ATTEND.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Chief Oshkosh, a Winnebago Indian, recently returned from France where he has been teaching forestry, heads the Indians participating in Chicago's celebration of Indian Day tomorrow. Two years ago the Illinois Legislature designated the fourth Friday in September as an annual Indian Day, and this is its second observance here.

Ceremonies will be held in Chicago's forest preserve, under chairmanship of Ransom E. Kennicott, its chief forester. The Chicago Historical Society has joined with the forest preserve district, and the Boy Scouts will assist. A number of Indians have been invited by the district from reservations in Wisconsin and Oklahoma, and from Nebraska.

"The youth of America are being brought up on the cigar sign Indian," said Miss Caroline M. McIlvaine, librarian of the historical society, "and have no conception of the dignity and importance of the American Indian. The society is interested in Indian Day from the educational standpoint. We want to see developed a more just and true conception of the original American Indian."

HARD BLOW AT UNION IS STRUCK BY COURT.

SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) Sept. 22. Judge Pierce of the Supreme Court, in a final decree handed down in the case of the Springfield Foundry Company against officers and members of the International Molders' Union of North America and local union 127, ruled that the purpose of a strike beginning January 14 against the individual contract system was for "an illegal purpose."

The decree perpetually restrains the union, its members, agents, servants or attorneys from carrying on any conspiracy against the company to achieve the closed shop; from conspiring to compel the plaintiff to abrogate his individual contract of employment; from molesting the company employees, and from picketing.

Taxes, uncollectible revenues and other charges are deducted from the net revenue in order to reach the net income.

The net revenue was an increase of $18,721,838 over the same period of 1920. The net income increase was $17,977,272 over the 1920 figures.

LEGLESS VETERAN TO PAY ALIMONY.

States He Was Coaxed into Marriage With Woman; Had Asked Divorce.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Justice Faber in the Brooklyn Supreme Court ordered Ashley Evans to pay $65 a month alimony and $150 counsel fees when the wife appeared today in answer to Evans's divorce suit. Evans is a legless veteran of the World War. He sued for divorce, naming an unidentified man and "many places," and thus told of his shattered romance:

"I was married to the defendant in February, 1919, and she left me in June, 1919. I was married at the earnest solicitation of the defendant. I never asked her to marry me. On bended knees in my home she asked me to marry her, which I foolishly did."

CO-OPERATIVE IDEA IN IOWA GROWING.

OVER SIX HUNDRED LIVE-STOCK SHIPPING ASSOCIATIONS DOING BUSINESS.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

AMES (Iowa) Sept. 22.—There are 610 co-operative live-stock shipping associations in Iowa, covering more than 700 towns and villages and doing a business last year estimated at $103,000,000, according to Dr. E. G. Nourse of Iowa State College here. Dr. Nourse, who is head of the college's agricultural economics department, has just completed a State survey.

Average saving of farmers in marketing expenses is estimated at 35 cents a hundred pounds.

Co-operative shipping associations in Iowa doubled last year, 310 being formed. The first was started in 1904 and in 1916 there were but fifty-seven active.

Approximately 27.5 per cent of the total live-stock business of the State, or 49,754 cars were handled by these associations in 1920, according to the survey.

NEW MEXICO BARS ALIEN LAND OWNERS.

AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION AIMED AT JAPS IS ENACTED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Sept. 22. New Mexico apparently has adopted an amendment to the State constitution which will prevent aliens who are ineligible to citizenship from owning land or holding land leased from the State. Incomplete returns from Tuesday's election on the eleven constitutional amendments indicate that this amendment has carried.

The amendment was submitted by the last Legislature. Reports were received in the State that the Japanese were attempting to get a foothold in the lower Rio Grande Valley in the State, and the proposed amendment met with little opposition in the Legislature.

Additional reports on Tuesday's balloting for U. S. Senator showed few changes from yesterday's figures, which gave Bursum a majority of 7173.

EMERY LAUGHS AT WILD TALE.

Denies Being Deposed as Legion Head on Trip.

Tells of Kicks Made by Few Disgruntled Legionairres.

Hints About Sudden Immersion in Wet Country.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 22.—John G. Emery, national commander of the American Legion, while visiting national Legion headquarters here yesterday, gave his version of the "revolt" among members of the Legion party who recently toured France and Belgium. According to some members of the party, Emery, whose home is in Grand Rapids, Mich., was "deposed" as leader of the delegation. Commander Emery was asked why he was deposed as leader.

EMERY DENIES STORY.

"Deposed? I wasn't deposed. That's the wrong word," he answered. "No one could depose me, only the national commander, and he is I."

Emery's statement concerning the affair is as follows:

"In the first place I want to express my opinion that all men, in the last analysis, are children. When we arrived in France very properly I wanted the delegation to present some semblance of an organization, so four companies were organized with about thirty members each. Some of the men objected to the company idea, principally because they weren't in the front ranks, others objected because they didn't get to make the speeches, some kicked about their rooms, about the trains, about everything in general; very naturally some of the men were disgruntled.

FEW DISGRUNTLED.

"There was no open break, or even an intimation of a break, until we boarded the liner Leopoldina, an old tub, on our return trip. Then, what first appeared would be a revolution, finally simmered down to a mild windstorm. Some of the members of the party, prima donnas, that they were, objected to sleeping below decks, which was absolutely necessary, so an indignation meeting was held and only seventy-eight members of the party attended. After much discussion Legionnaire Hanley of North Dakota was elected leader of the delegation, but that didn't depose me, just because seventy-eight members were not satisfied. Then, after three meetings on three afternoons, the seventy-eight members passed two resolutions, one expressing very great regret at not being able to attend Mrs. So and So's luncheon; the other expressing regret in not being able to visit Mrs. So and So while in France.

"It must be remembered that these men toured France and Belgium under far different conditions than those existing in the United States. In the first place they went from a dry country into a very wet one. Our emotions were daily played upon; great receptions were held in our honor, some got no sleep, while others got two and three hours, some the full amount. The reaction came as we started home. Outside of that a good time was had by all."

FURTHER CHARGES OF SERB AGGRESSIONS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

GENEVA, Sept. 22.—Further charges of Serbian aggression against Albania were made today in messages received by Bishop Fannoli, who represents Albania at the seat of the League of Nations here. An important detachment of Serbs, declared to be regulars, disguised as Albanians, attacked the Albanians north of Merdita, near the Jugo-Slavia border, on September 21, the dispatches asserted. Albanian forces aided by the inhabitants of the district, repulsed the attack.

The messages which were communicated to the officials of the League, declared the Serbs had been bombarding the town of Aras, Albania, continuously since Sunday.

Three additional nations were admitted to the leage today. The trio comprised Esthonia, Letvia and Lithuania.

RECORD AMERICAN TONNAGE IN CANAL.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Despite the world-wide trade depression which held during the fiscal year 1921, a new high record was established for American tonnage passage through the Panama Canal, according to official reports received here. In a total of 2892 ships traversing the waterway, 1212 were American, exclusive of government-owned and chartered vessels. The nearest competitor of the United States was Great Britain, whose flag appeared on 970 ships, carrying 3,722,000 tons against 5,179,000 tons freighted under American colors.

SEEKS COMPROMISE IN WEST HUNGARY.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BUDAPEST, Sept. 22.—Baron Newton of the British foreign office, who is negotiating informally with the Hungarian government for a compromise of the West Hungarian situation, where the disturbances are approaching anarchy, has been informed that the basis of the Hungarian proposition is to keep Odenburg and hand over to Austria the remainder of West Hungary.

Alagming news is in circulation here to the effect that warlike preparations are being made by Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia.

The national assembly has been convoked for today.

Wheat Market Close Near Top of Day's Prices.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Wheat closed near the top for the day and gains of 1 to 1¾ cents were registered. Pit traders were committed to the short side, and when they attempted to cover during the last thirty minutes they found offerings light. Corn finished ¼ to ½ cent higher. Oats and oats were unchanged to ¼ cent higher. Rye closed unchanged to ¼ cent lower and barley unchanged. Pork closed unchanged, lard 5 to 7½ cents lower and ribs unchanged to 7½ cents higher.

The wheat market was extremely nervous. There was a better clean of buying in evidence, but realizing to lower levels were frequent during the late part of the session. At the start eastern houses sold December and Northwest interests sold May. Local bull leaders took advantage of the dip to replace lines and later there was buying by export interests. Some short covering was noted, but most of the shorts had accepted profits on the break yesterday. The cheapest profits on the break yesterday. The cheapest profits on the bulge brought out selling of May credited to cotton traders who were getting out of long wheat, while Northwest houses had the December for sale. The bulls were very much encouraged over the arrival in seaboard ports. There were 400,000 bushels of wheat waiting for export via the gulf over night, and some of the early buying is the result of bets against this business. Later, export houses were reported giving up futures for the cash.

Corn exhibited a better tone, at the start prices were easier, May reaching a new low level on the crop. Leading elevator interest was identified with buying September and there also was some buying of the current month for eastern account. Commission houses picked up the deferred months, selling was mainly local in character. Receipts continue of goodly volume, the estimate being for 310 cars.

Independent strength featured the trade in oats. There was a good class of commission-house buying in evidence and locals also were more inclined to favor the purchasing side. Offerings were not heavy, though good selling developed on the bulge, which was credited to Northwest interests. Receipts are running to moderate proportions, the estimate today being for 110 cars.

Rye was dull. No. 2 sold at 81.01¾. Deliveries on September contracts were 25,000 bushels. Receipts, three cars.

COTTON MARKET IS ERRATIC ONCE MORE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The cotton market was erratic again today, the story in another of opening advance and subsequent sufficiency reactions. The market scored a gain of about 10 to 40 points early in the session before it meant increased realizing sales and scattered southern hedge pressure and slumped materially. Continuation of yesterday's last-minute buying wave lifted the market 5 to 45 points at the start, largely under influenced by the strength of Liverpool cables, betterment of securities and the further improvement in sterling exchange. Pressure, was felt and early in the second hour the market was only 7 to 10 points over last night's final bids.

Movements of considerable sensitivity featured the afternoon. The market at the time sold off 17 points from last night's close, but under active southern hedging and profit taking, but 15 to 20 points from the low, was responsible for the last half-hour rise that was registered. The close was irregular, 13 points lower to 2 higher. All in all, the day's market was a nervous, fluctuating affair which reflected the confused sentiment in Wall street and among the trade.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Eastern Bankers Curious to Inspect the Nation's White Spot; Crop Review; Better Business in Sight.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

Many eastern bankers who are coming to attend the convention next month have written Los Angeles that their chief interest in the trip is to ascertain at first hand the reason for the clearinghouse statistics which have emanated from this city during the past few months.

Without an intimate knowledge of local and Pacific Coast conditions it has been difficult for these financial experts to visualize a condition of trade and business which has maintained the Los Angeles clearings while they have been declining in every other part of the country.

During a period when factories have been shut down, production at low ebb, and export trade at a minimum, this community has forged steadily ahead. Every month the clearing and building statistics of Los Angeles have been gazetted throughout the country, to the amazement of bankers everywhere who have had only conditions in their own communities to guide their deductions.

The maintenance of commercial and monetary equilibrium on the part of Southern California and in the face of falling markets elsewhere has been the best advertising we have ever had, and the opportunity to show the doubting Thomases from the East that there is nothing of chicanery in the figures, but that they are based upon solid and substantial foundations, will be of lasting benefit.

Already, with more than a quarter of the year to come, the increase in Los Angeles bank clearings over 1920 amounts to $168,144,303.21.

It must always be borne in mind in considering these figures that in conjunction with the increase there has been a decline in values, and a general business depression manifested in practically every other part of the country.

When the value shrinkage is discounted we are faced by the inescapable alternative, that, in the face of the depression mentioned, Los Angeles must have experienced a heavy business increase, an increase which, at the rate indicated so far this year, will show a bank clearing growth for the year of approximately 50 per cent.

This increased volume of business, sustained week after week, and reflected in clearings, which show the only consistent gains reported anywhere in the country, is the reason for the white spot in which Los Angeles is set upon the commercial graphs.

It is going to be a real pleasure to show the gentlemen from Missouri and elsewhere our goods. They will go home with a better understanding of why this city is the metropolis of the West and why it has become an important unit in the financial and business and manufacturing development of the country.

The California rice crop, while estimated at only 60 per cent of last year's yield, is in fine condition and will be ready for harvesting around October 1. S. H. Harris, a local broker, predicts a firm market and an advance in price, due to recent storms in the South which damaged the crops in Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Mr. Harris believes that the southern rice market will also hold steady this season, because of the short acreage planted and the damaged crops. A good demand from Cuba and Porto Rico is beginning to be felt by California rice men and the extra duty of 2 cents a pound, doubling the former rate, is expected to keep out competitive Chinese rice to a great extent. Prices range from 6 cents a pound for fancy California rice to 5 3-4 cents for the more ordinary grades. This is a slight decline from last year's prices at this time, but in 1920 rice underwent a slump later in the year. Such a slump is not expected during the 1921 season.

California bean growers are beginning their late harvest which has resulted in the stiffening of prices for California pink beans. These are now holding firm around 4½ cents a pound. Considering the large acreage put out this year to the colored bean, this is a very good price in the opinion of authorities.

Only half the usual acreage of white beans, large and small, has been planted with the result that prices for these varieties will probably remain firm throughout the season.

Lima beans are being cut now and the Lima Bean Growers' Association has fixed a price of 6 cents a pound on this year's crop. It appears to be a question whether or not growers outside of the association who are offering their beans at 5 3-4 cents a pound will be able to break down the association's price. The future of this year's lima bean prices will be settled after the crop has been harvested.

Sugar remains very unsteady, and a recent decline of 10 cents a hundredweight has robbed the market of whatever confidence it might have had previously. The refiners' price is now $5.75 a hundredweight f.o.b. San Francisco.

Cuban sugar has glutted the eastern market and raw sugar is now going begging in New York at $4.25 a hundredweight.

BETTER BUSINESS.

Compilation of reports from various parts of the country seem to indicate that the reported gains in industrial activity are real, and that there is steady progress towards better business.

The review of the National Bank of Commerce says that cotton mills, wool manufacture and the shoe industry are holding their improvement, while the crops, with the exception of cotton, are in good shape.

Steel operations are proceeding at one-third capacity, with orders small but diversified. There seems no justification for any wide rise in prices just now. Retail prices cannot go up without promptly curtailing buying. On the contrary they must be reduced until they are in line with raw materials.

DAVIS NOT COMING.

It is a matter of no little disappointment to local bankers that Secretary Davis of the Department of Labor has been compelled to cancel his place upon the program of the bankers' convention.

It was expected that Secretary Davis would make a report on the labor and unemployment situation in the United States, and as a matter of fact such a report will be presented to the convention, but by proxy.

The Secretary, in this report, takes a hopeful view, and, he says, "with over $500,000,000 now available throughout the country in the form of bonds for public works of every kind, the unemployment situation should cause but little concern in a short time."

FOREIGN TRADE ZONES.

On October 6 Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles, is to address the convention on foreign trade zones, and the contribution of the local banker to this important subject will be one of the high lights of the week.

Senator Wesley L. Jones, who is the author of the trade zone bill, writes to express his pleasure that this particular problem is to be given such careful attention by the financial and business interests of the country.

"Mr. Robinson," says Senator Jones, "is equipped to speak with authority on this subject; he is from a State thoroughly committed to a protective tariff policy, and he unquestionably is interested in the development of an American merchant marine.

BOND MARKET.

The weekly bond letter issued by Blyth, Witter & Co., from the New York office under yesterday's date offers an interesting analysis of the market, which, during the past week, has been marked by unusual activity and strength in New York and other eastern centers. The gradual relaxation of credit conditions has served to greatly stimulate interest on the part of not only private investors, but institutions as well with the result that a number of large offerings were made, all of which have been eagerly absorbed.

Important issues were $13,500,000, Toledo Edison Company, first mortgage 7 per cent gold bonds, due in 1941 at 96½ to yield 7.33; $10,000,000 Province of Ontario 6 per cent gold bonds, due Sept. 15, 1943, at 99, to yield 6 to 10 per cent; $2,100,000 Province of Alberta 6s, due Sept. 1, 1931, at 95, to yield 6.70; $2,500,000 Toledo Edison Company prior preferred stock 8 per cent cumulative series A at 98, to yield 8.15; $5,000,000 Jenckes Spinning Company 8 per cent sinking fund debentures, due 1936 at 99 on an 8 to 10 basis, $2,500,000 Toledo Traction Light and Power temporary first lien 7 per cent gold bonds, due Dec. 1, 1922 at 98¼ to yield 8.40, and a block of $12,038,800 Equipment Trust 6 per cent gold notes issued against equipment supplied by the director-general to several railroads during Federal control.

These equipment trust notes were offered partly on a 5.75 basis and partly on a 5.80 basis, according to the issuing carrier.

In addition, several successful municipal offerings were made. The reduction of the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York from 5½ per cent to 5 per cent lent strength to the general board market which has evidenced a distinctly strong tendency.

The majority of dealers are optimistic as to the outlook, and expect strong conditions to continue. Practically all offerings have been quickly absorbed with the result that dealers' lists are about cleaned.

RESERVE INCREASES.

Gold Holdings Go Over the Billion Mark; Oriental Exchanges Show Strength; Silver Gains.

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES.
Financial Editor New York "Times."
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—In a day full of peculiarly interesting financial incidents—of which not the least impressive were an extraordinary increase in reserve percentages in the Federal banks and a notable rise in silver and the oriental exchanges—the trend of our own affairs was indicated by decline in rates for merchants' paper to the lowest of the year and recovery on the stock exchange. At the New York reserve bank, chiefly as a result of a huge transfer to it by other reserve banks of credits in the central gold fund at Washington, the total gold reserve rose $106,000,000, crossing the billion dollar mark for the first time in its history. When along with this the bank's rediscounts, its holdings of member bank reserves and its circulating notes, were all heavily reduced, the rise of the reserve percentage from 75 3-4 to the remarkable height of 84 1-8 was a natural sequel. In a way these movements may have forced the hand of the bank in Wednesday's reduction of the rediscount rate.

In the system as a whole the similar changes carried the reserve ratio from 67½ per cent to 68 3-4; but the outstanding phenomenon was the accumulation of banking power in the New York district. These statements were not given out until after the stock exchange had closed; the day had been marked by general recovery in which many stocks lately under speculative pressure recovered 1 to 3 points.

It was the movement of Far Eastern rates which attracted attention in today's foreign exchange market. Sterling was notably strong, reaching a rate 3 3-4 cents above Tuesday's lowest, and German marks recovered slightly, but the attention of the market directed itself with exceptional interest to the oriental exchanges. The recent steady recovery in rates on India has been accompanied by a similar rise in Chinese rates, greatly accentuatedtoday. This in turn is connected with the rise in silver bullion, a movement which has been going on for several weeks and which today became extremely rapid. It brought the price to the highest of the year, more than 30 cents per ounce above the low price of last December, and it came in striking coincidence with cabled news that India was once more overbidding New York at the weekly London gold sale. The mysterious accuracy with which the successive reversal of the financial movement in the oriental markets since the war has foreshadowed the general economic trend—in their expansion and in their great reaction which began in January, 1920—lends importance to the recovery which has been under way with most of them since last spring, and is now becoming more or less spectacular.

BUSINESS NEWS.

A quiet business day both at home and abroad.

There is no immediate indication of a lowering of the rediscount rate in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District. As a matter of fact the season is well advanced and the crop requirements are quite fully met, so that the situation is not pressing although ultimately easier money conditions may bring a conformation to recent reduction to a 5 per cent basis in the New York and Boston districts.

A better feeling is manifesting itself in the copper market, and inquiry is stimulated. The large sellers, according to Dow Jones, have some business at 12 1-4 cents, and show little disposition to sell under this price. "No matter what happens I do not think copper will go much lower," said the head of one large agency.

Traders were pleased with the constructive view taken by Daniel Guggenheim, who has just returned from Europe. Conditions in Germany and Italy, he said, promised a better demand for the metal.

Deflation is reported to have progressed in the United States among trading companies to the extent of about 75 per cent.

The improvement in the railroad situation is emphasized by the Southern Pacific's report for August made public yesterday and which shows a gross increase of $371,645; net operating income increase, $12,951,521; eight months' gross increase, $3,878,081; net operating income increase, $17,977,272. The eight months' gross for 1920 includes $2,285,171 back mail pay for 1918 and 1919.

The Union Pacific reports net earnings in August of $4,617,100, the largest of any month this year and an operating ratio of 66.52 per cent against 75.74 in July.

The technical position of the market appears to have gained strength, and the average price of both rails and industrials showed a slight upward tendency.

That the course of the cotton market from now on is more likely to be determined by trade conditions than by further revision of crop estimates is the opinion expressed by McDonnell & Co.'s closing letter.

Reports that dry-goods merchants generally would resist an advance in prices to a parity of 20 cents for raw material, or at least buy only from hand to mouth until they make sure that consumers will pay the higher prices, was emphasized by sellers.

There may also have been some selling on reports that the spot basis showed signs of easing in the Southwest and that Arkansas cotton was beginning to come on the market. Other spot advices were bullish, however, and private cables received from Liverpool said that English traders were very nervous over the probable showing of the official crop figures, which are scheduled for publication October 3.

LOS ANGELES STOCKS.

Security Trust and Savings shares advanced five points yesterday to 317.50, and Guaranty Trust and Savings gained another point, going to 273. Union Bank and Trust Company stock rose two points in sympathy with the general movement, reaching 127 at the close.

Goodyear Textile declined two points yesterday, selling at 63½. Oils, however, were firm and slight advances were made, led by a three-point gain in Associated. The heaviest gain was made by Rice Ranch, which climbed seven and one-half points and sold at 110 at the close.

Slight recoveries were made in the mining lists. United Eastern sold one point up at 2.33, and Adams Mining gained half a point, going to 6½.

Union Oil weakened under selling pressure and dropped from 13⅞ at the opening to a new weak close at 12⅝. General Petroleum, however, rallied at the close and sold at 73, a point higher than the prevailing price throughout both sessions.

glish Pound at Normal
ans Return of More Than 9%

The close connection between the rate of English exchange and the return on 4% Sterling Bonds of Brazil is an exceedingly interesting and advantageous thing to know. It should be realized, first of all, that these bonds have behind them the full faith and credit of Brazil—a large, prosperous country of immense natural resources — and therefore that they should be regarded as high-grade, conservative securities.

The effect of the war on exchange rates, however, makes them an investment that offers a most extraordinary opportunity for high yield, if bought with American dollars. Even at the present low status of the pound sterling, they yield more than 7.40%. With a return of the pound to normal—$4.86—that yield will reach the exceptional height of 9.73%.

We deem it more than a reasonable conclusion that the English pound will return to normal and therefore that these bonds are advisable to purchase both for yield and safety of principal.

We suggest that you order promptly.

Wages $1000 Per Day

Pretty high wages to pay for a mechanic making repairs on your building, isn't it? It might cost you even more than that if you employed a mechanic more than fifteen days for repair work, and your building happened to burn down on the sixteenth day.

Do you know that the standard form of fire insurance policy provides that the insurance is suspended if mechanics are employed more than fifteen days in making repairs on the insured property?

And there are a number of other provisions—seemingly trivial—which might invalidate your policy unless looked after.

These are some of the many reasons why it will pay you to have your insurance handled by Cass and Johansing, insurance brokers. We see to it that your insurance is right and that all the things necessary to your complete protection are properly taken care of.

Our service includes a great deal more. Send for the particulars.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Using the lower rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank as a lever, bullish interests dominated the stock market today. Their operations met with fair success, although stubbornly opposed at times by the shorts.

Early advances of 1 to 3 points among the usual favorites comprising the rails, industrials and special issues were canceled at midday by bear drives, but a vigorous rebound at the day's best quotations accompanied the active finish.

Mexican Petroleum was the pivot upon which the day's business mainly revolved. After registering a 2-point advance and a 3¾-point decline, the stock closed at a gain of 2¼ points. Affiliated stocks were virtually unchanged, but net advances of 1 to 3 3-8 points were made by Baldwin, Crucible and United States steels, Reading and Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific, United States Rubber, Allied Chemical, Famous Players, and various other unclassified issues.

Weakness of several secondary specialties, such as United States Food Products, which established a new low record, and further omission of the dividend on American Agricultural Chemical, preferred, directed renewed attention to the doubtful financial status of relatively obscure companies. Sales 575,000 shares.

Contrary to expectations, the reduced Federal Reserve rate exerted no influence over the open money market. Time quotations were unaltered and call loans remained fixed at 5 per cent, against yesterday's high and low of 5½ and 4½ per cent.

Except the Italian rate, which eased slightly, substantial improvement was shown by all important foreign exchanges. Sterling was 3 cents over the week's low and French, Belgian and Dutch bills gained 10 to 18 points. Bar silver's further rise again strengthened far eastern exchanges, the Shanghai rate raising 2 cents.

Domestic rails and some prominent industrials and utilities figured in the enlarged dealings in the bond market. Liberty and Victory issues also made additional gains but the foreign division was featureless. Total sales, par value, aggregated $15,800,000.

FINANCIAL AND TRADE REVIEW.

of the Central Counties Gas Company has necessitated substantial additions to the plant and the distributing system. Proceeds from the sale of the recently authorized issue of $150,000, 7 per cent convertible bonds will provide for these improvements.

The company's main office is in Visalia and gas is furnished without competition to the cities of Exeter, Porterville, Lindsay, Tulare, Visalia and adjacent surburban territory in Tulare county.

FRESH, CLEAN SACKS.

The California State Department of Agriculture announces that "fresh, clean sacks," as used in regulation 3 of quarantine order No. 34, which pertains to the movement of potatoes from alfalfa weevil districts into California, shall mean only new sacks from the original bale.

Potatoes from alfalfa weevil districts arriving in sacks other than new sacks will be held in quarantine by the department until the requirements specified in this regulation have been complied with.

REPORTS RAPID SALE.

Hunter, Dulin & Co., syndicate managers, who, in conjunction with the bond departments of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank and the Guaranty Trust and Savings Bank, recently offered an issue of $450,000 of first mortgage 8 per cent serial bonds of the Northern Arizona Land Company report a rapid sale of the issue. It is stated that the investing public has shown great interest, apparently realizing that the opportunity to secure a conservative first mortgage bond that will net the investor 8 per cent will soon pass as more normal conditions in the money market come about.

UNION OIL SALES.

A gain of more than $200,000 in total sales during the eight-month period ended August 31 over the corresponding period last year is the record made by the Union Oil Company of California. For the first time the company's sales report showed a larger business in refined products than in crude oil.

The Union's sales for the first eight months were approximately $40,000,000, a figure which, in view of the slackened demand for oil products, is generally considered to be very satisfactory.

NONFLYER AT HEAD OF ARMY AVIATORS.

GEN. PATRICK IS RESPONSIBLE FOR SUCCESS OF FLYERS, AS WELL AS MUCH MONEY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Not satisfied with the administration of the air service, Secretary of War Weeks said today that with the appointment of Gen. Mason M. Patrick succeeding Gen. Menoher as chief, a new policy would be in effect by which the duties of the air service officials would be segregated.

Gen. Mitchell will remain as assistant chief for the present, the Secretary said.

The head of the air service, the Secretary explained, is responsible not only for the success of the flying force, but for the expenditure of the $20,000,000 appropriated for construction of airplanes, and experimentation and for the management of the ground force, including a personnel twice as large as the flying force.

Gen. Patrick, who is an engineering officer, was an officer in the A.E.F. during the war. He is not a flyer.

MAY CALL KLAN TO WASHINGTON.

Authorities Likely to Summon Officials for Confab.

Burns Authorized to Start His Investigation.

No Need for Any Vigilance Body, Says Daugherty.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—High officials of the Ku Klux Klan may be summoned to Washington for interrogation by the Department of Justice, Atty.-Gen. Daugherty indicated today.

Director Burns of the department's bureau of investigation, Mr. Daugherty announced, has been instructed to set his agents at work on an investigation of the Klan's organization in various parts of the country.

MAY CALL ANYONE.

In connection with the possible summoning of Klan leaders to Washington, the Attorney-General said the department had the authority to summon any one and it was its policy in the course of an investigation to talk the matter over with persons involved.

The Attorney-General said that any criminal prosecutions would for the most part be matters of State law unless there had been some violations of the Federal statutes through the use of the mails to defraud.

There is no need in this country, Mr. Daugherty said, for vigilance organizations.

The country does not need, he added, any self-constituted organization to define and enforce the laws for American citizens.

KLAN IN SENATE.

The Ku Klux Klan and religious intolerance entered into debate in the Senate during discussion of the beer bill.

Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia, asserted religious liberty had not been secured in the United States under the charter granted Lord Baltimore while Senator Stanley, Democrat, Kentucky, insisted that there was only one place in all the civilized world where man could worship his God and the dictates of his conscience and that was in the province of the Catholic nobleman, Lord Baltimore."

"I am here to fight intolerance, whether it whets its knife and lights its torch in a Ku Klux camp in Georgia, or whether in Western Ohio it takes the form of these miserable general warrants," added Senator Stanley, referring in the latter case to the Anti-Saloon League which has its headquarters at Westerville, O.

"I will meet the Ku Klux Klan issue when it comes up," declared Senator Watson. "Until some crime is proven against that society or some other secret society I will withhold my judgment until the guilt of the accused is established."

ATLANTA (Ga.) Sept. 22.—The imperial "Kloncilium," or council of the Knights of Ku Klux Klan, is holding a session here to consider the alleged exposure of the organization, being published in certain newspapers, Col. W. J. Simmons, imperial wizard, stated today. He declared a thorough investigation would be made of charges against E. Y. Clark, imperial Kleagle, and the organizer, Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, also connected with the Klan.

Mr. Simmons declared today he was ready to go to Washington to answer interrogations regarding his organization for the Department of Justice.

COUNT CHINDA MAY HEAD JAP MISSION.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOKIO, Sept. 22.—Owing to the strong opposition which has developed against the selection of Admiral Kato, the Minister of the Navy, as the head of the delegation to the Washington disarmament conference, Premier Hara has been urging Count Chinda to head the Japanese mission. According to authoritative information, Count Chinda, who recently returned to Japan with Crown Prince Hirohito from a European tour, has agreed to accept the post. Others in the delegation are Admiral Kato, Ambassador Shidehara and, probably, Admiral Idjin. Count Chinda is regarded as Japan's ablest diplomat and his selection

GIFT OF PLAYGROUND TO MEXICO PLANNED.

RECREATION SPOT FOR TOTS OF CAPITAL IS AIM OF LOCAL CHAMBER.

Six of the larger cities of the United States may unite in presenting to the City of Mexico a children's playground, if the initiative taken by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is followed by other commercial organizations. At the meeting of the board of directors yesterday, a proposal was received from the American Chamber of Commerce in Mexico City to assist that organization in raising the funds needed for the proposed playground.

The American Chamber of Commerce in the capital of Mexico requested Los Angeles to join New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Boston and San Francisco in raising $7000 needed to complete the gift. The Los Angeles chamber agrees to raise its quota if the organizations in the other city will do their part and is so notifying these organizations.

Many of the directors of the Los Angeles chamber are familiar with the City of Mexico and its need of a public playground for the children, as they were in the city at the time of the inauguration of President Obregon last December. They were recipients of Mexico's hospitality and the Chamber of Commerce men, on their return, made up a purse, which was forwarded to Mrs. Obregon for Christmas presents to the poor of the city.

In its notice to other chambers of commerce, the Los Angeles chamber will call attention to the friendliness of the Mexicans to their American visitors and the sentimental value of such a gift.

WOMAN LOSES SUIT.

Court of Appeals Reverses Judgment Against Orchard Company.

Department One District Court of Appeal, yesterday reversed the judgment of Superior Judge Avery in favor of Lillian Prewett against the Sunnymeade Orchard Company. The plaintiff asserted that she had paid $1000 to the company for a small tract of land which the company was to plant to fruit trees and hand for three years. She stated that she was compelled to pay additional assessment and that the company failed to care for the land as agreed, and was given a judgment for the amount of her investment.

The defendant contended that the prospectus specifically pointed out that the proposition was in the nature of a speculation, and this view was upheld by the District Court of Appeal.

FEARS GERMANY WILL DOMINATE COMMERCE.

F. W. Kellogg, business manager of the Evening Express, and owner of the Pasadena Evening Post, and James W. Foley, associate editor of the Pasadena Post, spoke yesterday at the luncheon of the Optimists' Club at Paulais'. Mr. Kellog told impressions of European affairs gained on his several trips abroad, predicting that Germany will dominate world commerce if the other nations do not exert themselves. He based his prediction on the belief that the Germans are working and are unincumbered with an army and navy.

MARE'S NEST IS UNCALLED FOR.

False Report is Circulated Against Lineberger.

Colleagues Are Not After Congressman's Scalp.

No Law Against Him Holding Reserve Commission.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Somebody is trying to make it appear that Congressman Lineberger's colleagues in Congress are gunning for his political scalp. The persistency of the yarn, in the Ninth Congress District, is piling his desk high with telegrams and letters and it looks like some disgruntled and defeated politician in the Ninth District, outside of the Republican party, is strewing tacks in front of the Republican automobile.

STORY RIDICULOUS.

The whole story is ridiculous. There are twenty-eight ex-service men in the House. Of these twenty-one hold reserve commissions in the Army. Some time ago Congressman Fitzgerald of Ohio asked permission of the House to be absent that he might attend camp as a reserve officer with his command. This was a chance for Congressman Garrett of Tennessee, a Democrat and a stickler for form, to start something. He introduced a resolution asking the Judiciary Committee to report it it were legal for holders of reserve commissions in the Army to hold seats in Congress at the same time.

While Congressman Lineberger is one of the twenty-one in this class he was not singled out as an example till some political maverick in his own district tried to make it appear that Lineberger alone was the target for this legislation. The resolution is still in the Judiciary Committee. Most of the lawyers in the House believe that it is entirely legal for members of Congress to hold a reserve commission—believing that to rule otherwise would be to destroy patriotism and nullify one of the lessons of the World War—national preparedness. Even if the Judiciary Committee makes an adverse report and the House accepts it in law all that the twenty-one Congressmen can do is resign their reserve commissions and remain in Congress.

LINEBERGER PUZZLED.

"I can scarcely understand who would start such a mare's nest in my district," said Congressman Lineberger tonight, "unless it was some mischief-maker with a little knowledge of legislation and a capacity for a misstatement of the facts.

"Telegrams from different parts of the district advise me that these exaggerated reports have been industriously circulated, and all that I can say is that my first, last and only duty now is to my constituents, and I will not disappoint them."

ROBBED DYING MAN TO BUY ICE CREAM.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—John Gurgo, 17 years; Joseph Sincula, 15 years old, and Michael Wojnig, 15 years old, today confessed they had robbed a dying man of $5, as they wanted the money with which to buy candy and ice cream.

Charles Lawrence, 50 years old, a resident of the Rufus Dawes Hotel, had secured some liquor in which wood alcohol predominated. He drank freely. The boys noticed his condition and say they "trailed" him until he fell unconscious and dying. Then they robbed him. Lawrence was dead when the police arrived. Residents near-by told of seeing the three boys "working" over him, and they were picked up at a near-by ice cream parlor.

SEEKS TWO VESSELS FOR CABRILLO FETE.

The Cabrillo Discovery Day Association yesterday telegraphed to A. J. Frey, in charge of U. S. Shipping Board operations, asking permission to use the steamships West Montop and West O'Rowa during the three-day celebration at the harbor to begin October 14. It is proposed to permit visitors to inspect the ships and to use them as resting places during the celebration. This was suggested by the Los Angeles and Long Beach Chambers of Commerce.

PLAY OR PASSION.

Unusual Point Up to Justice at Santa Ana.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Sept. 22.—Whether Luis C. Agunago was wielding a club with robbery as the motive, or was attempting to bat peaches off a tree is a point that will be decided at his preliminary examination to be held in Justice Court here October 25.

According to Johnnie Reynolds, complaining witness, Agunago was seated on the limb of a peach tree late at night and attempted to strike him on the head with a club. He missed, according to Reynolds, and then followed his intended victim home.

Agunago was later arrested and charged with the felony of assault with intent to commit robbery. He was released on $1000 bond, furnished by R. L. Sharpley and Virginian Shipley.

BOOZE CASE DROPPED.

House is Raided Without Warrant by Negro Volunteer Officers.

A liquor charge that went wrong was dismissed by U. S. Commissioner Long yesterday in the case of Frank Picconi and C. Dagmo of 1201 Boaz street. Following a suspected sale officers entered and searched the premises without a warrant, and secured a quantity of brandy and whisky. But it seems that the officers were a bit "previous," and that the sale had not been consummated. Neither the money nor the liquor had changed hands. The raid was conducted by negro volunteer officers assisted by the city police.

CHICAGO LIBEL CASE ARGUED.

Suit Blow to Free Speech, Says Attorney.

Counsel for Newspaper Has Strong Arguments.

Charges Attempt to Crush Freedom of Press.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Arguments upon the demurrer of the Tribune in the $10,000,000 libel suit filed against it by Samuel Ettelson, corporation counsel and insider of the Thompson organization, in the name of the City of Chicago, were begun today before Circuit Judge Harry M. Fisher.

The suit is based upon articles appearing in the Tribune scoring the City Hall for wasteful expenditures at a time when the treasury was empty and the taxpayers were groaning under their load.

Representing the defendant, Attorney Weymouth Kirkland said the City Hall attack was not only an attempt to abridge the constitutional guarantees of free spech, but that the City Hall machine, in instituting a form of suit unprecedented in America, had sought to create a tremendous weapon for the coercion or suppression of the press and the individual citizen.

During an all-day argument that traced the liberty of he press from its inception, he branded the City Hall's scheme as the "best and quickest mehod to suppress the press and free speech" that has been devised since the days of the Star Chamber.

PLEA FOR FREE SPEECH.

His whole argument was a vigorous plea for free speech and he charged that if politically controlled governments were permitted to prosecute civil libel suits on complaints that do not involve sedition, a machine organization controlling the bench could drive newspapers to submission or extinction.

At length he pointed out that such proceedings would be many fold more deadly to free speech than a whole series of criminal indictments or prosecutions in any other form. He showed that such suit after suit of this nature could be filed; that if the defendant newspaper were to win in thefirst instance, the "friendly judge" could, without explanation or reason, order a new trial. That there was no limit to the amount of money that might be involved.

WOULD DISMISS SUIT.

The suit opened with counsel for the paper asking the court to uphold a general demurrer based on the constitutional right of the freedom of the press.

If granted, the demurrer would have the effect of dismissing the suit on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

The suit involves the question of whether a newspaper may be sued for libel to the extent of its total value and virtually be put out of business if the suit is won.

The city contends that the article and editorial expressions on which the suit is based damaged the city's credit in disposing of municipal bonds.

Mr. Kirkland argued that the present suit was "in flagrant purpose, an attempt to overawe, penalize and, if possible, to crush freedom of political discussion and that the fact that it was civil action for libel was a mere matter of form."

Mr. Kirkland argued that limits to the freedom of the press have for their object protection of the rights of the individual, but not prevention of criticism of governments or public officials.

MINISTER'S WIDOW DIES AT REDLANDS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 22.—Mrs. John D. Easter, widow of the former rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, died at her home on East Cajon street, the home she and her husband built twenty-five years ago when they came to Redlands. Mrs. Easter had been ill for two weeks and passed away quietly in her sleep at 6 o'clock last evening. She was 87 years old.

She was born in St. Louis and was the daughter of Job Parker Dean. In 1872 she was married at Trinity Episcopal Church in St. Louis to Dr. Easter, who was then the rector of the church. Twenty-five years ago he was called to the local church and after being rector for some time resigned because of his health.

He died here ten years ago and since then Mrs. Easter has lived at the home. Her step-daughter, Mrs. Ellen Harris of Washington, D. C., was with her when she died.

SERVICE MEN'S BUREAU SEEKS NEW QUARTERS.

The Los Angeles interpost council of the American Legion yesterday asked the City Council to provide new quarters for the service men's employment bureau, now located in the city building at 321 South Main street. The Playground Commission desires to enlarge the Municipal Men's Club, and the service men's employment bureau will require new offices after October 1.

FILES NEW CONTEST ON MEALS WILL.

Nephew of Woman Fights for Estate; Use of Threats is Charged.

A second contest of the will of Marie M. Meals, who died here last March 6, was filed yesterday in the Probate Court on behalf of M. Bingham Morse, a nephew. The first contest was filed by a sister of the decedent, Nellie B. Van Slingerland. The complaints are virtually duplicates and charge that Mrs. Meals was incompetent and that the will was not drawn according to law.

T. J. Meals, former husband of the decedent, against whom a divorce was granted last November, is declared to have joined with Earl Wiatt, a nephew of Mrs. Meals, and to have induced her to draw the will as she did by means of "threats and importunities."

The will contained a bequest to the Masonic Home at Covina and directed that $2000 should go to the divorced husband; $2000 to Mrs. Van Slingerland, the sister; $1000 to the trustees of the Masonic Home; $200 to the Knights of Pythias at Avart, Mich.; $1000 to Mr. Morse and $5000 to Mr. Wiatt. The latter is also made trustee of a fund of $10,000 for the benefit of the children of Mr. Morse and of three funds each of $5000 for the benefit of Lottie Wiatt Pearce, a niece, and for the children of Mrs. Pearce and the children of Mr. Wiatt.

JURY DISAGREES IN REED-BURGLAR TRIAL.

Forty pices of silver rather than thirty figured yesterday in Judge Willis's court in the trial of James Reed, accused with Michael J. Malone of the burglary of the residence of Edgar Lewis, a motion-picture producer. The case was given to a jury to decide late in the afternoon, and at 9:30 p.m. it reported it was unable to agree. Judge Willis then dismissed the jury.

It was charge that on May 1 the two defendants broke into the Lewis residence and took forty pieces of silver, a valuable rug, pieces of ivory and other articles.

The case was prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Attys. McCartney and Turney, and C. R. Morfoot was defense attorney.

ARE WE SOON TO BECOME A RACE OF BALD-HEADED MEN?

PROF. JOHN H. AUSTIN

Hair and Scalp Specialist of Chicago, Who Now Has Offices at Hamburger's, Talks Most Interestingly About the Hair.

He says baldness is increasing rapidly among men and points out some of the reasons. Prof. Austin is probably right in saying that only about one man in every hundred ever thinks about his hair at all, except to comb it two or three times a day.

A man will give the utmost attention to his teeth, because he knows that when trouble arises he will have more trouble and probably lose his teeth if he doesn't go to a dentist promptly. But his hair doesn't ache, it just gradually dies, and when it is nearly gone, and the roots are dead, he anxiously tries a dozen different remedies at once and then resigns himself to baldness.

Prof. Austin says the use of dandruff cures, mange cures and hair tonics without proper advice is like taking medicine without knowing what you are trying to cure. Prof. Austin examines the roots of your hair with a powerful microscope. He finds out just what is the trouble with YOUR HAIR, and then he tells you what to do for the trouble.

ULLEN & BLUETT

QUALITY IN MEN'S WEAR SINCE 1883

From Father to Son

It is interesting to see how dealing with Mullen and Bluett becomes a family habit.

Men whose fathers brought them here for their first suit are now bringing their sons to the Boys' Floor for clothes.

The habit of quality like other essentials of a gentleman is acquired early.

TEN YEARS PROBATION PUNISHMENT

Prison Sentence Too Easy, Says Judge, for Woman Who Drove Death Car.

"If I sent you to prison on this charge you wouldn't get the proper punishment, but would be released in a very short time, with no strings attached to the release," said Judge Reeve yesterday to Miss Edna C. Duvall, who was convicted of manslaughter in connection with the death of Richard A. Spann in an automobile accident.

The court placed the defendant under probation for ten years, the maximum period, and made conditions which are considered more strict than those prevailing in State prisons.

Here are the terms of probation:

Miss Duvall must not drive an automobile for five years.

She must report monthly to the probation officer for six months and thereafter as that officer directs.

She must not have an automobile operator's license, nor a motor license.

The court could have sent Miss Duvall to San Quentin for from one to ten years, but stated that if she went to prison the punishment would not be adequate, and under the law she might be released in about six months.

Testimony showed Miss Duvall passed a standing street car from which passengers were alighting. The court stated that during July there were 2343 automobile accidents, and the most serious was one where an automobile passed a standing street car.

Miss Duvall was extremely nervous throughout the proceeding, and twice came near collapsing. She spoke frankly to the court, while standing beside her attorney, Fred Heatherly.

As she left court for the probation office, followed by Mrs. Spann, J. W. Watson, who is engaged to Miss Duvall, stepped up. This led to a statement by Mrs. Spann to Deputy Sheriff Nolan and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fricke that Mr. Watson threatened her. This he denied, declaring that both he and Miss Duvall have only feelings of compassion for Mrs. Spann. Mr. Watson was not held.

ARRAIGNED AS FORGER.

Raising a check for $2.50 to $250 and cashing it is the charge against Leroy F. Brigance, formerly an employee of the Pasadena Sanatorium. He was arraigned yesterday before Justice Hanby on a forgery charge. The check was signed by Dr. T. W. Bishop.

QUIT HOSPITAL BY WHOLESALE.

Five Methodist Institution Directors Resign.

Superintendent, All but One of Staff in Rebellion.

Missionary Society's Efforts to Get Control Blamed.

Wholesale resignations are the order of the day at the Methodist Hospital on South Flower street, it became known yesterday, as a result of a feud of long standing between members of the board of directors, constituting the Methodist Hospital Corporation, and officers of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, who own and control the hospital.

At least five of the directors, including W. S. Allen, president, and Alfred E. Gwynn, vice-president, have tendered their resignations, as have also Miss Ida May Rood, superintendent of the hospital, and all but one member of her executive staff. All resignations are to become effective October 4.

The resignations of the directors grew, it is said, out of demands made upon them last January by officers of the Woman's Home Missionary Society that the title to the hospital property, valued at some $360,000, be given up by the corporation and returned to the society. This, it is said, the directors declined to do on the ground that the board was legally and morally obligated to carry out the terms of certain bequests, donations, endowments and annuities made by friends of the institution. The directors declared that to comply with the society's demands would constitute a dishonorable repudiation of these obligations. They held further, they say, that the courts would not sanction such a move.

POINT OF HONOR.

Later, it is said, attorneys for the missionary society submitted for the signature of the directors a document that would clearly, from a legal standpoint, establish the ownership of the Methodist Hospital property in the Woman's Home Missionary Society and automatically dissolve the board of directors. The board, it was said, was willing to comply with the first clause of the agreement, but declined absolutely to comply with the provision which would put it out of existence. This marked the subjected their resignations for declining, basing them upon a point of honor.

At this juncture diplomatic relations between the two bodies were broken off and there came a lull in negotiations, the directors standing pat and the officers of the Woman's Home Missionary Society planning quietly their next move.

That move came on the 16th inst., when, at the annual convention of the missionary society, held in Asbury Church on North Workman street, the matter of electing four new members to the board of directors to succeed four whose terms expired came before the convention.

It had been the custom, it was said, at previous conventions to return to office outgoing directors whose return was recommended to the society by the other directors. But custom went by the board, for in the election the officers of the society saw a chance, it was said, to bring the directors to terms.

When it came time to propose the names of Miss Lydia Alexander, daughter for former Mayor Alexander; Mrs. Mary A. Lowther, Mrs. F. A. Ziegler and Mrs. H. Holbrook for re-election, it was discovered that the board's opponents had gathered four candidates of their own. When the voting was over Miss Alexander and the others of the quartet found themselves out of office, being supplanted by George Page, Los Angeles insurance man; Mrs. E. A. Bresee, wife of a Los Angeles undertaker; Mrs. H. O. Sisson of Pasadena, and Mrs. George Clark of Long Beach.

RESIGNATIONS TENDERED.

There immediately followed the tendering of resignations of five of the remaining members of the board of directors, these being W. S. Allen, prominent Los Angeles attorney and president of the board; Alfred E. Gwynne, well known in Los Angeles insurance circles and second vice-president of the board; Mrs. A. E. Pomeroy, Charles H. Keck and Mrs. A. M. Robinson. Two other members, M. L. Carter and E. A. Strong, have taken no action, it was said. The other three members of the board, Bishop A. W. Leonard of San Francisco, Dr. Byron H. Wilson, district superintendent of the Methodist church, in Southern California, and Mrs. Margaret L. Coates, president of the Women's Home Missionary Society, serve in an ex-officio capacity. Dr. Wilson, according to a statement made by him yesterday, has cast his lot with the missionary society in the controversy.

The resignations, it was explained by Mr. Allen and Mr. Gwynn, are based on resentment of the society's action in supplanting the four directors, and particularly Miss Alexander, who, they declare, has been the moving spirit in all things connected with the good of the hospital for the last seventeen years. Miss Alexander was first vice-president of the board. Also, according to Mr. Allen, the directors refused to be "bossed" longer by the officers of the women's organization.

The reason for the resignation of Miss Rood and her staff of hospital executives was given yesterday by Miss Rood herself.

"The Women's Home Missionary Society," she said, "has by its demands for the dissolution of the corporation created a dual form of government of the hospital, a condition under which I do not care to work." Miss Rood declared that she believes she speaks for the other members of the staff in expressing this reason.

Divorces Wife Who Stays Too Young for Him.

"I did not have enough pep for her," said Robert McCullough to Judge Summerfield yesterday in explanning his grounds for seeking a divorce from his wife, Daisy.

"I am 65 years old and she is only 43 and although women are expected to quiet down a bit when approaching the half-century mark, my wife seems to have more pep than ever."

The court granted him a decree.

FEE SUIT ADJUSTED.

Attorneys' Action to Collect on Notes Is Settled out of Court.

A suit for collection on two notes totaling $8458.75, filed against C. D. Hillman of Pasadena by Attorneys Le Compte Davis and W. J. Ford, who charged that the money was due them for attorneys' fees, was settled out of court yesterday. A jury in Judge Monroe's court had been hearing the case.

Mr. Hillman stated last night that he had turned over forty acres of oil land to the attorneys as settlement.

This was the third suit brought against Mr. Hillman and contested in the Superior Court wherein attorneys were the plaintiffs.

HAMBURGER B PUZZLE ADVOCATE.

Observation is Keystone to Success, Declaration of Prominent Merchant.

"Observation is the keystone to success."

This is the statement of D. A. Hamburger, one of the founders of A. Hamburger and Sons. And this statement from Mr. Hamburger is one of special import, since it is with this as the keystone that the success of the huge mercantile establishment has been built.

"I am intensely interested in the Times' Observation Puzzle," Mr. Hamburger said yesterday, "and if the contestants gain nothing else from their efforts than the sharpening of the powers of observation, then they will have profited immeasurably.

"It would be a long story were I to tell you of the upbuilding of our business, for it was started something like thirty years ago. I do want to say, however, that observation has been a prime factor.

"I believe that we were the first store in the entire country to establish the 'exchange' feature, which has revolutionized salesmanship. The inauguration of this department was based upon a odd little incident which I personally encountered, but it proved a valuable asset to our business, for it gave people confidence in our integrity.

"I cite this simply to illustrate how great a thing can develop from some trivial incident, and how easily the latter might have passed unobserved.

"Recently a woman came into the store. She wanted some dress goods and the saleswoman showed her many bolts of cloth, but the customer merely looked and made no comments. But the saleswoman was observant, and while she sought to please the customer, she watched for some lead which would aid her. At last she found it—a pin which the woman wore. It represented the same society to which a brother of the saleswoman belonged. Casually, she made comment of this fact—the customer responded genially and with the society pin as a sesame the saleswoman quickly ascertained a knowledge of what the customer really wanted in the way of dress material, and made the sale, and won a permanent customer for the store.

"The Times' Observation Puzzle may be the sesame to success for many, many people, for it should develop in those who are playing the fascinating game a greater power to observe the little and apparently unessential things of life itself. And it is a known fact that practically every success in life, whether it be in business, in the home or in any other line, has been built upon observation and the opportunities which one is enabled to grasp through observation."

ORDER REASSESSMENT.

Estimates for Hill-Street Opening Declared Inequitable.

As the result of protests of property owners, the City Council yesterday ordered the Board of Public Works to make a new assessment for the opening and widening of Hill street from Washington street to Thirty-eighth street, on the ground that the assessment submitted was inequitable. The total cost of the improvement, which must be raised by assessments against property owners in the district, will be $978,686.70, of which $966,393.75 is to be returned to property owners whose land is taken for the street opening.

Her objection led to a quarrel which was only one of many, she says.

YBARRA GUEST AT VALLEY FAIR.

Governor Christens Calf Born on Exhibit Grounds.

Attendance at High Mark as Live Stock is Judged.

Huge Crowd Expected to See Display on Sunday.

Gov. Epigmenio Ybarra of Lower California was an interested visitor at the San Fernando Valley Fair yesterday. The Mexican executive spent an hour or more inspecting the fine live stock exhibits and paid considerable attention to the display of tractors and farm implements shown in action on the demonstration grounds.

Gov. Ybarra also was called upon to officiate at an unexpected and unusual ceremony when there fell to him the honor of christening the "fair baby," a Guernsey calf born to a prize-winning cow in the Brant Rancho herd of Owensmouth on Wednesday. The distinguished visitor from the southern republic wrinkled his brow in thought for a moment as the youngest exhibit on the grounds was led and pushed on wobbly legs up to him, and then bestowed the name Orgullo del Rancho (Pride of the Ranch) upon the aristocratic infant.

Yesterday was Owensmouth, Chatsworth and Marian Day at the fair and the people of the west end of the San Fernando Valley were present in force, all adorned with badges to tell the throngs from Los Angeles their pride and satisfaction at being citizens of the great northwest farming suburb.

RECORD ATTENDANCE.

The day marked the high-water point in attendance, and the fame of the fair's wonderful horse show brought a host to this night event, every box being taken and most of the 5500 seats being occupied. The management estimated that more than 20,000 persons passed through the gates during the day and evening.

Today will be Lankershim Day at the fair, when thousands of Lankershim peaches will be given away to the visitors.

The judging of Duroc-Jersey swine, for which the San Fernando Valley is famous, was an event which brought crowds to the pens and judging ring. The judging of draft and saddle horses also attracted many.

William V. Mong, the "Merlin" of "Adventures of a Connecticut Yankee," who is one of the leading Duroc breeders, and who brought grand champion Duroc sow honors south from the State Fair at Sacramento this year with his High Lady Pathfinder, showed the crowds that there was more than one champion in his herd by taking grand champion sow honors with his Col. Pathfinder's Lady.

Charles J. LeMoyne's Model Defender Sensation captured the grand champion boar ribbon. The junior champion boar was William V. Mong's Sensation Bankroll; the junior champion sow was Ward B. Wilson's Miss Beauty Pathfinder;

WEDS WIDOW WHOSE EYES WON HEART.

Evangelist - Cheese Dealer Marries Charmer With Whom He Fled from Wife.

"Magnetic eyes" of Mrs. Wealthia M. Shaw, that beamed across a cheese counter into those of Horace Loring MacDonald two years ago and caused him to elope with her, resulting in his arrest on grand larceny and embezzlement charges by his own elderly and wealthy wife, have lost none of their charm for Mr. MacDonald, it seems.

Yesterday he and Mrs. Shaw were married by Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, notwithstanding the trials, charges and countercharges of the two years since the romance first budded between sales at a public market on South Broadway. Thus the former evangelist, soldier, cheese merchant and actor acquired his second bride in the "other woman" named as co-respondent in a divorce action brought by the first Mrs. MacDonald following the elopement.

Catherine A. MacDonald, wealthy and 48 twice was reconciled to her husband of 25 years after the estrangement that came when he and Mrs. Shaw left Mrs. MacDonald waiting for them in a dairy stall while they motored north on a several days' excursion that ended in Mr. MacDonald's arrest in Fresno. The first kissing and making up came when Mr. MacDonald was arraigned in court on the embezzlement charge his wife had preferred against him.

Then followed the divorce action brought by her, naming Mrs. Shaw. Mr. MacDonald replied in kind, filing a cross-complaint through Attorney Arthur C. Webb. But the case never came to trial here. Another reconciliation was reported and both Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald were said to have gone to Seattle, Wash. Nothing more was heard here of their affairs until yesterday, when Mr. MacDonald and Mrs. Shaw appeared at the County Clerk's office for a marriage licence. It was said he had obtained a decree in Washington.

Mrs. Shaw is the widow of Albert B. Shaw, a jeweler, who was shot and killi in a downtown jewelry store by Robert E. Lomax, July 18, 1914. She is the mother of four children. The MacDonalds will make their home here, they told Dr. Brougher.

NINETY-FIRST IN NEW DRIVE.

Meuse-Argonne Veterans Will Take City by Storm.

Headquarters of the Various Units Are Announced.

Star Entertainers on Program for Banquet Night.

Imbued with the same spirit that won undying fame for them in the Meuse-Argonne offensive, veterans of the Ninety-first Division will start a drive on Los Angeles at the "zero hour" tomorrow morning, which promises to go down in the divisional history as an epochal event.

The division is employing tactics of approach slightly different from those used in its campaign overseas. Ninety-first men are heading toward this city by steamship, special trains, automobile caravans, "blind baggage" and afoot. The steamship, railroad and automobile groups are the organized contingents which are coming in large numbers. Others, so eager to meet their buddies of front-line days despite the fact they are at present unemployed and lacking in funds for transportation, have announced their plans to ride "blind baggage" or "hoof it."

HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED.

Upon their arrival here, the men of the Ninety-first will be escorted to their respective company and battalion headquarters, which have been established in downtown hotels. Friends and relatives desiring to meet the visiting veterans will find them at the following places:

—Three Hundred and Sixty-first and Three Hundred and Sixty-second Infantry regiments; Three Hundred and Forty-sixth, Three Hundred and Forty-seventh and Three Hundred and Forty-eighth Machine Gun Battalions, at the Stowell Hotel, 418 South Spring street.

Three Hundred and Sixty-third Infantry; Three Hundred and Sixteenth Field Hospital and the Ambulance companies at the Clark, Fourth and Hill streets.

Three Hundred and Sixty-fourth Infantry, at the Angelus Hotel, Fourth and Spring streets.

Three Hundred and Sixteenth Supply Trains; Military Police; Division Headquarters Troop and Division Headquarters Detachment, at the Continental Hotel, 626 South Hill street.

Three Hundred and Sixteenth Engineers, reception room, Paulais' Cafe, 741 South Broadway.

Three Hundred and Forty-sixth, Three Hundred and Forty-seventh and Three Hundred and Forty-eighth Field Artillery Regiments; Three Hundred and Sixteenth Field Signal Battalion and Three Hundred and Sixteenth Ammunition Trains, at the Van Nuys Hotel, Fourth and Main streets.

DIVISION QUARTERS.

Division headquarters has been established at the clubrooms of Los Angeles Post, No. 5, American Legion, Washington Building, where the veterans will register. Thirty young women, former war workers, will have charge of the registration. Doughnuts and coffee will be served by the Salvation Army, cold drinks by the Y.M.C.A., cigarettes by the Red Cross, and numerous other things by other war relief organizations.

At the headquarters of Victory Post No. 54, American Legion, 327½ South Hill street, open house will be held for the men of the division. The women of the Victory Post Auxiliary will serve coffee, sandwiches, cake and cigarettes during Saturday and Sunday.

Tomorrow will be devoted to numerous trips for the visitors, to be conducted by the local organization. Six large banquets will be held at various downtown hotels and cafes in the evening.

On Sunday afternoon, the entire personnel of the Ninety-first Division, visiting Los Angeles, will appear in a grand military parade, which will march to Exposition Park, where a patriotic program and a review of the division colors will be staged.

Tomorrow night the second annual banquet and reunion of the Three Hundred and Sixty-third Infantry to be held in the Alexandria and the Three Hundred and Sixty-first and Three Hundred and Sixty-second Infantry and the Three Hundred and Forty-sixth, Three Hundred and Forty-seventh and Three Hundred and Forty-eighth Machine-Gun Battalions, at the Roma Cafe.

Twenty-four acts of vaudeville, music and dances will make up the entertainment for the evening for the Three Hundred and Sixty-third Infantry, headed by Will Rogers and Art Hickman.

The men of the Three Hundred and Sixty-first and Three Hundred and Sixty-second Infantry regiments and the machine-gun battalions will exchange acts with the Three Hundred and Sixty-third Infantry.

The Kindergraph Kiddies, forty in number, ranging from 3 to 9 years of age, will offer something entirely new. Bob Albright is sending his Orpheum Trio, Grauman's bathing girls, twenty in number, will be there with their suits on and "Blondy" Clark of the Winter Garden has loaned four acts for the evening. Lola Gonzales will climax the entertainment with dances she learned in Hawaii.

Clark Bonner is in charge of the Three Hundred and Sixty-first and Three Hundred and Sixty-second Infantry and Three Hundred and Forty-sixth, Three Hundred and Forty-seventh and Three Hundred and Forty-eighth Machine-Gun Battalion banquets. Guernsey P. Frazer is in charge of the Three Hundred and Sixty-third Infantry banquet. Reservations can be made at 1123 Exchange Building, phone 12850.

BOOZE FAILS AS SMILE COAXER.

Suing Wife Says Husband Crabbed and Drinking Made Him Worse.

"He wouldn't even smile when I gave him a shot of real Scotch," explained Mrs. Clara B. Brenner to Judge Summerfield yesterday in the hearing of her divorce action against John F. Brenner on the grounds of cruelty.

"My husband went eighteen years without smiling. He crabbed all the time and even when he drank liquor he appeared to get grouchier than ever," the plaintiff told the court.

She was awarded judgment.

MACK PENS POEM FOR DIVISION.

Powder River Man's Verses to Welcome Ninety-First at Reunion Here.

A welcome of verse to the men of the "Wild West Division" from a man of the Wild West will be given to the members of the Ninety-first Division when they gather tomorrow for their reunion here. J. Nelson McDaniels, better known as "Mack" of Eagle's Nest, Music Mountain, Timber Butte, Mont., whose tramps over the mountains of the Western States and whose songs of the West he loves are known to many, is the man who has prepared this greeting. "Mack," a young man at 66, knows the Powder River country and loves it, and from his home among the crags in the mountains near Butte watched, through the press, the progress of the "Wild West Division" overseas.

The greeting, written for the occasion, follows:

We hail you, Men of the Wild West!
For you beat the Hun-sneaks at their best,
And your Colors never struck;
"Powder River—Let 'er buck!"

To you fell the Prussian guard!
Then they fell rather hard,
And your Colors never struck;
"Powder River—Let 'er buck!"

When you got 'em on the run—
Then you'd prod 'em just for fun,
And your Colors never struck;
"Powder River—Let 'er buck!"

You chased 'em in all kinds of weather,
Listening for that coward cry:
"Kamarad—the white feather"—
And your Colors never struck;
"Powder River—Let 'er buck!"

Long live men like the Ninety-first—
For into our Flag a brighter star has burst,
The Yankee Colors never struck;

FOR MISSION GARDEN.

Chamber Backs Plan to Beautify San Fernando Courtyard.

Plans to landscape a beautiful garden in the San Fernando Mission court were indorsed by the Chamber of Commerce at the board of directors' meeting yesterday.

The idea for a mission garden was proposed by Park Commissioner Martha Nelson McCann. The Landmarks Club and the Santa Barbara Mission also are co-operating with Mrs. McCann and the chamber to secure this unique garden for which the San Franciscan fathers at Santa Barbara Mission have offered to supply seeds and cuttings.

The Landmarks Club, custodian of the historic relics found about the missions, has offered to erect a fountain in the new mission garden. It is also planned to rebuild crumbling portions of the old adobe building near the mission and place the utensils, jewels, altar vessels and other relics in the building when completed. The old fountain in the mission yard will be left as it is and the new fountain will be on similar lines.

The People and Their Daily Troubles

Elizabeth Jordan's Column:

CONSIDERATION.

The scene was the private surgical corridor of a great hospital. In one of the rooms opening on the right and left of it lay a patient more or less seriously ill. One had just been brought back from the operating room, where she had undergone a major operation. Now she was coming out of the other into a world of pain and nausea. A second was at the point of death from an embolism. Much, very much, depended on having her absolutely quiet.

THOSE GIRLISH LUNGS.

Suddenly the peace of the great corridor was broken by the sound of approaching voices. They were girlish voices, bright and gay. The owners had come in a group to see a friend, a young man, who was convalescent after an operation for gall stones. The young man was almost ready to be discharged as cured and he was in high spirits. He greeted his young friends with a robust shout, to which they responded at the tops of their lungs. There were joyous greetings and there was much laughter. The corridor of the great hospital seemed abruptly changed to the crowded veranda of a summer hotel.

The nurse of the patient with the embolism went softly to the young visitors' door. She was young herself and she made allowance for youth.

THE FIRST PLEA.

"I'm very sorry," she said regretfully, "but I must ask you to be a little more quiet. There is a very sick patient in the next room."

She assumed that those words would be enough, and went back to her post without waiting for a reply. Even as she did so the uproar in the room she had left broke out afresh. The girls had come to see the young man's recovery. They were determined to be the life of the party. The young man was determined to be as gay as his visitors.

Her nurse appeared at his door and begged him to be more quiet. "I am sure you would gently. "I am sure you do not realize how very many very sick women lie all around you."

THEY GUEST HAPPY.

The visitors departed and again the uproar began. The girls were the victims of "nice people." The young man was well-born. But all the interference of the interference of the "good time" they were having.

The door opened again and a head nurse came quietly in. "Girls, girls," she said, pleasantly, "fifteen minutes are all you can have, you know."

They stared at her. She wore a cap and she had an air of authority, so they assumed that she held some high position in the hospital. Very smilingly she opened the door and held it open while the girls said their reluctant farewells and passed out. When the last of them had disappeared around the corner of the long corridor she addressed the young man.

PURE BLUFF.

"Forgive me," she said. "I am an entire stranger here. I have just brought my daughter, who is to be operated upon tomorrow morning. I shall stay with her tonight. As I passed along this corridor I heard the groans of patients and saw the worried looks of nurses and somehow the shrieks of laughter from this room did not seem to fit in with the rest. So I took action. It was pure bluff. But you understand, don't you?"

"I understand," said the young man, humbly.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Would Reform Us.

TUCSON (Ariz.) Sept. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I notice that you have been giving quite a good deal of space recently to the police situation of Los Angeles. That the Mayor and City Councilmen had ordered the denizens of the redlight district to move from Sonora Town to—the Wilshire district perhaps. That all penny ante and other games of chance must be stopped. Now honestly, don't you think if the Honorable Mayor and City Councilmen would devote a little more energy to the traffic situation in Los Angeles, and a little less to the vice situation, they would be doing more for humanity and the welfare of Los Angeles? All the vice you have in Los Angeles is not sending two souls to eternity every twenty-four hours, and I think your city is growing too rapidly for Small Town Tactics.

I also notice a lengthy interview with one Dr. Valera H. Parker, executive secretary of the United State Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board (whatever this is) and various other boards, committees, and societies, (at so much per from each one, no doubt, at the expense of the tax payers of the United States.) After reading this interview, one who has had experience with the redlight district must come to one conclusion, and that is: Dr Parker has never had any real experience in any redlight district gained all her knowledge concerning these districts from a dictionary or correspondence school. No doubt Dr. Parker has a large supply of statistics and other information at hand. If so, she can probably tell us why there was such an unusually large number of illegitimate children born in San Diego during the year 1918? She can also probably tell us why there were over 2000 cases of gonorrhoea in Camp Kearny at one time, and not a redlight district with 1000 miles of the camp. Also why, in another Army camp that established its own redlight district on property adjoining the Army reservation, there was not a case of Gonnorrhoea reported.

Now I am going to make this statement without fear of contradiction by any reputable physician that has had experience in treating venereal disease. That a well regulated redlight district in all cities of any size will stamp out all venereal disease, and it is the only method by which it can be done.

Some History.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] To commemorate the raising of the first American Flag over a school house in the United States the "Amasa and Rhoda Androus Shippee Memorial Association" met at Cahrain, Franklin county, Mass., in August, 1913, and dedicated a memorial tablet to the loyal residents of Catamount Hill, who, in May, 1812, floated over the log school house the emblem of liberty.

O. WILLIS.

Roads and Unemployment.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] To my mind one of the best things which could be done toward adjusting this unemployment situation now on the country would be for Congress to at once pass a bill authorizing the issuance (as a starter) of $300,000,000 in 5 per cent bonds, the same to be issued and sold as the money was needed, and with the funds so produced order to be commenced forthwith the construction of two (or three) transcontinental highways, the same to be built as nearly straight as practicable and from the banks of the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific, disregarding any roads already partially built. These roads to be constructed in the most modernly scientific way with a paved roadbed of at least thirty feet in width.

Thus, almost at once we could put to work one to three million men, relieve to some extent the enormous glut in labor and when these roads are built, we will have done something worth while of a permanent and substantial character for our country. And, according to testimony of auto tourists, the roads are certainly needed.

Furthermore, should our country ever be attacked, these roads would be of inestimable value in the movements of armies and supplies.

After these highways were built, if the labor situation was not improved, then two or three others should be built from the north boundary line of our country to the south line.

Great opposition would develop from the railroads, of course, but our Senators and Congressmen could probably be trusted in this emergency.

Some will say that this is no time to spring an extravagance like this upon the nation, but certainly it sounds better than to put the same number of millions into battleships which, in a few years, are to become obsolete and treated as junk.

Let it not be said that any man in our country shall go hungry and homeless for the lack of a job by which to earn for himself and family shelter and sufficient food. Senator Borah's land reclamation plan as recently suggested by him coupled with this road plan as roughly outlined herein will solve the whole labor situation.

L. R. SMITH.

Favors Fatty.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It seems to me that our local press doesn't concern themselves to a great extent over the welfare of Los Angeles citizens who meet with misfortune while away. About two months ago one of our citizens was murdered by a policeman in San Francisco. It was a clear case of at least manslaughter, but the policeman was exonerated, no effort was made by local press to push the case. A week ago one of our most popular citizens was arrested there (a man who has spent at least a half million dollars right here in Los Angeles in the past five years.) He was charged with murder in the first degree, though there wasn't a particle of evidence to justify such a charge. What did our press here do for our citizen in distress Absolutely nothing except to blast him.

During the war at every fight a collection was taken (at Vernon,) Fatty was a regular and always gave more than any one else, and there were some liberal givers. He is a big, good-natured fellow whom Christ could find forgiveness for, because he is like other men. They say Fatty has hurt the picture business. If so I hope those two preachers who are held for murder hurt the preacher business, as there are a thousand actors to one preacher, and two preachers arrested for murder to one actor for manslaughter, the actors compare real favorably.

I would like to sound a note of warning to preachers meddling in picture business, if they should by their meddling cause hard times for the movies, they would be very, very unpopular here in Los Angeles; the biggest building projects at this time in Los Angeles are theaters. Would suggest if they know how to make better pictures, that they get in the game; there is millions in it.

A. L. STOKES.

Why is a Governor?

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] If a Governor does not govern, then why have a Governor?

When a bunch of striking oil men can employ force to prevent the owners of oil property from exercising control of their property, and do this in defiance of constituted authority, or with the connivance of this same authority, and all this without any protest from the Governor, then, why is a Governor anyhow?

If the constituted authorities of Kern county have not enough backbone to protect property rights, or if these authorities are in league with men who openly defy the law, then why doesn't the Governor see that these county authorities perform their duty? If a Governor can't see his duty to govern in such a situation, then why is a Governor?

What right have striking oil men to erect barriers across the highways and forbid other men coming in to take their places? What right have county officers to hold office if they permit such high-handed outlawry? And what right has a Governor to hold office when he will sit idly by and permit such failure to suppress Bolshevistic uprisings? If a Governor doesn't govern, then why is a Governor?

What right have striking oil workers to derail trains, shoot at lawful owners of property, and take forcible possession of other men's property, merely because they are not pleased with the way in which those men manage their own property? What are the police officers of Kern county doing that they permit such defiance of law and order? And if the police power of Kern county is unable or unwilling to protect men in the enjoyment of their property rights within the county, then why doesn't our Governor take a hand in the matter? If a governor does not govern, then why have a Governor?

Haven't we had enough of this weak cringing before a lot of Bolshevistic workers? If a man does not want to work, he has a perfect right to quit. But he has no right to use force to prevent another man taking the job. Isn't it about time we recognized the right of men to work as fully as we recognize their right to refrain from work? We say that man has a right to quit his job. Even so, another man has a right to take the job which the first man has relinquished. And when the quitter uses force to prevent the second man from working, then that quitter has become a criminal and deserves to be punished for his crime. The man who wants to work should be protected in his right to work, just the same as a striker should be protected in his right to strike. If a worker wanted to quit his job, and the employer should use force to compel him to stick with his work and the county and State officials should support the employer in such action, then would we have legalized slavery. When a man desires to accept a job that is waiting for him and is by force prevented from so doing by another who does not want the job, and the county and State officials fail or refuse to protect the man in his right to work—then, in such case, there is a grevious failure of government.

A Governor why will permit striking workmen to use force to prevent other workmen from taking their places, has certainly ceased to govern. A Governor who has ceased to govern is not a Governor in fact.

The strike maker has no rights which are superior to those of the strike breaker.

Making More Money

Clever Girl With Clever Idea Makes Herself Popular and Adds to a Needed Family Income.

SOUNDS alluring, doesn't it—this title which Miss Marjorie Westcott, of Richmond, Va., has applied to herself in connection with her individual solution of the problem of adding to her bank account without the necessity of leaving home. And, as Miss Westcott says, there is no reason why other women hould not use the same means for making money as she has utilized, particularly if family conditions make it inadvisable for them to be away from the house for more than an hour at a time.

In the case of the Richmond girl it was an invalid mother who demanded almost constant care that made it seem almost impossible for her daughter to add to the family income through any of the recognized ways. But, as it happened, Miss Westcott made and embroidered half a dozen guest towels for a close friend of hers who was going to be married and the gift met with so much appreciation that the idea occurred to her of carrying it out on a larger scale—making up entire sets of linen for the hope chests of prospective brides and advertising, through personal cards and letters, to the mothers of growing girls whom she knew could afford to pay well for this service. Sheets, pillow cases, towels, napkins, table cloths and the like, all embroidered with the initials of the bride-to-be, were hemstiched and hand-worked by the "Hope Chest Fairy" and the checks received for this work were of a size sufficient not only to make the work well worth while but also to pay the major portion of the expenses of the invalid mother and the housekeeping.

HOME MAKING.

In France they are now building homes out of pressed straw. In Kansas houses of this kind would merely show which way the wind blows.

IN OTHER DAYS.

They used splints and bandages in the simple surgery of the Stone Age. When a cliff-dweller pushed a rock on his neighbor it wasn't necessarily fatal. The doctors of today are not such wizards as some folk would make them out. The cave man did not at least amputate in cases of pneumonia.

TAKING ON POLISH.

Somebody has invented a shoe-shining machine which requires no attendant. Put a nickel in the slot and the feet in the machine and in two minutes a shine equal to the best work of a hand operator is delivered. It is a fine thing when a man can take on polish in a few seconds without eye contact with his fellows.

GOING UP.

Nobody appears to have any control over the Board of Control. It has increased the salaries of its help another $600 a month just as the taxpayers were worrying over the prospect of another hard winter. There is nobody in the State administration who can make a business of trying to save the people's money. They are all devising new ways of spending it.

LEAVE THE RECEIVER DOWN.

It is announced that a wireless receiver has been developed which will automatically translate the Morse code into printed type and record it on a tape or ribbon at the rate of one hundred words a minute. It does not even need an expert at the receiving end. After while a man will be able to receive all his messages on a roll or strip which will operate in his absence and which he can play on his phonograph when he gets home. Communication will be akin to thought transference.

BUSINESS BOOMING.

Exports from Los Angeles Harbor already exceed $30,000,000 for this year. Ten years ago they were only $200,000. The city has increased mightily in population, but this is as nothing compared with the stupendous advance in the city's foreign business. Yet we may be said to have only started. When the harbor has been developed and improved according to existing plans it will have become one of the world's foremost ports of entry and familiar to the commercial fleets of all nations. We at least feel destined to become the mistress of the Pacific.

TALKING PICTURES.

The talking pictures are coming back into practical service as a result of recent experiments and inventions in this city. It is believed that an automatic and perfect synchronization has been secured. This was the one thing needful. It is claimed that a motor combination has been effected that will operate the projection machine and the phonograph as if they were one soul and body. This may at least be effective enough to use in educational films. The moving picture is being extensively used in public school work and this field is bound to extend. With co-operation of movies and talkies the ablest educators in the country could be placed at the command of every country schoolhouse. The operator of a projection machine might take the place of a staff of highbrowed professors. Further developments will be awaited with impatience.

FAIR DELIGHTS VISITORS.

Everybody in Los Angeles and surrounding country who can spare the time should attend the County Fair at San Fernando. Its varied exhibits are worthy of the richest agricultural county in the United States. They afford spectators an opportunity to learn why the district outside the city has kept pace with Los Angeles itself in gaining a position of importance second to no area of equal size on the Pacific Coast. The fair, of course, is a reminder of the country agricultural shows with which the older people of the community, no matter where they may have come from, were familiar in their younger days. But it is on a greater scale than the average exhibition of that character was years ago and it embraces features unthought of in those earlier times. The agricultural and horticultural displays are of such a high character and extent that the word "stupendous" has been applied to them. While this may perhaps be a pardonable exaggeration, the fact remains that they probably excel anything of the kind previously brought together in Southern California. Another feature of the fair which should not be neglected is the opportunity afforded to get acquainted with one of the State's most notable valleys. The San Fernando district has figured in California history and the people of Los Angeles ought to know it as well as they do the beaches to the south and the orange-grove region to the west. By visiting the area they will also gain an idea of some of the good they did years ago by voting the bonds for the building of the aqueduct. Before the water was distributed there San Fernando Valley was practically undeveloped; today it is dotted with thriving towns and thrifty farms and the homes of thousands of prosperous people.

FOR A CHAMBER OF CULTURE.

During the last twenty years Los Angeles has progressed commercially and industrially by leaps and bounds, while its growth in numbers has been sufficient to cause the center of population of the country to make a westward shift. These facts are all duly attested to by the last Federal census. But another growth, one that is of at least equal importance, has taken place so silently and unobtrusively as to escape general notice. We refer to our intellectual and cultural development, our progress in education, in the sciences and the fine arts, in the higher and nobler things of life.

Los Angeles is becoming distinctive among American cities for its culture. Wherever artists, poets and musicians assemble it is referred to as the city beautiful. Southern California is the land of inspiration and Los Angeles is its metropolis. We find it reflected in the quaint architecture and design of our missions, in the canvases of our master painters, in the bronzes and marbles of our sculptors, in the imposing piles of granite, cement and marble designed by our architects and constructed by our industrially free mechanics, in our art palaces and educational institutions, in the melodies and folk songs of our musical composers, in the artistic conception of our bungalow homes and in the daily life of even the humblest among us.

Here is the Mecca to which art lovers from the shores of the seven seas make their pilgrimage, where they find the symbolization of their dream of the beautiful. Captivated by the seductions of landscape, sky and sea, hundreds of them have remained to become devotees of a new temple of beauty. What Athens was to the pagan world before it was crushed by Roman materialism, so is Los Angeles destined to be to the two Americas. In an illuminating article on "Los Angeles, the Modern Athens," published in The Times of September 11, there appeared a list of painters, sculptors, educators, architects, authors, musicians and actors of national or international reputation who make Los Angeles their permanent abode. Many of the names are household words in all civilized countries. It is an imposing list of geniuses that not four cities in the country can equal; and it is a mordant reflection on our community spirit that many of them have been forced to send their productions to the Atlantic Coast and to Europe to secure recognition.

Our lack of appreciation of those who are greatest among us, whose genius has hitherto gone almost unrequited, recalls the biblical moral, "The stone that the builders rejected has become the head of the corner." Los Angeles has a Chamber of Commerce whose members are tirelessly engaged in promoting our commercial and industrial progress; but their attention has been directed to the material side of our community life. It is due in a large part to the activities of this chamber that Los Angeles now occupies the seventh place among the industrial communities of the United States, that it continues to be the one white spot on the business map of the country.

But our artists, educators, authors and musicians have been left to struggle alone. Each craft has organized its individual guild, formed its distinguishing colony; but there has been no co-ordination of guilds and they have received no community support. Surely the time has arrived for the organization in Los Angeles of a Chamber of Culture, when these guilds should be welded together into a single association with a permanent secretary, when their light should no longer be concealed under a bushel, but should flame forth as a torch from the altar of a shrine of beauty.

Our Chamber of Commerce is essential to our commercial and industrial development; but it applies only to the material side of our existence. Life in this paradise of beauty and melody should be something more than a sheer struggle for existence. If we content ourselves with securing food, raiment and lodging we have made little progress from the primitive man, and one considers seriously whether our modern civilization is worth the cost of maintenance. It is not until we approach the finer side of human existence, until we view the broader horizons opened by cultural development, that life becomes really worth the living.

During the last decade we have devoted ourselves so furiously to the struggle for industrial and commercial supremacy that we have at times trampled upon the flowers of culture blooming in our path. They have been crushed by the wheels of trucks and blackened by the smoke of factories. Our community spirit has not yet developed along cultural lines. Individual initiative has not received proper public support. None of our many "drives" have been for an intellectual purpose. This is a defect which we should hasten to remedy.

The love of culture, the inspiration of the beautiful, is not lacking, but it has yet to be co-ordinated. It is for the art and educational guilds to take the lead. They must organize to show us the way we should follow. No city in America is more passionately loved by its residents; and they await but intelligent leadership to give to that affection an artistic expression. If the masters will but deign to come forth from the seclusion of their towers of ivory and give us the inspiration of their example they will find the people as eager for cultural development as to increase their material possessions.

MADE IN AMERICA.

Some of the hardy Britons are complaining that their pleasures are made in America. Most of the musical and dramatic shows now popular and successful in London are American offerings and, in most cases, are played by American companies. The movies are almost entirely American. Whether it is to laugh or cry, the inspiration comes from across the water. There are only eight or ten English-made shows drawing paying houses in London. The big money is going to the Americans. English writers find a proper grievance in the situation, but they can always get even by coming to Los Angeles and going into the film game. The time is ripe for an interchange. Genius should know no flag or boundary. Some of our stars are going to England and France with the prospect of remaining there. They will make pictures beyond the water. Films can be produced cheaper and the life is freed from restraints, censorships and other shackles that chafe on American soil. The world is an oyster to be opened with the camera.

This is Free America!

FOUL WEATHER FRIENDS.

When the border ruffian, Marmion (as Scott tells the story,) lay dying on the fatal field of Flodden there was no page, squire or groom, no comrade-at-arms, to bring him a drink of blessed water from the spring to slake his thirst. They were all too busy attending to the bloody affairs of the battlefield. And Marmion was no longer of any practical value.

It was Clare, the woman he had deceived, who, forgetting hatreds, wrongs and fears, heard only a plaintive voice, saw only a human being in distress. It was the woman he had scorned who brought him from Sybil Grey's consecrated fountain the needed cup of cold water. So, too, it was a priest, a stranger, not one of his own kith and kin, who, with the woman, ministered to the last mortal wants of the old swashbuckling warrior.

An American swashbuckler, knight of a different order, who had fallen like Marmion, but to more insidious foes than Scottish spearmen, found out also that the boon companions of his prosperity were too busy with their own affairs to express more than perfunctory regret over the fall of one they had once been proud to recognize.

Again it was the woman, the wife he had deserted, for whose help he had never called when the world hailed him as a popular idol, who threw all discretion to the winds and hastened to his side, simply saying, "I don't know just how I can be of service to him, but many things may turn up that I can do." No rhapsody, no sentimentalizing, just a plain wish to see the thing through, whatever the rights or wrongs.

One other faithful friend waited disconsolately for the return of his absent master, the old bulldog, Luke. He, too, never reasoned why. Indictments, murder charges mean nothing to the dog who loves the hand that feeds him, the heart that sympathizes with his lowly lot. And the fallen comedian had been kind to his dog, Luke.

Marmion had a woman and a priest to still remember him when the world had passed him by. Roscoe Arbuckle had a woman and a dog to weigh not the heinousness of the charge against him or the censure of the public. It is worth nothing that the wife returned to him after his chances of continued affluence were lost and, whatever the outcome of the trial, he would remain a marked man.

A woman, a priest, a dog—an incongruous trinity of devotion—three foul-weather friends whose true gold is revealed in the dark hours of desertion and defeat. The dog was animated by unreasoning devotion to a higher creation. The priest was moved by disciplined devotion to a Superior Being. The woman was swayed by a spirit of pure devotion that God alone can interpret.

Of this strangely assorted trio the greatest is the woman. That which in the dog is instinct, in the priest duty, is revealed in the woman as the redeeming factor in imperfect human nature. So foolishly idealistic, so sublimely impractical is this womanly trait that it can produce in what we call the worst of women a divine pity that links her directly with those whom we number among the noblest of the sex. Under its influence a woman will sacrifice all the material world values most. She will even bind up the hand that was maimed in striking her.

No one has summed up this amazing feminine attribute better than Sir Walter Scott himself in the exquisite lines from his dramatic epic:

"O woman! in our hours of ease
Uncertain, coy, and hard to please,
And variable as the shade
By the light quivering aspen made;
When pain and anguish wring the brow,
A ministering angel thou!"

Let the human race be glad that the world is still full of such ministering angels.

OVER THERE.

Banker Stillman is contemplating a removal to France and the abandonment of his divorce proceedings in this country. After he has established a residence in France it would be possible for him to sue for a divorce without having any publicity in the proceedings. If the banker cannot stand a little publicity he should have taken these things into account in the first place. In this country a man cannot have a fight with his wife and a contest over the legitimacy of her children without getting his name in the papers. Paris is more complaisant than New York in that respect.

TWO QUESTS.

On the same day on the same page we had news of two sentimental quests. A lonely little Irish girl, who was boarded out as a baby and never knew her parents, is in Los Angeles hunting for that long-lost mother. And a New York man, who was reared in the New York City Orphanage, now 44 years of age, is likewise in this city searching for his mother of long ago.

Neither of them has ever known these mothers whom they seek so unceasingly, and they have no reason to believe them fair or fine. But they both believe that these mothers are still living and they cannot rest content until they have traced them, tried to win that love which should have been theirs by right, tried to fathom the tragedy that made these mothers desert them in their infancy.

And these are but two of many thousands of similar tragedies that exist all over the country. Most of them make their quests silently, unheralded, unpublished, and some of them make no quest, but live with a resigned despair. Oh, they were probably well treated in the orphanages, they probably have many friends, but always there is a lurking persistent knowledge that they were abandoned by their own flesh and blood, a knowledge that some dark tragedy attended their birth, that they were cheated of the mother-love for which there is no substitute, and that their mother has some way, somehow been cheated of their devotion. A few of them grow bitter, but most of them yearn to find that mother and embrace her in a mighty forgiveness.

Anyone who has been associated with these abandoned children and won their confidence knows of this abiding sorrow. Why? Why? is the eternal question on their lips. They envisage fancy pictures of that mother, cut admired portraits out of the papers and magazines and treasure them as possible likenesses. They endow her with a hundred virtues and charms and forever hope that some day, somewhere they will find her and solve her tragedy.

One assumes a dreadful, an awful responsibility in abandoning one's offspring, no matter in what good hands one leaves them. Human nature can forgive almost everything but that.

And yet, perchance, the parent who could abandon a tiny babe, flesh of one's flesh, blood of one's blood, does well to remain in hiding, does well to keep the bitter secret to the end. For the quest is noble, sweet sorrow, while the end of the quest might cause two hearts to break.

"WHITE SPOT" STILL WHITER.

The unique position of Los Angeles in a business way among the twenty principal cities of this country was shown in the report on the national bank clearings for the first five business days of September. The other nineteen cities showed an average loss of 20.9 per cent, as contrasted with the same period a year ago. Los Angeles, the only big city on the continent to still register plus on the prosperity barometer, showed a gain of 22.5 per cent. Furthermore, Los Angeles enjoys almost twice the clearings at this time that she had for the same period of 1919.

To make the situation even more striking it is only necessary to glance at conditions throughout the business centers of the entire world. The bears have it everywhere but in Los Angeles! As contrasted with the 20.9 per cent shrinkage in this country, the loss in the thirty trade centers of the world outside of America as reflected in bank clearings (the most reliable key to commercial activity known to economists) is 45 per cent from that for the same period a year ago.

The "white spot" of America, in other words, is also the white spot of the world and that white spot is growing whiter and larger, both in comparison with its own previous records and with those of the leading cities of this continent and of the globe. To paraphrase J. P. Morgan's famous remark: "Any man who tries to bear Los Angeles is a fool."

PASTORAL ADVICE.

Take it from ye pastor, young fellow: "While skating around in this old dump of a world you will find that small kindnesses, small courtesies, small consideration, habitually practiced in our social intercourse, give a greater charm to the character than the display of great talents and accomplishments.—[Arkansaw Thomas Cat.

THE SHIP-SHOP.

Trade, Travel and Romance.

It should have been an American idea and particularly a California idea. But France has got ahead of us this time.

For the good ship Raoul Briquet, one of the niftiest, trimmest crafts that ever sailed out of old Nantes, is already embarked upon her maiden voyage as a ship-shop de luxe. And instead of being fitted up for passengers and stokehold cargo, her decks form lines of innumerable smart little shops bearing the names over their portals of some of the most famous French firms. The Raoul Briquet is a miniature Paris—and if the foreigner can't go to Paris, Paris is going to the foreigner.

These stateroom shops are stocked with all the choicest commodities for which France is famous. One carries charmed groceries and wines, another specialties in drugs and medicines, another fine Parisian lingerie, another toilet articles and cosmetics, another fine laces and embroideries, another chic millinery, another smart gowns—and each store has its expert salesman who will not only sell his stock to the foreign buyer direct from his store, but will spread insidiously attractive trade propaganda for France.

At present this first ship-shop is devoting itself to the Baltic ports and has arrived at Libau in Lettonia. And, according to cables received, she had no sooner dropped anchor in port and opened her gangways for business than the whole town marched down to the harbor on a trip to Paris. And trade is booming.

The ship has been chartered by the French government, but all the shops on board are private ventures, paying deck rent as for exhibition space. It is out to advertise, to display and to sell—a glorified version of the old-time bagman carrying his wares from door to door. It will go from port to port in the Baltic Sea, Riga, Danzig, Reval, Helsingfors, Petrograd, winning these countries to a knowledge and appreciation of French commercial enterprise, good will and efficiency.

The idea is replete with the romance and glamour of good business. Owing to the proximity of Germany, it is not easy for any other country to gain a trade footing in the Baltic by the old method of branch agencies. So the Frenchmen, aided and abetted by their government, have hit upon this new form of commercial travel, foreign advertising and seductive display. Wherever the Raoul Briquet puts into port a campaign of advertising precedes her—and it is a stipulation that all sales must be paid for in gold or money, any sort of current cash except rubles.

As a trade novelty it out-Yankees the Yankee, and one interesting phase is that the tariff duty apparently falls upon the buyer rather than the seller.

Why not a Los Angeles ship-shop designed for trade with South America? Why could we not subsidize our own floating exhibition replete with evidence of Southern California trade supremacy? Why not carry our wares to the very doors of the people in Buenos Aires, La Libertad, San Juan del Sur, Guayaquil, Callao, Antofagasta, Valparaiso, Montevideo, Rio Janeiro, Pernambuco—all the ports of Central and South America—and exploit the advantages the canal has opened up for us?

Of course, an essential of such a trip would be first-class salesmen, with a confident knowledge of Spanish, good manners and a nice understanding of conditions in those countries. It is not sufficient that we furnish first-class commodities, for the South American Spaniard has his own way of doing business. He hates to be hustled, he dislikes the breezy familiarity of the Yankee salesman who has learned how by a correspondence course in salesmanship. He has a nice regard for the social courtesies in business combined with efficiency. He is no outlandish barbarian who can be cozened into trade by the high-handed method of superpatronage. In short, he considers a business man and a gentleman synonymous and interchangeable terms and the rough-and-ready method leaves him haughty, embarrassed, peeved.

But he is a mighty potential buyer; he wants new goods and good goods and he has the money to purchase. His women are as smart and exacting as our own, his cooks as epicurean as our best, he is a connoisseur in his taste for luxuries and, for all his laissez faire demeanor, his air of dolce far niente, he waxes rich by perfectly good business acumen and discrimination.

And a Los Angeles ship-shop, taking these matters into due consideration, would find him gracefully enthusiastic, profitably interested, buoyantly co-operative. All he needs is to be shown—with finesse. France is already satisfied with the success of her novel venture and is even now talking of equipping more ships for other trade routes. We may yet have a French ship-shop at San Pedro essaying to prove that much-discussed controversy as to whether Paris or Los Angeles sets the sports' clothes styles. We may yet see our population hieing them on a trip to Paris via the boulevard and Pacific Electric route—but a 10,000-ton "Reina de Los Angeles" in Pacific waters can acquire an excellent start in competitive vigilance, if we promptly accept the idea that France sets the style in ship-shops, but Southern California gets there first, just the same.

THE PRESSURE THAT'S NEEDED.

An oceanographer says that if a diver were to be lowered to the floor of the greatest ocean depth in a heavy steel shell with thick glass windows and the windows were to break under the pressure of six tons to the square inch, "a jet of water harder than the hardest steel, with a pressure behind it greater than that that the largest guns exert, would spread the diver over his shell like butter over bread." At last! There's the pressure to be applied to Congressional appropriation committees to obtain economy in the public expenditures.—[New York Herald.

WILD GAME.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

This fall season, when five or six million Americans will shoulder their guns and go hunting, when many thousands will make money as guides and hosts to sportsmen, and many millions who do not go afield will encounter the wild things on the dinner plate, is being used by sportsmen's organizations, outdoor publications and other interested parties to push a campaign for a permanent system of game protection by game sanctuaries.

The situation in this country is that wild fowl and other migratory game birds have been increasing greatly in the past few years as the result of a Federal law giving them protection throughout their journeys up and down the continent, but the protection of our other game is by no means adequate. It is true that many States have improved their game laws, but others are hopelessly lax. Some species of game are increasing in some places, but, on the whole, game other than migratory birds is barely holding its own, while some valuable species are threatened with extermination. Meanwhile the army of hunters grows every year.

This decreased game supply is sheer waste. The country could support perhaps three or four times as much game as it does. That would mean just three or four times as much food and sport as we now get from our wild lands. Not to bring them to the highest state of productivity by proper restriction now is as foolish as picking the fruit before it is ripe. And the thing is especially worth doing because the hunting in this country can never be monopolized by a wealthy few but must always remain a source of health, pleasure and food for all the people. The great and growing areas which are included in national and State parks and forest reserves insure this.

The plan now being urged is the creation of game sanctuaries in these forest reserves, where hunting will be prohibited, predatory animals destroyed and game propagated. From these sanctuaries game will naturally overflow the surrounding country, making of the forest reserve in which it is situated a well-stocked public shooting ground. In addition to this, game propagated in the sanctuaries could be shipped to all parts of the State.

Several bills have been introduced in Congress providing for such sanctuaries. They all provide that the State Legislature must concur in the setting aside of sanctuary areas, since the game on these areas belongs to the State. So there is no transgression of States' rights in this provision.

It may seem that this measure would benefit chiefly the West, where most of the forest reserves are, but, as a matter of fact, including the forest lands in the East acquired by the government under the act of 1911, there are now forest reserves in all except a few of the North Central States. New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Arkansas and Florida now all have national forest areas in them. Thus a string of game sanctuaries could be established all up and down the Atlantic Coast. In the country surrounding them would be found the very best of hunting, and the hunting for the whole State would be greatly improved. Every hunter in the United States would profit by these sanctuaries.

This protective measure would cost little. A proclamation of the Secretary of Agriculture, setting aside certain lands for the purpose, and concurrence of the State Legislatures, would be the only procedure necessary, while a few wardens on each sanctuary would constitute the only permanent expense of the system.

Not only would this protective system greatly enrich the supply of all kinds of game, but it is the only thing that will save valuable species in many sections of the country. What one sees everywhere in this country is a few of the more adaptable species of game holding their own at considerably less than a normal abundance, while other varieties steadily decrease. The State of Maryland, near the national capital, where thousands of Washington sportsmen hunt every fall, is typical of many of the more settled States. Maryland has fairly good game laws, with generous open seasons, and it has greatly improved its laws and system of game propagation in the past few years. It cannot afford an expensive warden system like that of New York State. There the game wardens are an armed and uniformed force. In Maryland, as in most States, they are mostly farmers who are paid nothing and do little. Even so, the game law is fairly well obeyed. Besides the excellent wild fowl shooting of the Chesapeake region, which brings a really considerable item of food into the State every fall, there are still a good many quail, rabbits and squirrels. Sportsmen get good shooting within fifteen or twenty miles of Washington, and many quail are killed close to the District of Columbia line. But many parts of the State, especially the large wooded areas along the Potomac, formerly supported large numbers of wild turkeys and ruffed grouse. Any good hunter could get his Thanksgiving turkey in the woods a quarter of a century ago, while the grouse, locally called pheasant, were so abundant that many hunters paid no attention to the humble quail.

The story of these birds has been one of slow decrease to the verge of extermination. Now there are just a few bands of wild turkeys in the larger wooded areas, while the ruffed grouse is an occasional and surprising sight.

This decrease has not been wholly due to shooting. Cutting down of the woods, together with forest fires, must have had much to do with it. But there remain many areas of forest large enough to support grouse and not a few where wild turkeys would thrive if they once get a start. Even deer, which have been extinct in much of the State for half a century, could be restored in many places. This was proved when a few deer were turned loose near Mt. Vernon, eighteen miles from Washington, and multiplied at an astonishing rate without protection.

Nurse Arrange Display at Flower Show

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 22.—Clothed in silk, the body of Mrs. L. Taft, 44 years old, of Wallington, was found floating in the harbor. The woman is believed to have committed suicide by drowning herself in the sea. She had been in ill health.

J. W. Weinert of 38½ Linden Ave., who last Sunday rescued Emma Zeuehle from drowning at the pier, found the body as he was taking his daily plunge. The body was still warm when discovered by Mr. Weinert, but life was extinct.

Mrs. Taft had dressed herself in the outer frock was of expensive quality. The dress was also of the best quality. She had on a small hat of black and clutched in the hand a purse containing a small amount of money and a note which stated that Mrs. George Osborne's telephone number. Under this notation was written, "Then call Mrs. ——." The handwriting in the body of the note was firm, but the last sentence was scrawled in a certain way. The dead woman is a sister of Leyden P. Butterfield, who made her home, and was the owner of the Hotel property.

NO MAN'S LAND IS ROMANCE LAND.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, Sept. 22.—They have revamped "No man's land" and it is now "romance land."

Nope, brother, you are all wrong. This sector was never located in France, it was in Redlands and the name given to the Young Women's Christian Association building by some of the young people.

The directors of the association realized the sting in the name applied and have quietly set about to correct it. A room has been set aside, a cozy room, and been furnished with comfortable chairs, plenty of pillows, pretty pictures and attractive scenery and named as the room where the young women of the association may receive their gentlemen friends.

And now "no man5s land is popular "romance land."

CONGREGATIONS DISCUSS UNITING THEIR EFFORTS IN IMPERIAL VALLEY CITY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CALEXICO, Sept. 22.—A meeting has been called for tomorrow night of members of all the Protestant churches in Calexico to decide as to a merger of these church organizations into one body, to be known as a community church.

The subject has been under consideration during the summer season, and it is believed the sentiment of the laymen as well of the pastors and leaders of the churches will be found to be almost unanimously in favor of the consolidation.

The Protestant churches of Calexico have been co-operating for a year or more, without formal agreements, and during the early summer union services were held in the city park on Sunday evenings, the pastors alternating in conducting services. The consolidation plan calls for the uniting of the Methodist, Baptist and Congregational churches into an organization in which each church shall retain its denominational features, but with only one pastor for the organization.

It is proposed that two of the churches shall remain closed and services be held in the largest. Economy from a financial standpoint and efficiency in promoting the cause of religion are the objects sought.

WIRES SEAT SAFE.

Pasadena friends of Maj. Walter F. Lineberger, Congressman of the Ninth District, have received a telegram from him stating that his seat is not endangered by House resolution 169, which is to determine whether members holding any commissions are liable to lose their official standing. In his telegram, Maj. Lineberger, who is in the Reserve Corps of the Army, states the resolution is for the purpose of determining the status of former service men. The Congressman's message is as follows:

"My seat is in no way endangered. House resolution 169, introduced by Representative Garrett of Tennessee, Democrat, is solely to determine status of ex-service men in the House holding reserve commissions. Probably 75 per cent of all the twenty-eight ex-service men, Republicans and Democrats in the House, are holding such commissions, myself included. The resolution was referred to the Judiciary Committee, but not reported out. In no event, if law is enacted, could it be retroactive, endangering my seat. At most, members would be required to resign one or the other. General opinion among members here is that not even this is likely. Technicality and precedent only involved and interpretation of the Judiciary Committee ought to determine permissibility of retention both commission and seat."

VERDICT IS GIVEN.

At a Coroner's inquest today in the case of Mrs. Margaret J. Wilson, a verdict of death due to an unavoidable accident was given. Mrs. Wilson was killed Tuesday night when she ran into the side of an auto while crossing Colorado street. C. C. Galbraith was the driver of the car.

TO AVERT FLOODS.

Committee from Venice Seeks to Remedy Condition.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Sept. 22.—A committee from the Chamber of Commerce will visit the Ballona Creek bridge at 3 o'clock tomorrow morning to investigate the flood danger, which, according to City Attorney Charles Lyons, threatens the lives of several people and endangers more than $50,000 worth of crops.

The committee from the Chamber will appear before the Los Angeles county Board of Supervisors next Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock when the matter will be thrashed out at a public hearing.

In case of a flood the waters would back up at the Ballona Creek bridge and submerge the surrounding district, according to Lyons. The bridge is on the Pacific Electric Air Line. The suggested remedy is to extend a sewer from the bridge to the ocean into which future flood waters could be diverted by removing the bridge in case of danger.

The city has taken up the matter of remedying conditions with both the Pacific Electric and the county supervisors but both believe that the other should pay the costs of the improvement, according to Lyons.

RAIL MAGNATE'S SON DIVORCED.

Wife Says He Wanted to Keep Going All the Time.

Built Home for Family, Never Returned, She Says.

Heir to Six Million Dollars is Raiser of Cattle.

Mrs. Dorothy Barrows Hill yesterday was granted a divorce in the Superior Court from Walter J. Hill, who inherited $6,000,000 from the estate of his father, James J. Hill, the railroad builder. This ended litigation begun two years ago in St. Paul, Minn., where Mr. and Mrs. Hill were married in 1908.

As in the action begun but never completed in St. Paul, Mrs. Hill charged desertion and Judge Toland granted the decree. The desertion seems to have been due to wanderlust, for Mrs. Hill said:

"He wanted to be on the go; he wanted to keep moving and did not even return to the home that he built for us."

This home is in Granada Park, near the Midwick Country Club. Mrs. Hill and her 12-year-old daughter have lived there long enough to establish legal residence in this county. It is understood the home and a fund for the maintenance of their daughter will go to Mrs. Hill by a settlement effected some time ago. Mr. and Mrs. Hill separated in 1917.

Mrs. Hill is the daughter of Merton Barrows, an attorney of St. Paul. Mr. Hill is the younger son of the late railroad operator. He has interested himself in the cattle business, in which it is said he has invested a million.

VALUATION BOOST IS ASSERTED.

Pacific Electric is Given Credit for More Than It Claims, Declares Titcomb.

That Chief Engineer Sachse of the State Railroad Commission gives the Pacific Electric Railway credit for a greater property valuation than the company itself claims, as shown by its bonded debt, is the assertion of H. B. Titcomb, vice-president of the interurban system, who has just returned from New York City.

Commenting last night upon the fact that Engineer Sachse clipped $22,000,000 off the company's valuation of its property, in submitting a report which he compiled at the request of the railway, Mr. Titcomb remarked that while Mr. Sachse differs with the company on the value of its rights-of-way, he places the value of the property at $63,000,000 when the company is endeavoring to pay interest on only $53,000,000 worth of bonds.

Figuring that the Pacific Electric will have a margin of $5,000,000 in its favor, from the Sachse report, officials of the company will go before the State Railroad Commission early next month and argue an application for a general increase in rates. Mr. Titcomb thinks that the Sachse report is subject to discussion from many angles, and hopes to sustain his rate application despite the engineer's conclusions.

When ordered by the commission to make a study of the Pacific Electric system and submit a complete report as to its value, Engineer Sachse reported back that the operative property is worth $63,000,000 despite the fact that the company says it is worth $85,000,000. He made his study for the commission at the request of the Pacific Electric.

Mr. Titcomb, who was recently elected president of the Mexico lines of the Southern Pacific, leaves Monday for Tucson, where he will make his headquarters. He will continue to act as vice-president of the Pacific Electric until his successor is named.

Last night he stated that he has no idea who will succeed him as vice-president of the interurban line, admitting that there are many rumors afloat, but that the position may not be filled for some time.

In local railroad circles the impression seems to be that D. W. Pontius, former general passenger agent of the Pacific Electric, and now general manager of the San Diego & Arizona railway, will return to this city to take Mr. Titcomb's place.

Others are of the impression that Frank Karr, new chief counsel for the interurban system, will succeed Mr. Titcomb as vice-president and that an assistant superintendent of the Southern Pacific will be named as general manager.

At the rate the attendance is increasing from day to day, those in charge of the fair estimate at least 50,000 persons will pass through the gates on the added day of showing. Special provision is being made to accommodate and entertain an enormous crowd on this occasion.

WILL INSPECT ARROWHEAD.

Col. Forbes, Veterans' Bureau Chief, to Leave Today on Visit to Soldiers' Hospital.

Upsetting the announced program, Col. C. R. Forbes, director-general of the Veteran's Bureau, yesterday stated that he will complete his inspection of Los Angeles rehabilitation activities and will leave early today for Arrowhead Springs to visit the hospital there before hurrying back to Washington, where he will go into conference with President Harding next Thursday.

This conference is expected to result in definite recommendations by Col. Forbes as to the location of government hospitals and cantonment schools for disabled veterans. That Los Angeles is prominent among those cities considered was admitted by the colonel. Whether the government will buy the Arrowhead Springs hospital, now being used for ex-service men, or whether the institution will be abandoned for that purpose entirely could not be learned from the visitor, who said he probably would have some recommendation to make after inspecting the place.

Because of the change in plans, the scheduled meeting for ex-service men tonight will not be held at the Bible Institute. Instead Col. Forbes yesterday addressed several hundred "trainees," or veterans now in vocational training, at the University of California, Southern Branch. Students from other institutions under the government training were also present.

Chief among the aims of his trip is the selection of best sites for the establishing of government hospitals for disabled ex-service men now at contract hospitals. So far as his investigation had proceeded yesterday, Col. Forbes said, he is pleased with the progress of the rehabilitation work accomplished in Los Angeles and vicinity.

ARRESTS AFTER BOOZE SCANDAL

Four Nabbed by Government Agents in Glendale.

Impersonation of Federal Officers Hinted.

Church Workers Fined on Intoxication Charge.

As a sequel to the arrest recently of four young men, delegates to the Christian Endeavor convention in Glendale, prohibition enforcement agents, after an all-night vigil in the little city, yesterday took into custody Ernest Thede, Robert Wilson, W. L. Kincy, proprietor of a Broadway cafe, and Guy Wells, formerly a member of the Glendale police force.

The Christian Endeavor delegates, who were fined nominal sums, declared, it is stated, that they procured the liquor which they were charged with having drunk to excess, at Kincy's place.

Federal officers say that the charge of having impersonated government agents probably will be filed against Thede, Wilson, Kincy and Wells. The prohibition agents say that a number of raids were made by the four upon persons having liquor in their possession and the stuff was confiscated. Later on, it is stated, a demand was made for a sum of money under promise of immunity.

One of the overt acts alleged against three of the defendants is that they made a trip to a well-known bootlegging establishment on the road between Glendale and Burbank, and pretended to purchase twenty-five gallons of moonshine brandy. Just as the money was about to be paid, the third member of the party, pretending to be a prohibition enforcement official, confiscated the liquor, it is charged. The next day they returned, it is said, and demanded the payment of $100, promising that prosecution would not be allowed to go any further. Whether they got the money is not known.

Frequent complaints have come to the local enforcement agents of late that things were not as they should be and Agent C. H. Wheeler took a night off to locate the offenders.

The defendants are in the County Jail and will be arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Long this morning.

A few days ago, Kincy had three young women arrested on the charge of having stolen his wife's clothing. It appears they were taken to the home of Kincy by some one other than Kincy, and the night was spent in a hilarious program, the girls putting on the clothes of Mrs. Kincy and otherwise disporting themselves. Later, the girls pleaded guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct and were fined $10 each.

SHAKE-UP HITS HOSPITAL HERE.

the hospital staff are Miss Ida May Rood, superintendent; Miss Olive T. Talcott, assistant superintendent; Anna Cole Smith, principal of the training school for nurses; Elizabeth Synhorst, director of social service work; Alice M. Wheeler, dietitian; Dr. W. Donald Judge, house physician; Fay Reynolds, laboratory technician; M. E. Hammond, accountant, and I. G. Van Nest, chief engineer.

With the four new members, just elected to the board, and with Bishop Leonard, Dr. Wilson and Mrs. Coates, as ex-officio members, there will be remaining on the board a sufficient number of officials to form a quorum under the church laws, following the taking effect of the resignations, it was said yesterday. It is understood, however, that the Woman's Home Missionary Society will not wait for the resignations to become effective before gathering new timber to complete the board's membership and that new directors will be elected immediately after the resignations of the belligerent five become effective.

SECRET MEETING.

There was a meeting of officers of the women's society with the new members of the board yesterday afternoon in the society's offices in the Wright-Callender Building. What transpired at this meeting was not made public.

The officers of the society are not greatly alarmed over the wholesale resignations of the hospital staff, Dr. Wilson declared yesterday.

"If Miss Rood and her staff want to resign, it is quite all right with the society," he said. "We shall simply wire to our eastern Methodist hospitals and homes and ask that the very best hospital superintendent and staff that can be procured be furnished us at once."

Officers of the Woman's Home Missionary Society are: Mrs. Margaret L. Coates, president; Mrs. M. M. Northrup, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. G. Scudder, treasurer, and Mrs. Henry Stong, recording secretary.

ANGELENOS TO VISIT NEW MINE DISTRICT.

SCORE DUE IN KINGMAN, ARIZ., TOMORROW TO INSPECT KATHERINE SECTION.

A score of Los Angeles mining men and brokers are due to arrive tomorrow at Kingman, Ariz., to inspect the new gold mining camp at Katherine and also Tristate, located in the Nevada section of the Katherine mining district. The Angelenos are to be met by a delegation of the Mohave County Chamber of Mines and Commerce and will be entertained at breakfast, after which they will be escorted to the new camp where they will be shown the Bonanza Katherine mine, the Gold Chain, Adams, Katherine Extension, Pyramid and other properties.

Following their inspection of the new camp the delegates will be taken across the Colorado River to Tristate, situated in the northern corner of the new gold district, where a special program has been planned. The festivities will include a barbecue, boat races, dancing, auction of town lots, airplane exhibition and the old time features of western mining camp life. The celebration at Tristate will continue until Sunday night.

The Los Angeles party will return to Kingman tomorrow night and probably will visit Oatman on Sunday. There will be large delegations from Chloride, Oatman, Needles and Las Vegas at the Tristate celebration.

CONTEST HINTS MAKE WAD ROAR

End of First Week Finds Fun Stack Mountain-high.

Winners to be Listed Sunday, Cicero Announces.

Wants More Attention Given to Simple Regulations.

Varying in mirthful degree from grins, chuckles, chortles and laughs to downright guffaws, ideas submitted in the first weekly Wad comic strip contest were received up to midnight last night, at which time Mr. Cicero Wad, with a final giggle, declared the first contest closed.

The second week's contest opens today and will end next Thursday night.

During the closing hours of the first contest last night The Times office looked like the scene of a hot-fought election contest as Mr. Wad plowed steadily through the mass of fun-provoking suggestions stacked on his desk by the overworked postman.

Winners in the contest just ended will be announced in The Times Sunday morning.

New and old contestants should carefully observe the rules and regulations and the model suggestion, that follow, as hereafter it will be Mr. Wad's practice to demand more rigid attention to details. One of the most important factors is to make your suggestion concise. Another is to write on one side of the paper only.

CONTEST RULES.

Here are the rules for the weekly Wad Comic Strip Contest:

(1.) Beginning September 18 and continuing indefinitely, The Times will pay $10 for the best idea for a daily Wad comic strip contributed each week in accordance with these rules, $5 for the second best, and for all others available, $2 each. The first contest closes Thursday night, September 22, and a new one opens Friday morning, September 23. Each weekly contest will close Thursday night. Winners will be announced each Sunday and the name of each successful contributor will be used on the strip suggested by him or her. Checks will be mailed promptly.

(2.) All contributions must be legibly written or typewritten on one side of the paper with the sender's name and address at the top. No manuscripts will be returned. Do not send stamps. Address all contributions to Mr. Wad, care The Times, Los Angeles, Cal.

OPEN TO ALL.

(3.) Anyone may compete. It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The Times to do so.

(4.) Any number of ideas may be suggested by any one contestant, but each one must be handled on separate sheets of paper. There is no limit to the number of prizes which may be won by any one contestant.

(5.) All ideas must be original and "drawable" and all must contain as characters one or more members of the Wad family. Other characters may be added if desired.

(6.) All suggestions must be local either in point or setting or both. By "local" is meant Southern Californian, but not necessarily exclusively of Los Angeles.

EXTRA COMPENSATION.

(7.) Actual finished drawings of strips will be accepted, provided the drawing is well done and the characters accurately copied. Extra compensation will be allowed for such drawings as are acceptable and ready to print, the amount depending on the skill shown.

(8.) The judges will be the editors of The Times. They cannot enter into a discussion of the awards.

(9.) Contributions must be made in the general form appearing below or in a rough sketch of the whole strip. Title and dialogue must be supplied. Each picture must be clearly described. A complete strip may consist of four or five pictures, preferably four. However, clever suggestions calling for but one, two or three pictures to form the six-column strip will not be barred.

SAMPLE IDEA.

Here is a sample idea, prepared in proper form in words:

How's one way to solve the Kennedy murder mystery?

(1.) Mr. Wad reading a newspaper which has big black banner line for top reading: "KENNEDY MURDER GUN SOUGHT!" In smaller type: "Description of Weapon." Titus Wad, who never buys a newspaper if he can read that of somebody else, is looking over his shoulder. Mr. Wad: "Say, Titus, I see they're offering $250 reward for the shotgun Burch is supposed to have used. It's hidden somewhere around Beverly Glen. I'm going out there and find it and collect the reward, Titus: I'll bet you five cents I kin find it before you do. I'm gonna start right now."

(2.) Interiors of two adjoining stores on Main street, seen in cross-section from rear to show both. One is a gun store and the other a pawnshop. In the gun store Mr. Wad is surreptitiously peeling bills from his wad to pay for a shotgun which a clerk is holding and saying: "Yessir, this is exactly what you wanted—a 12-gauge double barrel and only slightly used." Mr. Wad is saying, "Sh! Sh!" and looking around toward the door. In the pawnshop Titus is whispering to a black-bearded Hebrew proprietor, with great secrecy: "Say, I want a second-hand, double-barrel shotgun, twelve-gauge, quick!" He is emptying his pants pocket, which shows an unfastened safety pin, of a handful of nickels and dimes.

(3.) Rustic scene. Sign on tree says, "Beverly Glen. One-quarter Mile," with hand pointing. Big rock on one side of which Mr. Wad is seen on hands and knees scraping dirt and leaves over his shotgun. He is saying: "I'll cover her up good and leave her a couple of days and then bring somebody out with me and I'll let him see me find the gun." On other side of rock Titus's head and shoulders are seen. He is holding a shotgun and looking around saying: "I guess under this here rock will be a good place to hide her. Wonder if I can collect the reward an' keep the gun, too?"

(4.) Titus comes around corner of rock. He starts to shove gun beneath it and he and Mr. Wad see each other and their respective guns simultaneously. Both blush furiously and try to hide weapons. Both say (use one balloon) "Fake!"

THREE ARE BANKRUPT.

The London Hat and Cap Works, room 258 I. W. Hellman Building, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court yesterday, giving their debts, all unsecured, as $23,639.29. The assets are scheduled at $5818.18, of which $5000 is the listed value of the stock in trade. John K. Mallonee, conducting Bird Land, 216 Mercantile Place, filed a similar petition. He owes $4099.67, and has assets of $236.25. Eva F. Curtis, a clerk, owes $4549.56, and her assets are $175, according to a bankruptcy petition filed in the same court yesterday.

JEWELER GOES EAST.

G. A. Brock, president of Brock & Co., the Broadway jewelers, has gone east to attend the annual convention of the National Retail Jewelers' Association at Buffalo. After the convention Mr. Brock will go to New York and other eastern cities, where he will select the newest in diamond, platinum and gold jewelry, preparatory to the display for the coming holidays.

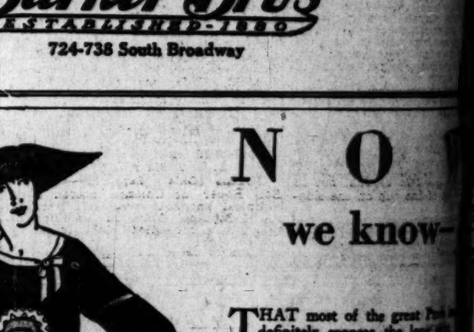
THE BRAMBACH

SMALLEST GRAND PIANO MADE

Can be bought at

Barker Bros.

for the price of an ordinary upright piano



Those who live in and enjoy the snug comforts of small apartments need not deprive themselves of the beautiful grand piano tone—admittedly not possible in an upright piano.

The BRAMBACH BABY GRAND is but 4 feet 8 inches long. The secret of their success is primarily due to their specially constructed scale. A remarkable grand tone quality is the characteristic, and the scale is so small that it is difficult to realize its great depth of tone.

The BRAMBACH occupies no more space in the corner of a room than an upright. We shall be pleased to show you its size advantages and prove to you the instrument's exquisite tone.

Note—In order that you may learn how easily this Baby Grand may be fitted in your home, we have tissue paper patterns of the exact size and shape of these little instruments. We will gladly give or mail you one of these patterns.

SPORTS MOTORING FILMLAND DRAMA

CHICK EVANS IS WINNER ON THE OLD HOME GREEN.

Opposes of Jess Sweetser in a Match of Brilliance; Willie Hunter Still in Running for Our Golf Title.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Sept. 22.—In two spectacular matches staged on the thirty-sixth green today in the national amateur golf championship at the St. Louis Country Club, Chick Evans, defending his title, defeated Jess Sweetser of New York 1 up, and Jesse Guilford of Boston eliminated Harrison Johnston of St. Paul by the same score, bringing them together in the fourth round tomorrow.

A still closer contest, although exciting in its finish, Willie Hunter, British champion, defeated Perry Rose of Atlanta, 2 and 1, after being down nearly all day. Hunter has the right to contest the semi-final match with Robert Gardner of Chicago, twice former champion, who bested R. E. Knepper of Sioux City, 4 and 2.

The most dramatic finish was staged by Evans, who had to sink a 75 in the morning to lead Jesse by 2up, the New Yorker turned a 74. Evans, after losing a few more holes on the home nine, with a 36 to Sweetser's 38, became careless with his putting, after dropping the 32nd hole, making three putts, he lost the hole, where Sweetser scored a par 4. Evans found himself 1 up and 2 to go.

BACK SPUR.

Hunter tightened and dropped his shot on the 180-yard 34th hole to the left of the cup, giving it back spin. Sweetser's drive was 40 feet from the hole. He managed to halve in three as Evans' putt stopped short of the mud on the ball.

Evans reached for the vantage hole on the left side of the 35th green, but pushed his iron second shot to the right of the green and took a five, losing the hole and becoming dormie 1 as Sweetser drove to a good lie near the end of the torrid 36th.

Unable to end the contest during a brassie he played his second shot and the ball dug into the turf like a mashie pitch, stopping a few feet beyond, but 25 yards off the cup on the slope. Evans plunked his iron 12 feet past the cup.

WOMAN STAR FACES STIFF OPPOSITION.

Miss Stirling Must Conquer Miss Cecil Leitch to Retain Canadian Golf Title.

OTTAWA (Ont.) Sept. 22.—Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta, Ga., woman golf champion of the United States and Canada, to retain her Canadian title, tomorrow must defeat Miss Cecil Leitch, woman open champion of Great Britain and France, who has demonstrated her superiority over the Atlanta star in four tournaments abroad this year.

Miss Leitch today continued to show her ability by an easy victory over Miss Sydney Peppler of Toronto, 7 and 6, while Miss Sterling had a close contest with Mrs. W. A. Gavin of New York, winning 4 and 2. The result was in doubt until they were well past the turn in the eighteen-hole match.

Miss Edith Leitch, sister of the British title-holder, tomorrow will play Miss Molly McBride of Beaconsfield. Today she defeated Miss Ada MacKenzie of Toronto, former Canadian title-holder, 2 and 1. Miss McBride eliminated Miss Helen Lesueur of Royal, Ottawa, 4 and 3.

MORRIS KNOCKED OUT.

TULSA (Okla.) Sept. 22.—Capt. Bob Roper of Chicago scored a technical knockout over Carl Morris of Sapulpa, Okla., in the third round of a scheduled twelve-round bout tonight.

Why Occidental Was Ruined Last Year.

And Why the Whittier Poets Expect to Repeat This Year.

In the photo above massive Ed Suggett is seen punting the pill. In the game with Oxy in 1920, when Ed wasn't pulverising the Tiger line to bits he was kicking the leather over the backfield men's heads. Below, we have the Whittier backfield which rolled up a 21-7 count and expects to duplicate its 1920 stunt this year. From left to right are Thompson, right half; Reece, fullback; Suggett, left half, and Ray Johns, quarterback.

NAME DATE OF WORLD'S SERIES.

First Game to be Pulled Off Wednesday, October 5.

Opening Contest on Grounds of National Winner.

Schedule of Prices Lower Than Last Year.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, met with President Heydler of the National League and Ban Johnson, president of the American League, today, to draw up a provisional schedule for the world's series.

The world's series will start October 5, it was announced today. The first game will be played on the home grounds of the National League pennant winner.

ARE IN LEAD.

If either Pittsburg or Cleveland should win in their respective leagues, two games would be played in Pittsburg and then two in Cleveland. The New York teams are at present leading the two leagues.

The details of the series were arranged at a meeting of the league presidents with Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner.

President John Heydler of the Nationals won the toss and the first game for his league.

The commissioner and the league presidents fixed the prices for the series at from $1 to $6.

FIX PRICES.

If one or both New York teams win, the prices will be $1 in the bleachers, $3 for unreserved seats in the upper grand stand, $5 for lower grand stand reservations and $6 in the boxes.

Should Cleveland win, boxes will be $6, reservations, $4 and $5, pavilion seats $2 and general admission $1.

The prices decided on represent a considerable reduction in the cheaper seats. Bleacher seats in New York have formerly sold at $2, as compared to $1 set for this year, while at Cleveland last year pavilion seats brought $3 instead of the $2 in today's scale, and general admission was $2 instead of $1.

Nine games may be played, it was decided, the series going to the winner of five. If a ninth game is played and one of the teams outside of New York is in the series, a coin will be tossed to decide the city.

ILLNESS KEEPS JOHNSTON IDLE.

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The effects of ptomaine poisoning, sustained in Philadelphia during the week of the national tennis tournament, caused William Johnston of San Francisco, captain of the western sectional tennis team, to keep his name off the first day's play against the eastern team, scheduled to take place tomorrow. Johnston will play later.

J. O. Anderson and J. B. Hawkes, members of the Australasian Davis cup team, were the last of the western players to arrive today. Other members of the team are William M. Johnston, San Francisco; Willis E. Davis, San Francisco; Robert G. Kinsey, San Francisco, and Marshall Allen, Seattle.

ALEXANDER GIANTS TO PLAY TOOL NINE.

According to Jim Alexander, chief owner of the Alexander Giants, the Union Tool nine of Torrance was yesterday signed to play against the Giants tomorrow, at Alexander Park, Thirty-second street and Long Beach avenue. On Sunday the Giants play the fast team from the U.S.S. Mississippi. The Giants signed a new hurler this week. He is Young Rogers, a college hurler from the East, and is reported to be fully as good as Johnny Baugh. He will be used against Torrance tomorrow.

HOTEL MEN TO TRY LUCK ON THE LINKS.

Hotel managers from all parts of the State are coming to Los Angeles to attend the hotel men's golf tournament which will be held at the Ambassador Golf Club this Saturday, September 24.

A remarkable handicap scheme has been worked out by Charles Read and C. H. Boice, by which each hotel manager must handicap himself for the tournament, and the player who gets nearest his own scratch score will win the famous Gordon trophy.

WICHITA CHAMPIONS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WICHITA (Kan.) Sept. 22.—Wichita clinched the Western League championship yesterday by defeating St. Joseph.

BENGALS PLAY LIKE SHADOWS.

Salt Lake Handles Them as a Kid Tosses Toys.

Faeth and Love Battered to All Corners of Lot.

Stumpy Edington Gets Running for Sandlot Work.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

With the Tigers putting on a rueful and homelike scene, Salt Lake again seized the great opportunity presented and made it three straight by a score of 14 to 1.

The Bees became muscle-bound from swinging their bats, and bow-legged and wind-broke from running the bases, while the home athletes didn't raise any more sweat than a fish in ice water. Ad for all the resistance they offered, Bill Essick might as well have been playing nine shadows on the field, and those very pale, anemic shadows which have just been through a hard sickness.

HOLDS TIGERS.

Jay Gould held Vernon to seven hits, and would have decorated them with the order of the cipher but for a bad throw by the usually reliable Heinie Sand in the third, Ham Hyatt rising to the occasion with a double just behind this bobble.

Secretary Jack Cook of the Bees was all swelled up like a poisoned pup. This gave rise to the rumor that he has a new kind of imported flu, but in reality he was only expanding with unwholesome pride.

AWFUL PITCHING.

Tony Faeth and Slim Love essayed to pitch and gave a good imitation of retreating from Moscow in the bitter cold. They pitched with their collars turned up to protect their ears from the line drives. Faeth, after a bad start, when Salt Lake counted three for the first, settled somewhat until the fifth, when in the natural course of events he was knocked out. Love didn't have even an orthodox prayer on the pill, and between the Salt Lake batting and loose support was spanked for the remaining eight runs.

Essick then showed up his own pitchers, by having Rollie Zeider go in the box and blank the visitors in the ninth. Mr. Zeider displayed many beautiful curves, especially from the knees down. His left leg was a wide out curve, and his right leg a sweeping inshoot. Both legs appeared to have a sharp break to

ESSEX

Men Know It Best for Reliability

No other thing counts so much with men buying cars today. Of course they are alive to the appeal of low cost and economical maintenance. But not at the sacrifice of quality.

With nearly 60,000 owners giving a solid verdict for Essex reliability, it is not surprising that you perhaps also know it best for its enduring abilities.

But do not overlook its other striking appeals. It is because at its low price Essex gives qualities obtainable elsewhere only in far costlier cars that it has won such an important forward position among the sales leaders in so brief a time.

WHITTIER POETS LAYING FOR CONFERENCE ELEVENS; OVERIN CHOSEN POMONA'S LINE COACH

BY PAUL LOWRY.

One of the gridiron classics of the southern conference schedule this year will be the Occidental-Whittier clash at Hadley Field on October 15. Whittier defeated Occidental rather unexpectedly last season, and the Tigers are fairly itching for a chance to even up the score.

On the other hand, Whittier, with its 1920 eleven intact and several new players on hand quite likely to crowd off a few veterans, is confidently contemplating another meal of Tiger chops.

If beef and brawn on the line and smartness in the backfield count for things awfully rough for Occidental thinks awfully rough for Occidental as well as the other conference members.

For a scoring machine the Poets have the same combination that ran hog wild on S.B.U.C. in the final 1920 scramble, scoring 103 points to 0. Injuries in midseason prevented Whittier from putting its best eleven in the field, but even with this advantage Pomona, conference champion, was only able to scratch out a 14-to-0 win on a treacherous field covered with gumbo.

Suggett is the star of the backfield. He is as hard a hitter as Bull Finch was in the old days and

Boxing Commission Refuses to Turn Over Money to the Middleweight Champ.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

JERSEY CITY (N. J.) Sept. 22. A precedent in championship boxing annals was set today by the New Jersey boxing commission when it deprived Johnny Wilson, middleweight titleholder, of the $35,000 purse he was to have received for his labor day bout with Bryan Downey of Cleveland. Wilson was found guilty by the commission of failing to put forth his best efforts. Withholding of the purse was deemed proper punishment.

The commission announced that it was not certain as to the legality of the action and would take steps to learn the extent of its authority. Meanwhile Tex Rickard, promoter, was directed to place the money in trust.

Counsel for Wilson indicated that the case would be taken to the courts.

Wilson met Downey in a twelve-round affair here labor day to settle the dispute over their bout in Cleveland, in which Downey claimed he had won by a knockout but the referee had counted too slowly.

Danny Frush Lays Claim to Feather Title.

CLEVELAND (O.) Sept. 22.—Declaring that he had been deliberately fouled several times, Danny Frush of Baltimore, who was knocked out by Johnny Kilbane last Saturday in the contest for the featherweight championship, issued a signed statement today in which he claims the title. He said he was not only fouled in the first round, when Kilbane hit him in the groin with his knee, but later on, when the champion continued fighting after the bell had rung and Frush had dropped his arms.

Frush explained that he waited with his statement until the public had a chance to see the moving pictures of the bout.

The statement adds: "I am now ready to defend the title against any and all comers."

MISS STIRLING WINS OVER MRS. GAVIN.

OTTAWA, Sept. 22.—Miss Alexa Stirling of Atlanta today eliminated Mrs. W. A. Gavin of New York from the Canadian ladies' open golf championship tournament, 4 and 2.

Tomorrow Miss Stirling will meet Miss Cecil Leitch, British champion, in one of the semifinal matches. Miss Leitch today defeated Miss Sidney Peppler of Toronto, 7 and 6.

Sisler's Homer Cinches Game for the Browns.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—Cleveland won from Boston, 9 to 8, in twelve innings today, virtually keeping pace with New York in the battle for first place. The Indians won on O'Neill's double, pinch hitter Speaker's infield out, and Jamieson's fast bounder. Speaker nearly collapsed in running out his roller to Pratt. Sotherton's poor fielding of bunts, Sewell's muff of an easy fly which let in two runs and a freak three-base hit by Walters which Smith lost in the sun were factors in the Boston scoring. PETER MANNING FAILS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

COLUMBUS (O.) Sept. 22.—Grand circuit racing was resumed today after a lapse of two days due to rain. The spectators were entertained not only by thrilling finishes but also by the time trial of Peter Manning, 1:58, who attempted to lower the track record of 1:01 set nearly a decade ago by the Harvester. Accompanied by a runner he went to the half in fifty-nine seconds, and it appeared for a moment as if he would equal his own record, or break it. However wind slowed him up and he passed the wire in 1:59 1-4.

The M. and M. trot for 2:14 eligibles was won by Jeannette Rankin, only after she dropped the first heat to Princess Etawah in 2:08 1-4.

Guardian Trust met his first defeat of the season when he lost the horse review futurity trot for 3-year-olds, one heat of which was raced Tuesday. Guardian Trust made stretch breaks and Rose Scott won the two heats contested today and first money. Periscope was handily the best performer in the 2:05 Capital City trot, and won as she pleased. Sir Roche, a western pacer, won the 2:07 pace and the 2:15 trot was easy for Klio, the Good Time stable trotter.

He came to the Coast last year, new to football in this part of the country. Under him the Oregon Aggies had a successful season, but not all that had been hoped for. This year, with his knowledge of the game in the West and stronger material than in 1920, great things are expected by his followers at Corvallis.

Guy L. Rathbun is Rutherford's first assistant. Rathbun came to Oregon Agricultural College from the University of Indiana, where he was first assistant to Jumbo Stiehm. Bob Hager, who coached the Oregon Aggies last year, will also be on the job.

A SHREWD ONE.

With Gus Welch at the helm at Washington State College the Cougars have one of the shrewdest football mentors in the country. Many are backing the Pullman boys to win the Coast championship this year, and their confidence is based quite as much on Welch as on the playing material. Welch showed that he had plenty of nerve last year when he threw off the squad some of his best players, who had been indulging in rows among themselves and whom he blamed in large measure for the overwhelming defeat by California. Welch gets much assistance in building up his teams from J. Fred Bohler, director of athletics, one of the best-known men in western athletics.

CHICK EVANS WINS MATCH.

to the left of the flag. The large gallery was motionless while Evans surveyed his treacherous putt, and he planted his feet firmly for the effort to hole out. The putt took the hillside as though it were running through a slot and dropped into the hole for a birdie three, so exact had he estimated the distance. Sweetser did not try to hole his putt, as a halve would do him no good and Chick generously conceded him a three, making his defeat one down instead of two as it likely would have been.

THIRD TIME.

This was the third time today that Evans demonstrated his ability to putt when necessary.

In the match between Hunter and Jones the winner was down nearly all the way. The Atlanta player, going out in 34, one under par, made the first turn 3 up and although he slipped on the second nine and took 41, he was still 2 up at the 13th hole, with his 75. Hunter having scored 76.

Hunter soon overcame this advantage in the afternoon when Jones found a bunker with his second on the nineteenth hole and took five while the Briton scored a perfect four after topping his drive. Each had a chance for a two on the 221-yard twentieth, but missed by inches and Hunter squared the match on the short twenty-first, when Bobby took three putts. Jones won the next hole for a new lead by chipping dead to the cup from a deep sand trap into which his heeled iron had fallen, fussing his opponent so that he missed his three-foot putt for a four.

They halved the twenty-third in birdie fours and the twenty-fourth in perfect fours and Jones became two up when the Briton required four strokes for the baby twenty-fifth. Jones's advantage flickered out on the next two holes as he got into the brook on the boomerang twenty-sixth and the Briton pitched dead for a birdie four on the long twenty-seventh, squaring the match with his par 35 for the third nine.

JONES TAKES LEAD.

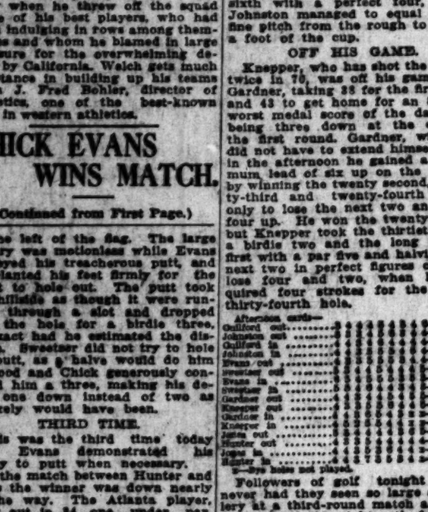
Turning into the home stretch they halved the first three holes in perfect figures. Then the American took the lead for the last time with a par five on the 568-yard thirty-first as the invader took seven. Hunter sank an eighteen-foot putt on the thirty-second green for a birdie three and was again on even terms when Jones got a four.

Jones became one down on the long thirty-third by missing a two-foot putt for a halve and two down on the 180-yard thirty-fourth, by pulling his tee shot to the rough and taking four. They halved the thirty-fifth in perfect fours and the Briton was victor, 3 and 1.

The struggle between Guilford and Johnston was a ding-dong battle from the first tee to the thirty-sixth green, where Johnston could do no better than halve in four and lose one down. The Minnesota champion going out in the morning in 33 to Guilford's 37, turned the first quarter post one down and coming home in 39, the same as his opponent, was still one down. On the third nine Johnston set the first three holes in three each, but his birdie three on the nineteenth was equaled by the Boston golfer, who became one down by losing the twentieth and twenty-first. Johnston got into trouble on the twenty-fourth and took six, but won the long twenty-seventh with a birdie four for a par thirty-five out and turned home, one up. They halved the next four holes in par and the thirty-second in one over par, but Guilford squared the match on the long thirty-third with a birdie four. They were both over the 150-yard thirty-fourth green and took four each. Guilford snatched the lead at the thirty-fifth when Johnston was over the green in two for a five and clinched the victory on the thirty-sixth with a perfect four, which Johnston managed to equal with a fine pitch from the rough to within a foot of the cup.

OFF HIS GAME.

Knepper, who has shot the course twice in 76, was off his game with Gardner, taking 81 for the first nine and 43 to get home for an 81, the worst medal score of the day, and being three down at the end of the first round. Gardner, with 76, did not have to extend himself, and in the afternoon he gained a maximum lead of six up on the Iowan, by winning the twenty second, twenty-third and twenty-fourth holes, only to lose the next two and turn four up. He won the twenty-ninth, but Knepper took the thirtieth with a birdie two and the long thirty-first with a four and halving the next two in perfect figures only to lose four and two, when he required four strokes for the short thirty-fourth hole.



Followers of golf tonight said never had they seen so large a gallery at a third-round match as that which lined the eighteenth fairway when Evans defeated Sweetser, and who swarmed over the field during the final stages of Jones's defeat. The spectators included many gaily dressed women, who, in their eagerness to see the contest, all but bore away the rope barriers and trampled down the numerous marshals who handled the crowd excellently under the conditions.

At one hole Hunter complained that the buzzing of the multitude, estimated to number 3000 persons, bothered his game, and on the fifteenth green Jones was forced to postpone his putt until the crowd became quiet.

The balls of the two international contestants were marked by four caddies, who stuck a British banner in the fairway near Hunter's ball, on each drive, and planted the Stars and Stripes near Jones's ball.

MARINE CORPS WINS BIG SHOOT.

CAMP PERRY (O.) Sept. 22.—After leading for the first four stages in the national rifle team match of the National Rifle Association tournament, the United States infantry was forced to bow to the United States Marine Corps' team late today and when firing ceased was in second place, five points behind.

The marines took the lead with a total of 2851 in the last stage on the 1000-yard range, against 2846 for the infantry.

BENGALS PLAY LIKE SHADOWS.

them which cut the corners of his pants, and had the batters completely buffaloed. Then the man at the plate would get a front view of Zeider's nose, think it an out drop, swing and miss it by sixty feet. Mr. Zeider also has universal ankle joints, and when he wound up these would rattle, and the batter would draw away thinking that a snake was about to strike him.

DUFFY IS THERE.

Duffy Lewis crowned a day of insult and injury by busting a homer over the larboard fence at the start of the eighth. He aimed at the flag pole, his purpose being to compel the Tigers to drag in their pennant and decorate their hole with it.

Salt Lake really won in the first inning, and the faithful present seemed to realize as much, as they immediately began razzing the home talent. In that inning, Faeth walked one, hit one, emitted a wild pitch, and was speared for two singles. Three runs.

CHET'S FIRST.

Those attending were in a way repaid for their trouble, by seeing Chet Chadbourne compile his first error in eighty-six games. This was in the fifth, when a single by Sand got away from him, and it was unquestionably in a measure due to the condition of the playing surface in center field.

Stumpy Edington was bitterly criticized for making three errors in five chances, for a fielding percentage of .400, which is a fine batting percentage. Stumpy muffed one foul, and allowed two grounders to grass-hopper through him, which caused it to be said that he forgot to wipe his hands when he left his soap factory to play ball last spring.

FLU HELPS THEM.

Jack Cook contends that the flu has brought up the temperature of the Salt Lake players and made them warm numbers. Others, however, attribute the phenomenon of losing three straight to sloppy indolence on the part of the Tigers. Ambition curled up in them and died, and is now rotting.

"That's what I call taking money under false pretenses," moaned a man, who appeared to be suffering from malaria, as he dragged himself out of his seat.

Such a charge is false and scandalous. As far as we have been able to learn, the Tigers are making no pretense of playing ball.

It is believed they have read every man is entitled to two weeks' vacation on salary.

JIM GETS RATE.

Jim Morley was out with a fresh manicure. Jim sits under the bright lights all night and then comes out to the ball yard to get needed sleep in the afternoon. Mr. Morley, having only three fingers on one hand, can afford manicures more frequently than others. He gets a cut-rate of 40 cents on the remaining fingers, which with 10-cent tip makes grand total 50 cents. When as a mere boy he stuck that mitt into a buzz saw, few of the neighbors recognized in him a rising young financier. The casualties:

OAKLAND, Sept. 22.—Oakland hit Prough hard today and won a 7-to-4 victory over Sacramento. Oakland took the lead in the seventh inning, when three runs were scored on bunched hits.

McGaffigan's home run in the seventh, scoring Prough ahead of him, was the outstanding feature of the game. The ball landed near the clubhouse at the far end of the park.

quarters at Santa Barbara, is in wonderful shape for his main event bout with Joe Coffey, the 1921 sensation. Coffey by far is in much better shape than during his two previous encounters at the Hollywood Legion.

Both George Marks and Frankie Dolan are awaiting the hour at which they step weigh in at the stipulated weight for their match for the bantamweight championship of the Pacific Coast. They meet in the semi-wind-up. However, the bout sounds more like a main event—it has all the characteristics of such.

NEIL VS. DENNY.

Starting tonight's show will be Sailor Neil of the U.S.S. Texas, a battling 135-pounder, who hooks up with Ed Denny. Crowley originally scheduled Larry Osbrink to meet the bluejacket. Osbrink withdrew yesterday at his doctor's orders, having sustained an injured ear while training.

The boxing tars from the Navy are to be much in evidence. Of the five preliminary bouts, four will have a sailor as one of the principals.

ALLEN VS. CLINE.

Sailor Allen of the U.S.S. Idaho is to take on Johnny Cline at 145 pounds. The crew of the Idaho are backing Allen to the limit. Sailor Walters, also a boxer from the Idaho, is carded to meet Louis Garcia at 128 pounds. In battling Garcia, Walters will be meeting a tough boy. Sailor Constantine of the U.S.S. Mississippi's flock of boxers will battle Young Hoppe from San Diego. The remaining match will see Race Horse Roberts and Al Nelson in action, at 158 pounds.

WHITTIER LAYS FOR ELEVENS.

Bull was rated about as high as any of them. Where Suggett has the edge on Finch is in his ability to pick holes. He is not as good a forward passer as was Bull, but he is clever, and is nifty on the sending end of a punt.

"Russ" Thompson, half, Ray Johns, quarter, and Reece full, make up the rest of the quartet behind the line. None of them can hit a line quite as hard as Suggett, but each one has his strong points in the way of fight and courage and tenacity.

Weight in the line—190 pounds from tackle to tackle— and speed in the backfield are factors which Coach Esek Perry and Assistant Coach Brueckner hope to mold out a winning production.

Substitutions won't bother the Poets. The old chestnut about using the college janitor is deader than the proverbial door nail. By actual count there were twenty-six linemen and eleven backfield athletes on the field last night, and the squad has been cut from fifty to its present size.

Because of the rule permitting Whittier to use its freshmen all these men are varsity timebrs, and Perry and Brueckner consider this number quite enough to work on for a varsity.

Enthusiasm surged over the campus yesterday when Leland Johns, captain and end, returned. His arrival completed the 1920 roll call. Return of Joe Buckmaster, tackle on the 1916 eleven which played Occidental to the memorable 12-13 tie, also was hailed with joy. Buckmaster is fifteen pounds or so heavier, having put it on in the timber camps of the Northwest, and is as hard as hard-tack.

Things are certainly looking up at Whittier, and though Coach Perry says he won't know what kind of an eleven he has until December 1 it's a good guess that it will be a mighty good one.

Pomona's stock was boosted a couple of notches when Head Coach Eugene Nixon announced that Courtney Overin had been picked as his assistant.

Overin is a Pomona alumnus, class of '15, was a guard of note, being picked for the all-southern his last year in college and receiving mention on Walter Camp's all-American. This was a notable distinction, as Camp had never previously traveled west of the Rockies.

Following his college days Overin played on the Olympic Club team for two years, helped coach at California on its return to American football, tutored at Lowell High School, San Francisco, and here in the south has coached at South Pasadena High and Venice High. He guided the lightweights at Venice last year, and they advanced to the final round for the Southern California championship, being beaten by L. A. High.

Overin is head of the history department at Venice High this year. To assist his alma mater he has to make the trip to Los Angeles each afternoon and then on out to Claremont.

HEADS OWN COMPANY.

IRVING CUMMINGS TO STAR IN FILMS AND DIRECT.

By Grace Kingsley.

The latest picture star to head his own company is Irving Cummings. The announcement of his plans was made yesterday by Messrs. Irving M. Lesser and Mike Rosenburg, on the eve of their departure for the East. The Western Pictures Exploitation Company will release Cummings's pictures.

The star will produce a series of twenty-four pictures, which he will likewise direct, it is stated. Two of these pictures have already been made. These are "Jules of the River" and "Trapped." All the Cummings pictures will have the Northwest Mounted Police atmosphere and will be filmed in the far-away northland, where abundance of snow and icy regions are at the beck and call of the producer-star.

Mr. Cummings has been in town conferring with Messrs. Lesser and Rosenburg, but will take his company back to the north next Monday to start his third feature. He is busy now purchasing snowsleds, furs and dogs for the long trip to take into Canada and, possibly, Alaska.

An interesting item of the announcement is the word that Mrs. Irving Cummings, herself an actress of fine ability, will cease putting on the grease paint and will assist her husband in his stories. Mrs. Cummings has had experience as a story writer and scenario expert, in addition to her prowess in the make-up and of the picture business.

Norris Johnson, who has appeared with Mr. Cummings in many of his pictures, will probably do so again in the next.

Speaking of the new series, Mr. Lesser declared: "The Cummings pictures will be an excellent series. As an example of their merit, the first of the two already made had its eastern showing at the Rialto Theater in New York City. All Mr. Cummings's features will be given exhibition in the best theaters throughout the country."

Mr. Cummings will be remembered as taking prominent roles in "Sex," "The Round Up," "The Whip," "The Auction of Souls," "Everywoman," and others. He has played opposite Ethel Barrymore, Nazimova and many other feminine stars.

William Russell, Hero.

Not all acts of heroism which the film stars perform happen when the camera is grinding. Word has just leaked out of an act of heroism on the part of William Russell, Fox star, last Sunday, when he saved his brother, Albert Russell, Universal director, from drowning in the surf near Playa del Rey, when the two were swimming.

William Russell had come out of the breakers and was resting on the beach, still clad in his bathing suit. He was chatting with Al Russell's wife, known professionally as Vola Vale, and playing with his little niece, when he observed that his brother, still swimming in the surf, seemed to be in trouble, and unable to reach shore.

Russell at once realized that the undertow was strong, and, without saying anything of his fears to the rest of the party, he swam to the aid of his brother, who, though struggling with all his strength, was being rapidly carried out to sea.

The picture star reached his brother, and advised the rapidly tiring man to turn on his back and float. Both adopted this course, and the surface currents carried them a quarter of a mile down the coast and into the breakers. Russell caught hold of his brother and the two, riding a wave, were tossed into shallow water.

This act recalls the fact that William Russell in between theatrical seasons used to earn his living by acting as life guard at Cape May, on the Atlantic Coast. In all he has to his credit twenty-nine rescues.

What's in a Name?

Raymond McKee Can Prove It.

While shooting a coyote may not be the maddest sport in the world, still it's pretty good sport for the corner of Santa Monica and La Brea avenue in Hollywood. Raymond McKee is the Nimrod who encountered the animal. It was while he was on his way to work early the other morning.

And he can show you the hide to prove it!

Gloria Swanson to Flit.

Once you get the traveling habit, it's hard to quit, take it from Gloria Swanson. Having only just returned from New York, and hardly having had time to unpack her trunks, Miss Swanson is going as far away as the Rio Grande to make scenes for "The Husband's Trademark," her next Paramount picture.

The story is by Clara Beranger, adapted by Lorna Moon. Thompson Buchanan will supervise with Sam Wood directing.

Besides Miss Swanson there appear in the cast Richard Wayne, Stuart Holmes, Lucien Littlefield, Charles Ogle and Edythe Chapman.

Meighan's Next.

"If You Believe It, It's So," with Thomas Meighan starred and Tom Forman directing, will be commenced at the Lasky studio October 3. This is a story by Perley Poore Sheehan, which the late George Loane Tucker had hopes to produce when death intervened.

Constance at County Fair.

It looks as though Constance Binney were going to win a silver cup, by heck!

Just my way of proving that even if she is a city bred girl, she is also a fine horsewoman, Miss Binney is taking part in the events of the horse show division of the Los Angeles County Fair.

Subway for Sale.

If the city of Los Angeles needs a good second-hand subway, Herbert Rawlinson knows where one can be procured cheap. It's out at Universal City, and was built, at big expense, for scenes in Rawlinson's latest starring vehicle, "The Millionaire."

It is said that there is a real subway train which runs on tracks and that it defies the closest scrutiny to differentiate it in any way from the Metropolitan system.

Ince Announces.

The first production by Thomas H. Ince for the new releasing program of the Associated First National is a society and western drama from the pen of Bradley King, according to announcement yesterday.

"Jim" is the title of the special, which will include an all-star cast. Florence Vidor and John Bowers have already been signed for two of the leading roles and it is stated that the cast will include at least three more featured players.

John Griffith Wray, who recently completed "Hail the Woman," will direct the Bradley King story. It is expected that the feature will be commenced Monday. This will mark the formal opening of the studios following several weeks of inactivity.

Another Ince announcement is to the effect that Del Andrews is to handle the megaphone for the forthcoming comedy special, "The Hottentot," featuring Douglas MacLean.

Sounds Reasonable.

And speaking of Herbert Rawlinson, a newcomer at the St. Catherine Hotel at Catalina was heard to remark, the other night, "Seems awfully quiet around here!"

"Yes," was the response, "Herbert Rawlinson has gone home!"

Louise Lovely Leaves.

Having completed work in "The Daughter of Brahma," Louise Lovely has motored to San Francisco to make a personal appearance at the Tivoli Theater with her first San Francisco-made starring picture, "The Heart of the North."

Patsy Ruth Miller Discovered.

They're as busy as ever Columbusing out at the Goldwyn studio. And as a substitute Columbus for Samuel Goldwyn, Abraham Lehr, general manager, is right up in the active list.

The latest discovery is Patsy Ruth Miller, a very pretty young girl, who has been playing in pictures, and who it was yesterday announced is to assume the feminine lead with Cullen Landis in "The City Feller," from Julian Josephson's story. William Baudine is directing.

Miss Miller can give the w.k. Cinderella cards and spades and then beat her, when it comes to the good luck stuff. She came out with her parents from her home in St. Louis a little more than a year ago. Down at the beach, one evening, when she was dining in one of the cafes with some friends, Douglas Gerrard saw her. (Trust Gerrard to find a way to meet anybody who takes his fancy!) He managed an introduction, asked her if she wanted to play in pictures, and engaged her for a part in a Metro film he was directing with Geraldine as star. She proved very clever in her work, so clever indeed that Thomas H. Ince engaged her for some small parts, since which time she has been working almost steadily.

One day she traveled out to the Goldwyn studios, just when they happened to be looking for somebody to play the lead opposite Landis. She at once signed a contract for the part, and it is likely that she will obtain a long-term contract at that studio, ere long.

Mother for "Hungry Hearts."

Another Goldwyn acquisition is Sonia Marcelle, who is well known to the Jewish theater in New York, both as actress and director. She has been engaged to play the mother role in "Hungry Hearts."

Betty Blythe Flits.

Having triumphed here, when she made her personal appearance at the Philharmonic Auditorium accompanying "The Queen of Sheba," last Monday night, Betty Blythe feels encouraged to keep up the good work. She is to leave for San Francisco today, and will make at least two personal appearances there in connection with the showing of the Fox feature.

Here and There.

Gaston Glass has been engaged to play the lead opposite Shirley Mason in the Fox feature, Sidney Dalbrook's "Little Aileen." Others in the cast will be Lule Warrenton and Dan Morgan, ex-pugilist.

Raymond Cannon has signed with Goldwyn to enact a rural juvenile in "The City Feller."

Dulcie Cooper has been put under contract with Fox.

Sylvia Breamer is playing opposite William Russell in the latter's newest Fox picture, "The Roof Tree." Florence Deshon also has a leading role.

Robert McKim and Spottiswoode Aitken have been added to the cast of "Monte Cristo."

Sutherland With Fox.

They had an awful time finding a leading man for Eileen Percy in her latest picture, work on which has just been commenced. A score of young actors were tried out, and yesterday it was settled that Eddie Sutherland was the handsome youth best suited to the role. Others in the cast are Lillian Lambert and Harvey Clark.

REVIVAL OF "POPPY."

For its cleverness Norma Talmadge is to be featured in a revival of one of her most successful pictures, "Poppy," at Tally's next week.

Edith Clifford,

Clever vaudeville star, formerly a resident of this city, who is to entertain next week at the Orpheum.

BRITISH RIGHTS SOLD.

"Peck's Bad Boy" is Contracted for in England.

Three days after Charlie Chaplin's "The Kid" was first shown in London, British film executives closed a contract for the exhibition rights to "Peck's Bad Boy," starring Jackie Coogan, it is announced. The arrangements were made between the Associated First National Pictures, Inc., and David P. Howells, the foreign film representative. The exhibition contract covers the British possessions and all of England, excluding Australia.

With this sale, it is reported that the Coogan picture has also been disposed of for France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden. In American coin, the England purchase price would amount in the neighborhood of $100,000, according to statement given out.

INSTALLING ORGAN AT KINEMA THEATER.

The concrete vaults which will house the orchestral pipes of the Kinema's new organ were completed by the contractors yesterday and now are in readiness for the installation.

It is expected that when the organ is completed its cost will be in excess of $70,000. It will have a five-manual keyboard. The echo organ will be installed in the rear of the balcony, while a complete orchestral organ will be portioned throughout the proscenium arches.

OAKLAND MANAGER VISITS.

Eugene L. Perry, manager of Loew's State Theater, Oakland, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday for a week's visit to look over the theatrical situation here. Perry is accompanied by Mrs. Perry and Eugene Lawrence, Jr. During his stay he will visit the studios and make arrangements for persons' appearances of various stars in the northern theater. He is making his headquarters with Nat Holt, manager of the new Loew's State Theater. Perry has been connected with the Loew circuit for a little over a year, prior to that having been with the Shuberts, Keith and other organizations.

MUSIC FOR FERBER STORY.

A special musical accompaniment arranged by George Evans, director and violin soloist at the Superba Theater, will add to the presentation of "No Woman Knows," the feature offering at the Superba next week. The program will especially please the music lover who is fond of Tschaikowsky. Three of his numbers will be played, "Chanson Trieste," "Ye Who Have Yearned Alone" and "March Slave" for overture. Another number on the program will be the Sacred Hebrew melody, "Eli, Eli." "Forgotten," Eugene Cowles's song, will be another. There is a separate theme for each character.

REPORT THAT MARY HAS BOUGHT RIGHTS.

By Edwin Schallert.

That Mary Pickford may again produce "Tess of the Storm Country" is the news forthcoming from the East on the eve of the star's departure for Europe. While this fact is not officially admitted, it is reported on good authority that Miss Pickford has bought back the rights to the story from Famous Players-Lasky. It is also said to be likely that she will film it while abroad.

"Tess of the Storm Country" was one of Miss Pickford's best-known features. The price paid for the rights is understood to be considerable.

Neilan Returning.

Having settled details of his forthcoming production of "Penrod" on a flying trip to New York, Marshall Neilan is expected to arrive here in a day or so.

"Penrod," which is to have as its star Wesley Barry, will be filmed immediately on his return.

Takes Air Route.

Making his pocketbook fit his art, instead of his art fitting his pocketbook, is an exploit, for which Herbert Heyes is now receiving a round of verbal applause at the Hollywood Community Theater.

It seems that Mr. Heyes, who was formerly leading man at the Morosco Theater, was scheduled for a rehearsal in "Ropes," the one-act play at the Community playhouse last Friday evening. Mr. Heyes was also scheduled to work Saturday morning in a Universal feature being filmed on Catalina Island. Considering the distance between Hollywood and Avalon, Mr. Heyes could hardly be expected to meet both of these engagements. But he did not importune Neely Dickson, director at the theater, to excuse him from rehearsal, urging the well-paid claims of the films. Instead, he chartered a hydroplane, appeared at rehearsal Friday night and at an early hour Saturday morning departed via the air line to report for work in Catalina.

Will Cast First Play.

Casting is about to begin for the first play by the new Co-operative Repertory Theater Association, according to announcement made at a meeting this week by Hart McEnroy, director. Said play is the "Yellow Jacket," the Chinese dramatic thriller.

The association has now enrolled more than 200 members, according to Mr. McEnroy's statement. Expectations are for starting presentations at an early date.

At the meeting—which was held in the Hollywood library—Mrs. W. W. Burton, president of the Los Angeles branch of the Drama League, gave an address of encouragement and practical value. J. Colodny spoke on the talent to be obtained in this immediate vicinity and the definite need of plays that represent a high type of drama. Miss Joan Warren gave an interesting description of sets that she is prepared to design, in which curtains largely take the place of conventional scenery.

Colleen Moore Vacations.

For the first time in the last seven months, Colleen Moore is having a rest between pictures. Miss Moore recently finished the title role in "The Wall Flower," the Rupert Hughes story, produced by Goldwyn. It will be two weeks before she starts another picture at the same studio. Her vacation before beginning "The Wall Flower" lasted exactly one hour, for at 12 o'clock noon one Thursday, she finished "Slippy McGee" at the Oliver Morosco studio, and at 1 o'clock she reported to Maj. Hughes for the opening scenes in his production.

Turpin Soon on Job.

Ben Turpin is expected to return to the Mack Sennett studios to commence work on his series of two-reel comedies early in October.

"A Cousin of Mine."

Madge Bellamy, leading woman for Jack Holt in "The Call of the North," and Tom Forman, director, have just discovered that they are cousins.

Both were born in Texas. Miss Bellamy went from there to become an actress on the stage in New York. Tom became a movie favorite and later a director.

Not much more than a year ago, Miss Bellamy entered the films. Recently she was engaged for the Jack Holt picture, directed by Joseph Henaberry. Tom Forman was finishing Thomas Meighan's "A Prince There Was"—and they met—for the first time.

THOUSAND MORE POLICE NEEDED.

Conclusion of Conference on Protection Difficulty.

William Byrnes's System to Guard Residence Parts.

Chief Praise It; Say It Won't Solve Problem.

How far more efficient police protection for the residential parts of the city were discussed yesterday when the Police Committee of the Chamber of Commerce met with Chief of Police, two former chiefs, ex-sheriff, a member of the police and representatives of various civic organizations. The committee will continue its investigation in an effort to find a solution of the problem.

The opinion of the meeting was that the only way in which the city can be given adequate police protection is by appointing additional policemen. A system was devised by Ira W. Byrnes, who has been making a study of the police affairs here for years, whereby stations would be established throughout the city, within a reasonable run of any locality. Mr. Byrnes's system calls for police stations, each covering about four miles square. He would have four men in each district and patrol that locality once each hour.

Chief Crandall, who presided, asked former Chiefs Pendegast and Butler and former Sheriff Hammel and asked their opinion of the present system. They stated that they had considered Mr. Byrnes's plan for some time and that it would undoubtedly increase the power of the department. The situation in the city will not be met until nearly 1000 men have been added to the force.

Police Commissioner De Coo was asked to state the opinion of the commission on the problem. He expressed the belief that nothing substantial can be done without a revision of the charter to permit of the employment of more policemen. He advocated an increase in the executive staff of the department but ended with the assertion that "we must have more men."

Those attending the conference were Sylvester Weaver, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Chief of Police Jones, Police Commissioners De Coo and De la Monte, Ira W. Byrnes, former Chiefs Pendegast and Butler, former Sheriff Hammel, Councilman Criswell, R. H. Raphael, R. W. Burnham, Roy Malcolm, R. T. Burge and R. W. Fridham.

LOSES SPEECH WHILE EATING.

Man Stricken Dumb Also is Unable to Hold Pencil, Surgeons Discover.

Rendered dumb by some strange ailment while eating in a cafe near Fifth and Hill streets yesterday, Robert R. Boykin, 28 years of age, believed to be from New Orleans, was taken to the Receiving Hospital and placed under observation by police surgeons. Boykin, who also was unable to write, was identified by letters in his pockets.

According to the police who made an investigation of the strange case, Boykin, who had been living at 247 South Main street, was able to talk yesterday morning. At about noon he was picked up speechless in the cafe. At the Receiving Hospital he seemed to be able to understand when spoken to but was unable to reply. He could not hold a pencil in his hand.

A mother's problem—what food gives back the energy a child uses up daily?

CHILDREN use up a tremendous amount of energy every day. Every mother of a healthy, sturdy youngster will testify to this. Children need richly nourishing food to supply this energy, and also to supply food for growth.

The selection of this food is your most important duty. You cannot give too much care to this matter. Grape-Nuts, the rich, wholesome cereal, made from whole wheat flour and malted barley, with milk or cream, supplies very necessary requirements for the growing child.

If you want to help your children to be rosy, sturdy, full of vitality and vigor, give them plenty of delicious Grape-Nuts, crisp, sweet and satisfying

Go to your grocer today and get a package of health-building Grape-Nuts. Give the youngsters this invigorating food with milk or cream, and see how they will thrive on it and grow strong, robust and sturdy.

Grape-Nuts—the Body Builder

Beware of Tender Gums

Unhealthy soil kills the best of wheat. Unhealthy gums kill the best of teeth. To keep the teeth sound, keep the gums well. Watch for tender and bleeding gums. This is a symptom of Pyorrhea, which afflicts four out of five people over forty.

Pyorrhea menaces the body as well as the teeth. Not only do the gums recede and cause the teeth to decay, loosen and fall out, but the infecting Pyorrhea germs lower the body's vitality and cause many serious ills.

To avoid Pyorrhea, visit your dentist frequently for teeth and gum inspection. And use Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress, if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's will keep the gums firm and healthy, the teeth white and clean. Start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

LICKLEY GIVEN HIGHER POST.

Is Assistant Superintendent of Schools Here.

Long War is Settled by Action of Education Board.

Procedure is Objected to by Two of Members.

Settling a fight that has raged for years, both above and below the surface of educational affairs in Los Angeles, the Board of Education yesterday elected Dr. E. J. Lickley, director of compulsory education, and child welfare, as an assistant superintendent of schools. The discussion, which split one board, and which was the indirect cause of one superintendent resigning, came up a week ago in a closed session of the present body. Over the vote of two members, however, the matter was settled yesterday.

On the motion of Miss M. Jessie York, board member, a report prepared by the committee of the whole was adopted. It created the position of another assistant superintendent and named Dr. Lickley as the man to fill the position. Those voting for the measure were Messrs. Bettinger, Elliott, Craig and Muma, and Miss York. Charles Seaman, president of the board, voted against the measure, as did Mary C. Millspaugh. Robert W. Odell declined to vote.

GIVES REASONS.

In voting against the measure, Mr. Seaman issued a statement to the board in which he said:

"I vote against this nomination not on account of the personality or qualifications of the nominee, with whom I have the most friendly relations, but because I believe it is not a good policy for this Board of Education to make such an appointment without a recommendation by the superintendent, or after a careful study of the whole situation by the board in conference with the superintendent.

"It would seem to be better for the welfare of the service first to show the need of such a position, then make an appointment after considering the best available candidates. This course, in my opinion, centers the responsibility and is more conducive to efficiency, confidence and harmony."

In a statement issued by Mrs. Millspaugh, following the vote, she intimated that the action of the board was unusual. Her statement reads:

"In voting against this report I wish to say that if the office had been created in the usual way I should have been in favor of it. I objected to the form of procedure. If the office is to be created I am in favor of Dr. Lickley to fill it."

Mr. Odell, in declining to vote, stated that he believed the position should first have been created and then filled by Dr. Lickley. He stated that he was in favor of the new position and believed Dr. Lickley the best qualified man to fill it, but that it was his opinion that the two moves should have been made separately.

Mr. Bettinger stated that the compulsory education department of Los Angeles has attained world-wide fame through the efforts of Dr. Lickley and that it was his opinion that, if the work of the department is to be furthered, recognition should be given the man responsible. He lauded the work of the department head and said that his work is recognized throughout the East as the most successful in America. Miss York added that she believed no one better than Dr. Lickley could be found and that his work is the most valuable in the school system, as it is realted solely to character building.

HERE EIGHTEEN YEARS.

Dr. Lickley has been with the Los Angeles schools for eighteen years. He is a graduate of New York City Normal School where he taught one year. He then came West and was admitted to the bar. Besides being director of the compulsory education and child welfare of the schools, he is secretary of the Church Federation, president of the City Social Service Commission, member of the County Public Welfare Commission and assistant professor at the University of Southern California, of which he is a graduate.

Dr. Lickley's term as director will conclude with the abolition of his department October 1. He will then become fifth assistant superintendent at a salary of $4200 a year.

Supt. Dorsey, who will be most vitally affected by the election of Dr. Lickley, refused to discuss the matter following the action of the board. Her answer to questions was merely, "I have nothing to say. I have nothing to say."

BOND SALE WAITS ON STEPHENS.

Request of Harbor Board Puts City Into Mess, Says Griswell Before Council.

President Criswell told his fellow members of the City Council yesterday that the Board of Harbor Commissioners had landed the city into a "mess" as the result of the action of the commission in urging the Council to sell at once $1,200,000 of 1919 harbor improvement bonds. The Council sold the bonds, said President Criswell, and now, he added, the harbor board desires the immediate sale of $1,600,000 of 1921 harbor bonds.

Assistant City Attorney Leach told the Council that the $1,200,000 of bonds is part of a block of $2,100,000 of 1919 harbor bonds, which can be used, under the terms of the city's signed agreement with the Salt Lake Railroad Company for no other purpose than the building of docks, a drawbridge and motor truck highway at Terminal Island.

The board is asking that $1,600,000 of the 1921 issue be sold in order to complete the construction of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company's docks and other wharves at the harbor. Action on the request was delayed until City Attorney Stephens files a written report as to the power of the Council temporarily to loan $500,000 from the 1919 bond fund to the harbor board to be repaid when the 1921 bonds are sold.

"BIG SISTERS" CARRY TRAYS.

Handsomely-Gowned Women in Role of Waitresses.

League Members Take Places of Girls on Strike.

Training Home Benefit Gets Hundreds of Patrons.

BY MYRA NYE.

While four "big sisters" of the league of the same name, Mrs. William Frederickson, Mrs. Rose Bryant, Mrs. John T. Coleman and Mrs. Frederick Hickok, were trying yesterday afternoon at the Cinderella Roof Garden to fill the places of the seventy waitresses who went out on a strike the night before, the girls themselves were in the alley back of the roof garden airing their grievances.

One by one the girls filed up the back stairs to meet the owner of the establishment and "demand their rights" while the dancing went on and handsomely-gowned women promenaded up and down the velvet-carpeted front stairs.

The function was a benefit for the Training Home for Girls maintained by the league, of which Mrs. E. B. Weirick is president. She, with the other four volunteers, donned Perky Peggy aprons. They carried trays; they poured water and listened to the numerous complaints of the slow service and continued to smile. But when they discovered that guests were coming to the number of 700, they were glad of the help thirty-five men summoned hurriedly from the Waiters' Association headquarters.

"You bet your sweet life, we will join the association, too, or that Big Sisters' League, or something, if it will get us a job," said one of the girls down in the alley.

"But you have some money," observed one of the Big Sisters, eyeing the fistful of silver the girl held.

"Yes, but they wouldn't let me for the red wig they made me wear nor for my henna and blue uniform I had to rig myself up in and she jerked it wrathfully out of its old newspaper covering. "I went a lot and all of us had to wear red hair to match, no matter what our natural bean has on."

The show went on, however, with great eclat.

There was the fashion revue of seven pretty girls, some of them daughters of club women; the revue directed by Florence Ryerson, member of the Southern California Press Club, a designer and writer of experience. They wore "flapper-frocks," Spanish organdies, charming Oriental negligees and the most fetching bathing suits seen this season.

Mrs. Weirick made a short talk, telling of the work of the league to keep the Training Home on Trinity street homelike and comfortable for girls who otherwise would be wards of the courts.

PUTTING UP QUINCE.

Qince Preserves—Peel the quinces, cut in quarters or eighths, and core; cover with cold water and cook slowly till almost tender (if too tender it will become mushy and the pieces lose their shape.) Then weigh the cooked fruit and for each pound of it allow three-fourths of a pound of sugar. Mix this sugar with the water the quinces were boiled in, add the cooked sections, and continue to simmer till red. Turn into hot, sterilized jars and seal.

Quince Jelly—Boil quince pieces with skin on, add a few cores, till soft (about one hour) in water to cover; strain juice through double cheesecloth or through jelly bag and measure, setting aside one cup of sugar for every cup of this strained juice. Return it to fire and when it is again boiling, add the sugar. Let boil till it "jells" (in about twenty minutes) then pour into hot jelly tumblers which have been sterilized (that is, boiled ten minutes in clear water.) Cover when cold with paraffine.

Quince Marmalade—Pare quinces and cook these parings in just enough water to cover, for one hour. Then strain this juice through cheesecloth and put it back in the preserving kettle with the cored (and skinless) fruit cut into small pieces; let this cook till the quince pieces are very tender and press all through a sieve. Measure the puree and allow three-fourths cup of sugar for each cup of it. Reheat this puree, stirring constantly, and let boil twenty minutes, then add the sugar (which you have heated slightly in the oven) and continue to cook till thick. Store as jelly.

Quince-Apple Preserves—Fifteen large ripe quinces, one peck sweet apples, ten cups granulated sugar and two cups of water. Wipe quinces and apples and pare and quarter both, coring only the quinces, however. Place these pieces in the preserving kettle in alternate layers with the sugar; add the water and let stand overnight. In the morning put the kettle on the fire and let cook until tender and the syrup clear. Seal in hot, sterilized jars.

Baked Quince-Apple Marmalade—Two pounds quinces, one pound apples, sugar and sweet cider. Pare, quarter and core ripe quinces, also the apples. Place these pieces of both fruits in an ordinary baking dish and add one cup of sweet cider (or just enough to cover the fruit.) Cover and bake slowly in the oven until fruit is tender, adding more cider—or just plain water—as it becomes aborbed. Then measure the baked mixture and to each cup of it add three-quarters of a cup of sugar; put into the preserving kettle and cook until it becomes a jelly-like mass, stirring constantly, then store as jelly.

Cold Pack Quinces—Core, skin, and quarter the fruit, then blanch for one and a half minutes; cold-dip and put in hot, sterilized jars, filling the jar to within one-fourth inch of top with boiling-hot medium-thin syrup made by boiling three quarts of granulated sugar and two quarts of cold water together for five minutes. Partially seal and sterilize in boiling water (on a rack in a wash boiler) for twenty minutes. Then completely seal.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman, in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department, will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question.—The Editor.

WAITRESSES STRIKE.

Cinderella Roof Girls, with Curls Hidden, Stage Demonstration.

With their bewitching red curls in their respective pockets, seventy blonde and brunette waitresses gathered yesterday at the back entrance of the Cinderella Roof, at Sixth and Olive streets, and staged a spectacular climax of what they termed a "sex strike." Most of the girls walked out the day before, when they learned that a policy contemplating substitution of men waiters for the women was considered by W. E. Kreiter, manager of the Cinderella Roof.

The red curl waving was occasioned by the fact that the girls were told to return yesterday for their pay. Immediately after the waitresses walked out Wednesday Mr. Kreiter obtained men waiters, and the roof was reopened. Some of the girls protested against retaining the red curls with which all the waitresses were equipped at the opening of the place. Some of the girls liked them so well they wore them all the time. The original agreement, according to the management, was that the girls were to pay for their curls. The girls staged their demonstration at the time when the Cinderella Roof was packed with the members of the Big Sisters' League.

WHY

DOES A MAGNIFYING GLASS MAKE SUNLIGHT HOT?

(Copyright, 1921, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

The simplest explanation of this natural effect is to say that the magnifying glass increases the power of the sun's rays, just as it magnifies the apparent size of objects examined through it. But, as will be easily noticed, neither of these effects is attained unless the glass is held in a certain position—unless the rays of light passing through it are properly "focussed."

In the case of the sun's rays, if we hold the glass close to a sheet of paper or at a considerable distance from it, the light rays are increased only a comparatively small amount and little additional heat is apparent. By moving the glass backward and forward, however, we can concentrate or focus the entire light upon one very small point which soon becomes very hot and eventually bursts into flame. Here the effect is precisely the same as if we were attempting to magnify the size of an object, for the convex sides of the lens bend the light rays inward at a certain angle and, with these rays, concentrate the heat rays upon a limited area so that the amount of heat formerly spread over a large surface is now acting upon a small portion only. It is not the light of the sun that produces the fire, but the heat which accompanies this light and is apparent to the sense of touch rather than to that of sight. Both sets of rays, however, are bent in the same direction and in equal proportion, so that the one appears to be the result of the other.

Tomorrow—WHY is a small house called a "bungalow?"

The Daily Fun Hour.

BY HONOR WALSH.

RED AND BLUE.

As played in Philadelphia, this game takes the colors of the University of Pennsylvania, red and blue. Any college colors may be adopted, or, if preferred, the players may choose black and white, as these are more easily distinguished.

In Red and Blue one player chosen to be leader is called Punch. All the other players form two equal factions. The Reds must wear a red flower or a red ribbon; all who do not show a red ribbon or flower are Blues. (If black and white are chosen, each White ties a handkerchief around his left arm, and all without these handkerchief badges are Blacks.) The players do not divide at the beginning until the tagging signal is given.

Punch stands on a box with a pasteboard disk in his hand. This disk is blue on one side and red on the other (or black and white,) and is suspended from a small cord so that Punch can twirl it rapidly. The players must watch closely, as the side of the disk remaining visible when Punch stops twirling decides the tag. If red shows a Red may tag any standing Blue. This requires quick action, as the Blues all duck when they see the red color, and it is forbidden to tag a stooping player. Every player tagged drops out of the game, and the faction in the majority when Punch signals again wins the first round, scoring twenty-five points. Game is 100.

Rules of Contest

(1.) Any man, woman or child who is not connected with the Los Angeles Times in any capacity, or who is not a member of an employee's family, may compete.

(2.) All answers will be divided into four classes, each class will be judged independently, there will be fifteen prizes in each class. While anyone may compete in more than one class, or may submit more than one list of names, not more than one prize will be awarded to any individual, the largest award being given to him which any one of his lists entitles him to.

Class A—Open to all. Anyone may compete.

Class B—Open to those who send in a new or old three-month subscription to the daily and Sunday Times, or who renew their own subscription for three months, payment to be made in advance.

Class C—Open to those who send in a new or old six-month subscription to the daily and Sunday Times, or who renew their own subscription for six months, payment to be made in advance.

Class D—Open to those who send in a new or old twelve-month subscription to the daily and Sunday Times, or who renew their own subscription for twelve months, payment to be made in advance.

(3.) Contest closes Sept. 30, 1921, at 8 p.m. All answers must be deposited in The Times main office or Los Angeles branch office, or bear a postmark not later than that hour.

(4.) Answers may either be deposited in contest box in Times branch office, 619 South Spring street, or Times main office, First and Broadway, Los Angeles, or may be mailed to Puzzle Manager, Circulation Department, Los Angeles Times.

(5.) All lists of names should be written on one side of paper. Number sheets consecutively. Write your own name and address on each page in upper right-hand corner.

(6.) Only words appearing in English dictionaries will be considered. Slang and obsolete words are barred. Only words beginning with B will count.

Where plural is used, singular cannot also be used, and vice versa.

Only names of objects or parts of objects will count.

Words of the same spelling may be used only once, even though they apply to different objects.

An object may be named only once even if more than one of the same kind appear in the picture.

Parts of an object may be named in addition to the object itself.

Do not use hyphenated words (words spelled with a hyphen in standard dictionaries). Do not use compound words unless same are spelled as one word in standard dictionaries. (Contestants cannot invent new words by joining together two or more words.)

(7) The answer in each class having the nearest correct list of names of visible objects shown in the picture that begin with the letter "B" will be awarded first prize in that class, etc.

(8.) More than one person may co-operate in submitting a list of names, but only one prize will be awarded to any one household or group, which has been working together.

(9.) In the event of a tie for any prize, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tied participant.

(10.) A committee of well-known Los Angeles people having no connection with the Los Angeles Times will act as judges, their names to be announced in a few days. The judges will use Webster's New International Dictionary as their reference; participants agree to accept all decisions of the judges as final and conclusive.

(11.) Judges will meet on October 3, and announcement of prize winners and the best list of B words submitted as determined by them, will be published as soon thereafter as possible.

(12.) All questions or correspondence regarding the observation puzzle should be addressed to Puzzle Manager, Circulation Department Los Angeles Times.

STATE HIGHWAY WORK ASSAILED.

Orange County Chambers Hear Methods Criticised.

Report of Committee Names Specific Faults.

Says Sub-Grade Preparation is Vital to Success.

State highway construction policies are severely criticized in a report unanimously accepted at a meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county at Huntington Beach, night before last. The report was submitted by the Good Roads Committee of the organization, the committee having appointed a special subcommittee for the purpose of preparing a report on the construction of good roads.

The report starts out by saying that the committee still suggests that the principal fact in the proper construction of paved roads is the thorough preparation of subgrades. The following specific criticisms of the State Highway Board's road construction are contained in the report:

"We are informed by your Good Roads Committee chairman that in making a trip to Bakersfield and return on the 4th and 6th inst., he observed the contractor working on the State highway near Bakersfield crowding the dirt shoulders with the grader away from the edges of the original concrete and pushing the same out and upon the many piles of sand and rock along the highway, placed there for the purpose of rebuilding and widening this pavement.

MIXED WITH DIRT.

"In many places this and rock was dumped within two and one-half feet to four feet distant from the edge of the original concrete, so that the dirt shoulders being removed preparatory to widening the pavement, had to be pushed out and upon the material that was to go into the new road. Either this sand and rock that had been mixed with the oiled dirt shoulders had to go into the mixture or be abandoned and in either case there would be a material economic loss and a large one in case of the former. Some of the pavement that had been retopped was very rough.

"Like the Ridge Road this particular stretch of road has been repaired and re-repaired to the extent that he doubts if there is a quarter of a mile of the original pavement that has not had some material repairing done thereon.

"Had the State law and county ordinances been enforced to the letter as regards the loads and gross weight of trucks, as well as the law enforcement of speed of same during the past several years, the damage to the highways of both State and county would have been materially reduced, thus saving the taxpayers of the State millions of dollars that otherwise have been largely wasted.

"If our State had conducted experimental work at the outset and continually, it would have cost pennies where faulty construction has cost dollars and the benefits thus derived from such experimental work would have redounded to the benefit of the several counties in their road-building policies. While it is too late to retrace that ground, it is not too late to provide, through experiments and otherwise, against other costly road failures in the future."

D. Eyman Huff, chairman, and the other members of his committee have been active in bringing about better road construction in Orange county. Their criticisms have been regarded as impartial and constructive, and in some instances they have been directed against construction policies used both by the State and by Orange county.

The report calls attention to the fact that the committee is composed of business men and farmers, who are not only keen observers of road conditions, but who have availed themselves of the observations, studies and conclusions of eminent engineers.

The report recommends that more attention be given to the matter of conducting experiments. It recommends that in cement construction, gravel, rock and sand be not dumped upon the ground, but that the material go directly from the washer to the mixer. "Slump" tests, colorimetric tests and other tests are recommended by the committee.

Rheumatism Due To Waste Products In The Blood

For Genuine Relief Your Blood Must Be Purified

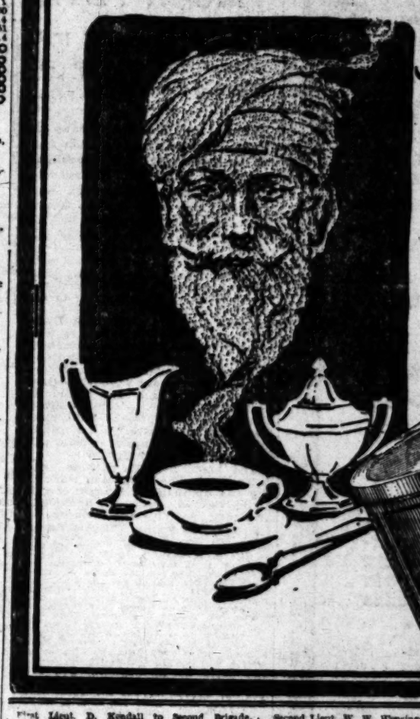
As the blood circulates, it has two functions to perform. First; to carry nourishment to all parts of the body. Second: to take up the waste products and cast them out through the proper channels.

When waste products accumulate in the system, they are a menace to life. They cause a lowered vitality, many forms of skin disorders and rheumatism.

There is no disease more painful; nor disease that will lead to as much serious trouble as rheumatism. Genuine relief can be had only by correcting the basic trouble—waste products.

Thousands and thousands of men and women during the past 50 years have cleared their blood of waste products with S. S. S. It is the ideal remedy for rheumatism, because it removes the poisonous waste matter which is causing the trouble. There are no bad after effects and the result is wonderful. Begin taking S. S. S. today and write for 56 page illustrated booklet, "Facts about the Blood"—free.

Personal medical advice, without charge, may also be had by sending a complete description of your case. Address Chief Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., 730 S. S. S. Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga. All good drug stores sell S. S. S.—[Advertisement.



BUNDY WILL IS DECLARED VOID.

Niece Wins Verdict on Point of Undue Influence.

Jury Charges Fraud Used by Bert Stearns and Wife.

Suits Are Pending to Regain $20,000 Paid Them.

Because of asserted undue influence and fraud the will of William Lowell Bundy, who died Feb. 3, 1920, leaving the bulk of his $35,000 estate to Bert Stearns and his wife, Jennie Stearns, was set aside yesterday.

A jury composed of eleven women and one man brought in a verdict in Judge Houser's court in favor of Lena Alden, niece of the decedent, who contested the probate of the will. The jury found that Mr. Bundy, who was more than 72 years old at the time the will was represented to have been drawn, "was not competent or of sound mind, and that the will was executed and obtained by undue influence exercised by Bert Stearns and Jennie Stearns," and that the execution was obtained by fraud practiced on Mr. Bundy by Mr. and Mrs. Stearns.

Mr. Bundy's wife died in 1918, leaving $35,000 cash. Evidence was given that Mr. and Mrs. Stearns persuaded Mr. Bundy, upon inheriting this cash, to deliver $20,000 to them. It was also shown that they led him to believe that his relatives did not care for him and only desired to get his money and that by this representation they persuaded him to allow his will to be drawn in their favor.

It developed during the trial that Mr. Bundy had been declared incompetent by the courts of Sacramento on March 18, 1919. Mrs. Stearns was the nurse in attendance upon Mrs. Bundy at the time of her death. Suits are now pending against Mr. and Mrs. Stearns for the recovery of that portion of the $35,000 cash which was taken from the bank.

Attorneys for Lena Alden were Manning, Thompson & Hoover and Thomas B. Leeper. Mr. and Mrs. Stearns were represented by Jones, Wilson and Stephenson.

Man on Parole, Two Others Get Prison Terms.

Three defendants, one of whom previously had been released on parole, were sentenced to San Quentin yesterday by Judge Reeve.

Andrew McDonald, accused of burglary, was about to be placed on trial when it was learned he was at liberty on parole when the offense was supposed to have been committed. The court then tried him for violation of parole and sentenced him to San Quentin for from one to fifteen years for burglary on July 3, 1919, of the store of O. L. Wurker, 829 South Spring street.

Ray Downey and James Clark, convicted on two counts of robbing E. D. Confort and J. M. Rorison, were sentenced to San Quentin for from one year to life.

DAMAGES SOUGHT BY WOMAN FOR ARREST.

Bastion Snyder of Long Beach had Rosina M. Wyman arrested on the 10th inst. on a misdemeanor charge, accusing her of having thrown rubbish—old papers and fruits—into a vacant lot. The defendant was found not guilty. Yesterday she filed suit for $5070 damages against her accuser, charging him with malicious prosecution.

STEERS BUNKO SUSPECT TO LAW.

Man With "Ten Thousand to Give Away" Selects the Wrong Confident.

Rafael Martinez, poor fellow, was running around yesterday with $10,000 he wanted to give to a Dr. Contreras that it might be donated to some charity for the poor. In his plight he met M. S. Holquin, and, as they were talking, a third man stepped up, said he had overheard and that he could direct them to Dr. Contreras.

So the three started out to find the doctor, but the house to which the stranger took them proved to be vacant.

All of which is the story Mr. Holquin told the authorities. He said he was sure he had been in the clutches of two confidence men, but not clutched so tightly that he could not convey Martinez into the clutches of Deputy Sheriff Duarte. The latter arrested Martinez on a charge of attempted grand larceny. Mr. Holquin had $200 with him at the time.

Girl Seriously Injured When Struck by Auto

Miss Susie Staten, 19 years of age, of 130 East Seventy-first street, was seriously injured early yesterday in an accident at Slauson avenue and Main street. At the Receiving Hospital she was treated for severe shock, injuries to the left leg and possible internal hurts.

According to the police, Miss Staten was crushed by an automobile driven by Mrs. Grace Ratledge of Fort MacArthur. Miss Staten, the police declare, was pinned against a second automobile by the Ratledge car.

Shortly after this accident John Burke, 18 years of age, a laborer, was seriously injured when he was thrown to the pavement by a truck driven by Robert A. Smiley, of 200 West Avenue 37. Mr. Burke, who was injured at Broadway and Sunset Boulevard, was treated at the Receiving Hospital for a skull fracture.

Mrs. Moultrup testified that her husband, James T. Moultrup, preferred to buzz around at dances instead of seeking the companionship of his wife.

RESUME RECRUITING FOR REGULAR ARMY.

Resumption of recruiting for the Regular Army, effective immediately, was announced yesterday at Fort MacArthur. Present recruiting is to be confined to the posts, camps and stations of the Regular Army. Former soldiers, including those discharged because of reduction of service, and men without prior Army service, but of proper age are eligible for enlistment. The recruits will be assigned to fill vacancies in the ranks of the Coast defenses of Los Angeles, the Coast Artillery Corps at Fort MacArthur and known vacancies in the line forces.

CINEMA CENSOR PLAN DELAYED.

Council Will Try Again to Reach Agreement.

Committee at Odds on Details of Choosing Board.

Stumbling Block Seen by Aide of Film Producers.

The City Council warmed up again yesterday over the motion-picture censorship problem, and once more delayed action, this time agreeing to tackle the question again next Tuesday morning. The Public Welfare Committee submitted a report calling for the creation of a board of seven censors, but the committee was divided as to the details, and so the majority report, signed by Chairman Allan and Councilman Langdon, and the minority report, signed by Councilman Conaway, were handed back to the committee with instructions for the Councilmen to agree and to submit next week a united recommendation.

The majority report submitted yesterday calls for a board of seven to be appointed by the Mayor and subject to confirmation by the majority of the Council, one member to be a paid secretary of the commission at a salary of $2400 a year. Councilman Langdon was successful in his efforts to include a clause in the report that the board should "work in conjunction with the City Prosecutor," but whether the City Prosecutor is to be in fact the actual censor, as he is now, and the board is to act in an advisory capacity with the prosecutor, remains yet to be decided.

METHOD OF CHOOSING.

Councilman Conaway desired that when the report is submitted it shall state that of the members of the board, three shall be chosen from the motion-picture industry, three from the religious, good government, and other organizations, and that these six shall select the seventh member.

Assistant City Attorney Whitehead advised the Council that under the law no instructions can be given as to the selection of the seventh member, except that he be selected by the Mayor. Councilmen Sparks and Wheeler urged delay until the entire Council was present, as Councilmen Mushet, Sanborn and Criswell were not present during yesterday's debate. Councilman Wheeler said that he desired to have the word censor eliminated from the ordinance, as he "did not like the word."

URGES DELAY.

W. J. Reynolds, secretary of the Affiliated Motion-Picture Producers' Association, in urging delay until all the Councilmen were present, said:

"The producers stand for clean films, and though there may be a few black sheep in the industry, as there are in all walks of life, most of the men in the work desire to do the right thing.

"The censorship plan suggested here, we believe, is not workable or practical. I doubt if you will find in Los Angeles six or seven men and women who will be willing to give their time to the work.

"Experience has shown that censors do not agree, and this is the practical stumbling block this board will find."

The majority report of the committee submitted yesterday would eliminate the right of appeal to the Board of Police Commissioners from the decisions of the film censors, as provided in the present ordinance. All other important provisions of the regulation are retained, so that unless the Council revises the committee report, the new ordinance recommended to be prepared by the City Attorney will declare that no film can be shown in Los Angeles unless it has been viewed by the board and a permit issued.

Six Million Hungry Children

There may be one in your home. He has "plenty to eat"—but his food lacks the tissue-building elements that are needed by growing children. The foods that have no real food value generally cost the most.

Shredded Wheat

is the best food for growing children because it is all food and is prepared in a digestible form. A noted American physician says there are six million under-nourished children in America. Shredded Wheat builds robust, sturdy youngsters.

Two Biscuits with milk make a nourishing, satisfying meal and cost but a few cents. Delicious with raisins, prunes, sliced bananas, peaches or other fruits.

IMMIGRATION RULING SET ASIDE FOR GIRL

EGYPTIAN SISTER OF LOCAL MAN TO ENTER DESPITE QUOTA REGULATION.

Anna Cohen, a native of Port Said, Egypt, and a sister of Solomon Cohen, a Los Angeles business man, is to become a resident of Los Angeles despite the determination of the Ellis Island immigration officers to send her back across the Atlantic.

Miss Cohen landed at Ellis Island a week ago, only to learn that the quota of immigrants form her native country for the month of September had already passed into the United States. The ruling of the immigration department is that all immigrants who arrive at American ports after the full quota has been reached must return to the land whence they came.

The young woman appealed to her brother. Mr. Cohen sought the aid of Congressman Osborne. The Congressman was informed by the Ellis Island officials that the order must stand; that Miss Cohen must return to Egypt. The brother placed a bond in this city, vouching for his sister.

Congressman Osborne then appealed by telegraph directly to President Harding and Secretary of Labor Davis, stating that the the bond would be held in trust here if Miss Cohen would be permitted to remain at Ellis Island until the end of the month. The order was rescinded and now the young woman will remain at the immigration station to be included in the quota for the month of October, after which she will come to Los Angeles.

HARDWARE MEN BACK BOOSTERS.

Appoint Committee to Seek Subscriptions for Drive of All-Year Club.

The Southern division of the California Retail Hardware & Implement Association, it was learned yesterday, has appointed a committee to assist the All-Year Club of Southern California in the raising of its $300,000 annual fund for the advertising of the Southland. The committee will work in particular in securing contributions from its members in all of the southern counties for the all-year movement.

The action of the hardware men followed the address made at their annual convention, by D. H. Jones of the all-year executive committee, who showed the necessity and the value of an organization which would draw eastern attention to the comparative summer coolness of Southern California. In designating the committee, the hardware men asserted that they could be counted on for a generous response, and they asserted that the all-year movement is destined to be an influential factor in the further development of the Southland.

An indication of the distance news has traveled regarding Southern California's plans to raise $300,000 a year for advertising was found yesterday in the receipt of a letter from Toronto, Canada. It was addressed "The Three Hundred Thousand A Year Club, Los Angeles, California," and it was delivered promptly to the club.
